FRENCH STRIKERS CALLED INTO ARMY BY THE GOVERNMENT

Employes on One Line Are Mobilized and Like Action Is Threatened for Others.

REPORT OF GENERAL STRIKE

Petit Parisien Says Order Has Been Issued—State May Requisition Motors.

REVOLUTION, SAYS PREMIER

Millerand Refuses to Consider Men's Demand for Nationalization of the Roads.

Men on All French Railways Reported Ordered on Strike

PARIS, Saturday, Feb. 28.—An order was sent out during the night by the Executive Committee of the National Federation of Railway Men for a general strike of all railmen on all roads in France, according to information reaching the Petit Parisien.

The order for a general strike seems to have been the outcome of late deliberations of the committee in which the Executive Committee of the General Labor Federation had a hand as well as delegations from the Paris unions.

The strike situation this morning is confused. It is understood that the National Federation of Railway Men last night again approached the Paris-Lyons company and General Manager Margo, who repeated his refusal to reinstate Campanaud, whose discharge for absence from duty to attend a union meeting caused the walkout.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The French railroad strike has assumed a most serious aspect. Its issues have become not only of the gravest economic import but of vital political importance. In its spread today the strike, which is led by radical labor elements, has tied up three of the five railroad systems centering in Paris, and strike leaders declare that they will not make peace until the Government promises to take over all the roads.

The Government flatly refuses to listen to such a demand and has issued an order calling into the army the strikers on one of the lines and ordering those of another line to return to work within twenty-four hours, failing which they will be called into military service. The first road affected is the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean line, and the latter the State Railroad.

Before morning it is expected the strikers on the other lines will also be mobilized and they will then be subject to court-martial if they do not go back to work.

This afternoon the Chamber passed a law authorizing the Government to requisition to as great an extent as needed all private automobiles, trucks and airplanes in order to insure the feeding of Paris and other cities. The Senate approved the measure tonight. Ten thousand citizens today offered their services to the Government for any work to which they might be assigned.

Labor Federation Opposes Strike.

The Confederation Generale du Travail (the French Federation of Labor) has refused to approve the strike of the railroad workers, and it has been asked by Premier Millerand to arrange for arbitration of the case of the member of the Cheminot Syndicate who was disciplined for absenting himself, which the men gave as an excuse for striking, but inasmuch as that excuse was only a pretext the strikers have not accepted the proffered arbitration.

Public opinion in Paris is greatly aroused and almost unanimously condemns the strike. All the newspapers, except the radical organs, deplore the situation.

The situation late today is this: Ninety-five per cent. of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean system, running to the south of France and Italy, is completely paralyzed; on the State lines, which serve Paris and its suburbs and run to the west of France, there is a complete cessation of traffic; on the east lines there is partial service; on the north system the service is normal, and on the Orleans system, running from Paris to Bordeaux, there is no interruption. On the sixth railroad system of France, the Midi, which does not enter Paris, service is being maintained.

A shortage of food is beginning to be felt and food profiteers are making the best of the situation. Tomorrow morning Government restrictions go into effect. Only one ounce of meat and only two dishes may be served to one person, and all milk will be reserved for children.

One thousand camions are being demobilized by the Prefect of Police this afternoon to be used in feeding Paris. These camions will be protected by soldiers. It is purposed to use airplanes for mail transport and to organize a camion service for the workers of Paris living in the suburbs, thousands of whom slept

Great Britain Inquires If Geddes Is Acceptable

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The British Embassy has received instructions from the London Foreign Office to inquire of the United States Government whether Sir Auckland Geddes will be acceptable as the Ambassador of Great Britain. There is no reason to doubt that the answer of the State Department in behalf of President Wilson will be in the affirmative.

Sir Auckland Geddes, who is 41 years old, will be the youngest Ambassador that Great Britain has ever sent to the United States. His wife was Miss Isabel Ross of Staten Island.

ARNSTEIN TO BE IN COURT MONDAY

Fugitive's Lawyers Promise to Produce Him for Pleading in General Sessions.

NO PLEDGE GIVEN AS TO BAIL

Detectives Learn of Brokerage House Deceived Into Buying Stolen Securities.

William J. Fallon, counsel for "Nicky" Arnstein, promised Assistant District Attorneys Dooling, Murphy and Unger last night to produce the fugitive in the Criminal Court Building on Monday morning to answer an indictment charging him with being the chief in the plot to steal $5,000,000 from brokerage houses in the financial district. Fallon's announcement came after he and his law partner, Eugene F. McGee, had been in conference with the Assistant District Attorneys in Dooling's office from 7 to 8 o'clock last evening.

Soon after Fallon and McGee joined the Assistant District Attorneys and Detective Sergeants Gegan and McCoy in Dooling's office loud words were heard in the reception room of the District Attorney's office, and it was evident to persons present that the conference was not altogether harmonious.

After Fallon and McGee left the Criminal Court Building Assistant District Attorney Unger admitted that the promise to surrender Arnstein was made only "after we had laid our cards on the table." It is understood that Dooling told Fallon and McGee that a reasonable time had elapsed for Fallon and McGee to produce the fugitive.

At the conclusion of the conference Dooling and Fallon came out of the former's office, and Fallon made the following statement:

"I expect to be in direct communication with Arnstein within the next three hours. I shall advise him then to return immediately and be prepared to appear in General Sessions on Monday morning to answer the indictment lodged against him here. He has nothing to fear. I shall inform him that his failure to appear to answer the indictment returned against him has greatly prejudiced his case. While I expect to communicate with him directly within a few hours, I do not know where he is at the present time.

"You said you'd advise him to return. Does that mean he is not in the city?" was asked.

"I have not said he is not in the city, nor have I said he is in any other city. I don't know just where he is at this time, but I shall know in a few hours," he replied.

Later McGee admitted that he and his partner had been endeavoring to arrange bail for Arnstein should he surrender. He said that while he had not completed such arrangements, he expected to be able to do so after Fallon had been in communication with Arnstein.

No Promise of Lower Bail.

"Have you met the demands made through Fallon and McGee on the part of Arnstein in regard to consenting to his release on $50,000 bail?" Dooling was asked.

"I have not," he replied. "Neither Fallon nor McGee said anything about bail at the conference this evening. District Attorney Swann has instructed me to demand not less than $100,000 bail when Arnstein is arraigned in General Sessions, and we shall make every effort to have the amount placed at that figure at least."

"Do you think Arnstein is in the city?" the Assistant District Attorney was asked.

"I do not think he is in the city," he replied, "but I would not be surprised if he should be found in a neighboring city. Regardless of the promise of his lawyers, detectives are searching the city for clues to his whereabouts. It is possible that he is hiding in a nearby New Jersey or Connecticut town."

"Is it true that Detective Sergeant Joseph Daly, while returning from Los Angeles with a prisoner several days ago, narrowly missed arresting Arnstein in Cleveland, Ohio?"

"I do not care to discuss that matter. I do know that Detective Sergeant Daly was in Cleveland in connection with this case, but I have not heard from him directly."

It was reported at the Criminal Court Building last night that Arnstein was in the city last Wednesday, but that he was hurried away again by criminal associates in an automobile. It is under-

CLIMBS 36,020 FEET IN PLANE AND LANDS AFTER 5-MILE DROP

Major Schroeder, Oxygen Exhausted, Loses Consciousness at Record Height Over Dayton.

THOUSANDS WATCH HIS FALL

PARTLY BLIND AT LANDING

And Is Taken to Hospital—Instruments Record 67 Degrees Below Zero.

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 27.—An airplane carrying Major R. W. Schroeder, chief test pilot at McCook Field, fell more than five miles today after reaching an altitude of 36,020 feet, about 5,000 feet higher than the previous world's record. The Major is in a hospital tonight suffering from the shock and from temporary partial blindness.

Instruments on the machine indicate that it fell more than five miles in two minutes. While still 2,000 feet above the ground the airplane righted itself and glided to a graceful landing. When the plane reached the ground attendants who rushed toward it found Major Schroeder sitting erect in the machine, apparently lifeless.

For a brief time residents of Dayton were sure a comet had appeared in the sky. They had mistaken the trail of vapor escaping from the machine as it sped downward for a "stranger in the heavens."

The exhaust gas from the airplane, freezing in the frigid temperature, caused a cloudlike formation, resembling the tail of a comet, to hang below the clouds. Inasmuch as the airplane was not visible, speculation varied as to what it was. Some witnesses were inclined to the belief that a strange body was coming with a message from Mars. Professor William Beck, astronomer at St. Mary's College, making observations through a telescope, discerned the airplane.

Gradually the object was enlarged as it hurtled to the earth. When but a few thousand feet above them those watching saw that it was an airplane turning in a tail spin. It was at this point that Major Schroeder regained control of his plane and headed it toward McCook Field.

Here Major Schroeder made a safe landing and collapsed.

He was blinded and his limbs were numb, despite his electrically heated suit. He was suffering from the effects of a lack of oxygen. When nearly seven miles above the earth his oxygen tanks became exhausted, and it was this which robbed him of consciousness and caused him to fall.

Mechanics and officers at McCook Field lifted Major Schroeder from the plane and he was given first aid treatment, and later removed to the post hospital, where it was said his blindness will be only temporary. But it will be several days before he will be able to use his eyes, according to Dr. Howard V. Dutrow, an eye specialist called into consultation.

Tells of His Five-Mile Drop.

Between periods of unconsciousness, Major R. W. Schroeder tonight told the story of his fight against wind, cold and lack of oxygen almost seven miles above the earth. That he had shattered the world's altitude record, fallen more than five miles and narrowly escaped death did not seem important to him in view of his failure to reach a height of 40,000 feet, the goal he set for himself when he took the air this morning. Relating his battle for life far above the clouds, Major Schroeder, lying on a cot in the army post hospital, said:

"I was thinking of nothing but that I wanted to attain a height of 40,000 feet, when suddenly the oxygen stopped flowing. Then, all at once, it seemed as though a terrible explosion took place within my head. My eyes hurt and I could not open them. I realized I was falling.

"I guess I pulled hard on the stick, for I knew I must straighten out for a glide. The plane seemed to ride easy. I opened my eyes, but could see nothing of the ground. I closed my eyes tightly and again opened them, seeing that I was over Wilbur Wright Field, close to the hangars. I couldn't land there.

"I tilted my machine for a climb, intending to make sure of a good altitude and then jump for it with my parachute. But at that instant McCook Field came into view. I guess I just became an automaton and came down all right."

Major Schroeder announced his intention of making another attempt to reach an altitude of 40,000 feet.

Instruments Tell Story of Flight.

The instruments on his machine recorded the best story of the experiences of the aviator in his flight to beat the record of Roland Rohlfs and bring first honors to the air forces of the United States Army. The thermometer registered a temperature of 55 degrees below zero Centigrade, or 67 degrees below Fahrenheit. Altitude figures from the barograph reading indicated a height of 37,000 feet and when calibrated by Captain Harrison W. Flickinger showed an official altitude of 36,020 feet, a new world's record and a variation of less than 1,000 feet.

The mark set by Major Schroeder

OKLAHOMA SENATE VOTES SUFFRAGE

ISSUE GOES TO CONFERENCE

Battle Over Amendment Begins in West Virginia Legislature, with Antis in the Lead.

Special to The New York Times.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 27.—Ratification of the Federal Suffrage amendment without the emergency clause, which would have placed it beyond the reach of referendum, passed the Senate late this afternoon by a vote of 25 to 13. The emergency clause, requiring thirty votes, or a two-thirds majority, was lost by a vote of 21 to 17.

Consideration of the resolution, as amended by the elimination of the emergency clause, will be taken up by the House tomorrow morning, and in view of the large majority given the amendment in that body suffragists predict it will reject the resolution as returned by the Senate. A conference is expected on the question tomorrow morning.

The action of the Senate ratified the amendment, Governor Robertson asserted tonight, irrespective of the House emergency clause.

Suffrage supporters said that they were hopeful of bringing sufficient influence to bear on doubtful Senators before the conference report is received in the Senate to pass the resolution in full when it is brought up for vote again. Oklahoma will be the thirty-third State to ratify if the two houses come to an agreement.

Senator J. J. Smith of Afton raised a point of order against consideration of the proposal to submit the suffrage question to vote of the people for confirmation after the Legislature should ratify. He said Congress had specified that the amendment should be ratified by the Legislature and it could be referred to popular vote.

Senator Davidson of Tulsa, in opposing him, declared the Legislature could prescribe any method it chose for the ratification of an amendment submitted to it, and was upheld by a majority vote.

WEST VIRGINIA BATTLE BEGINS

Special Session Adjourns Until Today, with Antis Leading.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27.—Starting immediately after the extra session of the Legislature had been called to order at noon today, and continuing to adjournment, the battle for the ratification of the suffrage amendment is still undecided. Indications are that the antis are the stronger.

When Senator Harvey W. Harmer, leader for the suffragists, introduced the official ratification resolution and asked for immediate action, a motion to adjourn to Monday was made but lost on a tie vote. Adjournment was finally taken. until tomorrow, when the resolution will be introduced in the House.

A poll of the Senate members late this evening showed an even division on the passage of the resolution. It is asserted that the House will show a majority against it unless there is a change of sentiment over night.

ANTIS TAKE FIGHT TO POLK.

Serve Notice of Maryland's Denial of Validity of Amendment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A new line of attack to prevent the States from being compelled to accept a suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution was begun today when a delegation of women from Maryland served notice on the Acting Secretary of State "that the State of Maryland denies the lawful right and power of Congress to propose the amendment for woman's suffrage and the validity of such an amendment as part of the Federal Constitution, even if ratified by three-fourths of the States." A delegation of members of the Maryland Legislature has been sent to West Virginia to work against ratification of the suffrage amendment.

Mrs. Rufus Gibbs of Baltimore headed the delegation which presented to Mr. Polk and to Senator Smith of Maryland, Senator Harrison of Mississippi and Senator Cummins, President Pro Tem of the Senate, the resolution of rejection, recently adopted by the Maryland Legislature.

SUSPECT REDS' PROPOSAL

State Department Officials Regard It as Propaganda Dodge

RED REVEALS LENIN PLOT

Tells Berlin Spartacides Peace Is Sought to Prepare World Revolution.

PLAN TO CRUSH THE ALLIES

Lenin Agent Says Bolsheviki Would Control Germany and Italy and Use Their Armies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Soviet Russia's proposal to the United States for peace will receive no consideration from the American Government, it was said today at the State Department.

The proposal, addressed to the United States, Japan and Rumania, was received at the department today, having been forwarded by Minister Morris at Stockholm. It was picked up there by radio after it had been broadcasted by the Soviet wireless station at Moscow.

Officials said it did not differ from previous proposals made by the Bolsheviki to the great powers, and that it would not be made public as it was regarded largely as an effort to further Soviet propaganda throughout the world.

Lenin's New Plan for World Revolution.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Disciples of Bolshevism and their friends among the Spartacides and Communists have become quite alarmed at the Muscovite Government's readiness to make peace with the "capitalistic Western Governments," fearing that would mean the end of the ardently hoped-for world revolution.

These fears and doubts, however, were completely removed two days ago by a Russian emissary, who, though traveling through Germany incognito, is believed to be one of the "big guns" of the Soviet Government. His real name is known only to the most trusted Communist leaders. On Tuesday evening he spoke at a secret meeting of the chieftains of Communism, to which also some Independent Socialist leaders were invited.

"The Russian State today," said this apostle of Bolshevism, "is the most marvelous proof of successful proletarian rule. The Muscovite Government does not dream of making any concessions to the western countries nor to give up its determination to revolutionize the whole world after the Russian pattern, but Lenin and his associates, after several years' experience, have become convinced that Bolshevism has other and more effective, while less costly, means to conquer thin mere guns and armies. Not that the Soviet Government intends to do entirely without an army.

"Russia's army now totals 2,500,000 men, excellently equipped, and officered and commanded by the best Generals of the old régime, many of whom have become convinced of Bolshevism.

"If Russia, despite this splendid army, is now seeking peace with the rest of the world, it is because a peaceful world would naturally open its doors to Russians who would carry the spirit of Bolshevism with them wherever they went, be they merchants, Government servants or laborers.

An All-Bolshevist Europe.

"Bolshevism will probably make a triumphant course through the old Galician province to Hungary and Austria and into Germany and Italy. Once established there, it will be only a question of months when, under the pressure of the military forces of an all Bolshevist Europe, the French bourgeois Republic and its Allies must capitulate, because its structures are already undermined by our friends to a degree that would astonish Millerand and Deschanel if they knew.

"When the times comes, the German proletarians must profit from the dearly bought Russian experience. It was not necessary to destroy everything existing in order to build on the ruins the glorious reign of the proletariat. Contrarily, it is the duty of the people's leaders to make the existing institutions subservient to the Bolshevist order of things. It would be foolish to despise even capital, because it is needed for revaluationizing the rest of the world. For that reason the Muscovite Government has been busy accumulating a great treasure of gold, silver, platinum and other valuable metals.

"Many thousands of men belonging to the former ruling Russian classes are employed in the mines now, not only eight hours daily, but considerably longer. Russia's gold reserve is now greater than ever and it will be used to conquer where guns might prove impotent. There are also large quantities of platinum which the Muscovite Government hopes to exchange for agricultural and

Say Britain Offered Tacit Recognition of Reds but Demanded Propaganda in Near East Be Stopped

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27.—What purports to be the bases of Great Britian's proposals to the Soviet Government of Russia, which James O'Grady, British representative at Copenhagen, transmitted to Maxim Litvinoff, representative of the Moscow Government, are contained in a dispatch from the correspondent of La Nacion in Rome, as follows:

1. Tacit recognition of the Maximalist political régime.
2. Non-interference by Great Britain with respect to the internal condition of those countries separated from former Russian rule on the west, namely, Finland, Esthonia, Lithuania, Ukrainia and Poland.
3. Non-interference by Great Britain in the affairs of Siberia.
4. Demobilization of the Red army.
5. A promise by the Bolsheviki to recognize the independence of the meridianal republics, especially Georgia.
6. Non-interference by Russia with the territories on the frontiers of Georgia and Persia.
7. Payment in gold for goods exported or imported between Russia and Great Britain.
8. A régime of commercial equality for Russia and Great Britain in the autonomous States on the western front.

The correspondent says the Moscow Government is disposed to accept several of these points, but that it is firm against the fourth and sixth points.

WAR DEPARTMENT SELLS TO THE SOVIET

Martens Bureau Buys 135,000 Pairs of Army Shoes from It at $1.35 to $2 a Pair

'WITH PRIVILEGE OF EXPORT'

Bureau Says That Was a Condition of Bid and 'Apparently There Is No Objection.'

The wording of an official announcement of the War Department that a quantity of army shoes and overshoes had been sold to "The Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic, 110 West Fortieth Street, New York City," caused amusement in radical circles here, the inference being that whatever attitude the State Department might take, Secretary of War Baker had recognized the Lenin-Trotzky régime.

The address given is that of the bureau conducted by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, so-called "Ambassador" from Soviet Russia, now being examined by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. Evans Clark of the commercial department of that bureau yesterday confirmed the sale. He said the Soviet Government had successfully bid for 135,000 pairs of army shoes and overshoes at $1.35 and $2 each.

"Our bid contained the address mentioned," Mr. Clark said. "When it was accepted we called up the officials of the Quartermaster Department in Washington and told them the goods were to be sent to Russia. They said they did not understand we were to ship the articles out of the country. We pointed out that the goods were of no use to us in the United States and that our bid was conditioned on the privilege of exporting. Apparently there is to be no objection, as we have heard nothing to the contrary."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In view of the decision of the United States Government not to trade with the Soviet Government the official announcement by the War Department today which told of the award to the Russian Soviet Government of a large number of surplus United States army shoes created great surprise. All the awards were made to "Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic, 110 West Forty-ninth Street, New York City." This is the address of the Soviet Bureau conducted by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the so-called "Soviet Ambassador," who is the official representative of the Bolshevist Government.

According to a statement this evening from Martens's office in Washington his bureau was informed by the War Department, when it first expressed a desire to bid on surplus army goods, that these goods could not be exported to Russia. Later, according to the statement made, the War Department informed the bureau that the goods could be exported.

The attitude of the State Department with regard to the action of the War Department could not be ascertained tonight. All that could be learned was that the State Department has apparently not indicated whether it will interpose objection to the exportation of the goods. One report is that the State Department is not inclined to interfere in the transaction.

The announcement of the sale was contained in the following official memorandum given out to the press:

"The War Department authorizes publication of the following statement from the office of the Director of Sales:

"The Director of Sales announces that

EXPECT RAIL BILL TO BE LAW TODAY

President's Approval Looked For on Recommendation of Palmer and Hines.

BOTH DECLARE IT VALID

Wilson Likely to State His Views on the Sections Criticised by Labor.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Prediction was made tonight that President Wilson would approve the Railroad bill tomorrow and that simultaneously he would issue a statement setting forth his views concerning the sections which have been under a fire of criticism by labor and other interests.

The bill has been in the hands of Attorney General Palmer for his opinion as to its constitutionality and announcement was made to-day that he had returned the bill with his approval.

Director General Hines was then asked to pass on the measure. He did this this afternoon and held a long consultation with Mr. Tumulty.

By sundown the bill was back at the White House, and it is reported Mr. Hines recommended its approval by the President, as he regarded the bill as fully satisfactory as could be hoped for under the circumstances.

These developments made it appear that the President would approve the bill tomorrow.

Representatives of the railroad unions and other organizations who asked the President to veto the bill are awaiting action by the President with impatience.

That the situation is causing anxiety in financial circles of New York was shown by the number of inquiries made during the day for news concerning action by the President.

Regional Staffs Quit Tonight.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (Associated Press).—Railroad Administration officials have begun preparations for contraction of the wartime organization into the body which will act as a liquidating agency. Several hundred employes will find themselves out of work with the delivery of their pay checks tomorrow night.

All regional staffs will turn over their work tomorrow night to the corporation officials in the respective regions.

Mr. Hines, however, still will have many important questions to deal with after he ceases to direct operation of the lines. A score of labor organizations have unsettled wage demands before the Federal Wage Board. Decisions on many of these will be retroactive when given, and for that reason the Wage Board will be continued until all claims have been decided.

ASKS RAILWAY BILL VETO.

Central Federated Union Wires Protest to President.

Reports from a number of the individual unions comprising the Central Federated Union presented last night at the weekly meeting in the Labor Temple, 234 East Eighty-fourth Street, were favorable to the plan to amalgamate all the central labor bodies in Greater New York. The plan, sponsored by the American Federation of Labor, was discussed at a meeting held here recently at which Samuel Gompers urged the adoption of the course.

A telegram was sent last night to President Wilson urging him to veto the Cummings-Esch Railway bill. The message stated that the proposed law by which the profits of private owners would be guaranteed at the risk of the people and which denied any rise in wages for six months after the return of the roads, seemed to the union to be an alarming step toward industrial tyranny. The labor body also declared that this and similar acts had caused labor unions throughout the country to withdraw from other political parties to form an American Labor Party.

WANT NEW ADRIATIC START

Premiers Propose Withdrawing All Their Former Plans

DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS FIRST

If Italy and Jugoslavia Fail to Agree, Other Powers Would Take Up Question Again.

TREATY OF LONDON STAYS

In Case No Understanding Is Reached, Note Holds It Is "Only Valid Alternative."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The reply made by Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand to President Wilson's latest communication on the Adriatic question repeats the assurance that they "never had the intention of making a definit settlement without obtaining the views of the United States Government."

The reply, which is dated Feb. 26, states that the absence of an American representative had proved in practice an almost insurmountable obstacle to the success of the negotiations.

The Premiers note as a fact of the greatest importance that President Wilson expresses a willingness to accept any settlement "mutually agreeable to Italy and Jugoslavia regarding their common frontier in the Fiume region, provided such agreement is not made on the basis of compensation elsewhere at the expense of nationals of a third power."

This, the Premiers agree, would be an ideal way of settling the question, and they express willingness to do their utmost to reach a settlement by this road. In order to facilitate this process they are ready to withdraw their proposals of Dec. 9 and Jan. 20 because they believe if the parties principally concerned believe the allied and associated powers committed to supporting them in any particular solution it will be more difficult to secure a voluntary agreement.

Proposes a New Agreement.

The Premiers therefore cordially invite the President to join them in a formal proposal to the Italian and Jugo-Slav Governments to negotiate an agreement on the basis of withdrawal of all previous proposals.

If, however, this attempt should prove unsuccessful, the French and British Premiers agree that the United States, Great Britain and France should once more consider the question in common, with the view of arriving at concrete proposals.

The Premiers express appreciation of and agreement with President Wilson's views with regard to the future of the Albanian people and say they are willing to urge upon the Governments interested that they should bring their desires into line with the American viewpoint.

With regard to the Treaty of London, the Premiers state that its "secret character" was due to military exigencies preventing its publication during the war.

The Premiers declare they cannot disguise that should no voluntary settlement of the Adriatic problem be attained, the Treaty of London would become the only valid alternative as far as they are concerned.

Italy has co-operated loyally, they say, in trying to find a substitute for the treaty and the Allies hope they will succeed in finding such a substitute.

The Supreme Council has not yet received a reply to the note it sent to the Jugoslavs early in the London sittings, but N. P. Pachitch, representing Serbia, arrived in London this morning and will confer with Premier Lloyd George.

Attacks Premiers for Bullying.

The London Times editorially expresses the opinion that the Lloyd George-Millerand note of Thursday "may at last lead to the only sensible settlement of the embarrassing and dangerous position," namely, amicable arrangement concluded directly between Italy and the southern Slavs. The Times declares this goal might have been reached long ago but "unfortunately neither the allied and associated Governments nor Italy knew how to take the occasion by the hand" and "so ends all the labor wasted in drafting and discussing plan after plan," adds the paper, "and so ends the attempt of the two Prime Ministers to coerce the southern Slavs by threatening them with the Treaty of London."

The Times then refers to the sitting of the Supreme Council at which this threat was uttered. It says:

"Clemenceau was the spokesman. Neither he nor Lloyd George has reason to be proud of the effort to bully a small people which President Wilson has practically forced them to drop. Pasitch and Trumbitch were rated in a fashion not usual in diplomacy. They were told that discussion could not continue that if they did not give way England and France were going not only to apply the Treaty of London but to allow Italy to apply it and apply it in its integrity. 'That,' said Clemenceau, 'is the alternative. There is no third course to which it is possible to accede.' Lloyd George was 'in full agreement with Clemenceau.'

"He and Millerand have been taught better since. Under the tuition of the President they have rapidly found salvation. Not only have they discovered that there is a third course but they have rushed into the true path and implore the President who has driven them into it to follow. We imagine he will continue to shepherd them along it, perhaps with a somewhat grim smile. He always has been consistent on this question and as we have repeatedly contended before his present intervention he always has been substantially in the right."

Treaty Delay One Cause of Trouble.

The Westminster Gazette this afternoon, discussing the Adriatic situation, says:

"There is little reason why the note should not have been published as written and received. A delicate situation between the Allies and the United States has arisen, but it cannot be made worse by open discussion."

The newspaper declares that President Wilson is right in his aspect of the Adriatic question. It asserts that the difficulty between the Allies and the United States is that "Mr. Wilson accepts no responsibility for the treaty of London, which was rendered out of date owing to the break-up of Austria-Hungary and to which he was not a party."

"The Treaty of Versailles and the French alliance treaty," the newspaper continues, "would involve America, if accepted without reservation, in an obligation to maintain frontier settlements which he (President Wilson) considers in this case to be inequitable. That is his difficulty. The difficulty of the Allies is that they do not know whether America in any case will accept any obligation of this kind at all. The deadlock is quite as much due to the holding up of the treaty in the Senate as to any inherent difficulty on the Adriatic question itself."

Expects President to Accept.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 28.—The Adriatic correspondence, given out at a late hour last evening, was too late, apparently, for several of the morning papers to comment thereon.

The Chronicle's editorial article says the language of President Wilson's original note "can scarcely be described as less than violent" and that "it is not easy for any European reader to peruse the terms of this dispatch without feelings akin to amazement."

The Chronicle finds the Wilson note in reply to the Anglo-French note of Feb. 17 "couched in altogether different terms."

"His argument," it says, "reads no longer as if he sought an exceuse for a dramatic exit from his European commitments. The threat is not withdrawn but it is not re-emphasized."

As regards the reply of Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand on last Thursday the Chronicle says:

"Their offer can hardly but be accepted by the President, and if the negotiations bear fruit in a settlement, it is certainly within his power to do so. It would not, however be candid to forget altogether the serious doubt inspired by his first note as to whether he really does wish it."

The Daily Express says that the Adriatic correspondence reveals a frank sincerity on the part of Lloyd George and Millerand which does them infinite credit.

"Without false pride, with a sure sense of the tremendous responsibilities with which they are vested," says the paper, "they have conceded Wilson's point. They have taken ready advantage of the avenue of escape from a false position."

The Daily Express concludes by expressing sincere hope that "both Italy and Jugoslavia will find themselves constrained morally to a sweet reasonableness and that the issue of this trouble will smooth the way to that American co-operation which is essential to the maintenance of reasoned peace in the civilized world."

HIGH PRICES PROBLEM TAKEN UP BY COUNCIL

Production, Exchange and Other Economic Questions to be Investigated.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The grave economic condition of Europe, and particularly the serious situation caused by the prevalence of high prices and adverse exchanges, came before the Supreme Council this morning, and it was decided that the matter was so important that it was necessary to set up special machinery to deal with it.

It had been expected that since Premier Nitti is needed in Italy and Premier Millerand had been called back to Paris by the railroad strike, the Supreme Council would hurry through its business and adjourn, but Nitti agreed to postpone his departure and Millerand will be able to return, so that the examination of economic conditions may be continued next week.

At the same time the political work of the Council is to be pressed forward and the conference will be divided into two bodies, the first under the Premiers, concentrating on economic matters, and the second under the Foreign Ministers on treaty questions.

No outside authorities have been called in thus far by the former body and the discussion has been in the hands of the Finance and Trade Ministers and their own department experts.

At this morning's session statements concerning economic, financial and industrial conditions were made for Great Britain and France, and similar explanations concerning Italy and other allied countries were on the program.

The problem is to be considered from many points of view. Among the matters to be debated are exchange, the shortage of commodities, the rate of production, transportation, the effect of trusts in maintaining high prices, profits, taxation and means of restoring peace conditions throughout Europe.

The United States is not represented at the conference.

PRESIDENT STUDIES PREMIERS' REPLY

More Notes on the Adriatic Controversy to be Given Out on Monday.

SOME NEVER SENT HERE

Correspondence Shows That President Was Not Kept Informed of Important Developments.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The difficult Adriatic controversy, with its menace to the peace of Europe, is believed to have passed another crucial stage as a result of the latest exchange of notes between President Wilson and the French and British Premiers.

The promptness and conciliatory character of the latest reply of Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George, dated yesterday, which reached Washington today and is receiving President Wilson's consideration, indicate that President Wilson's note of Feb. 24 opened the way for new negotiations in which the United States Government will be fully consulted before any direct settlement is made.

The creation of a free State of Fiume, taking in a considerable stretch of territory outside the city and port of Fiume, was President Wilson's favorite plan for settling the border controversy. He stands ready to abandon his advocacy of such a "buffer State" if the consent of Italy and Jugoslavia can be obtained to a plan fixing their frontier in the Fiume region without injury to the interests of other nationals.

Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George have now replied that this declaration of readiness by the President to co-operate with them to effect such a settlement is regarded as of the "greatest importance" and have stated willingness to join in taking this new road toward a settlement. Believing that the best way to bring Italy and Jugoslavia into voluntary agreement is to discard both the December and January plans, the Premiers have now invited the President to join them in a formal proposal to the Rome and Belgrade Governments on the basis of the withdrawal of all previous proposals. They also approved the President's views regarding the future of the Albanian people.

President's View Not Yet Known.

While no authoritative statement could be obtained tonight as to the view President Wilson will take of the newest note from the British and French Governments, it is believed that he will accept the invitation to join them in trying to effect a settlement.

Many of the details of the Adriatic controversy have been settled to the satisfaction not only of the British, French and American Governments but also of Italy and Jugoslavia. Thus the President and the Premiers find the controversy narrowed down virtually to the adjustment of the frontier between Italy and Jugoslavia in the Fiume region and finding a solution of the Albanian problem.

It is thought probable that if Italy and Jugoslavia assent to a settlement of their interests and frontiers in the Fiume region the Albanian matter can be satisfactorily adjusted.

Publication by the British Foreign Office on Monday of correspondence between the allied and associated governments on the Adriatic controversy will include five communications which have not been made public here. Three are not in the possession of the State Department. The other two, of which the State Department has copies, are to be made public here.

The five notes comprise a memorandum from the Italian Government to the French and British Premiers on Jan. 6, an Italian note under date of Jan. 10, and a note of the Jugoslav Government forwarded on Jan. 20, a note of the Jugoslav Government under date of Jan. 20 and another later communication.

Inclusion in the correspondence to be published of communications not in the possession of this Government is regarded as significant in emphasizing that there have been developments in the Adriatic negotiations of which the United States had not been kept informed.

The fact that there were exchanges of views between the Governments directly concerned in the Adriatic settlement and the French and British Premiers without the knowledge of the United States, it was pointed out today, bears out the contention of the United States Government that it was neither consulted nor fully informed of the developments which had taken place.

Important Step Not Known Here.

The correspondence made public yesterday shows that when he directed Secretary Lansing to send the note of Feb. 10 containing the threat that he would consider withdrawing the treaties, President Wilson did not know that the Jugoslav Government was opposed to the plan for the creation of the buffer State of Fiume. This information was not conveyed to President Wilson, so far as the published record discloses, until he received the note of Feb. 17 in which Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George explained that "the origin of the proposal of Jan. 20 lies in the fact that when the Prime Ministers of Great Britain and France came to deal with representatives of Italy and Jugoslavia in Paris they found that nobody desired the consummation of the free State of Fiume, which had always been an essential part of the American proposals for settlement."

In this same note the British and French Premiers, after explaining their difficulty in understanding the "present attitude" of the United States Government, informed President Wilson that "once with the consent of both parties concerned the idea of the free State of Fiume was abandoned, in view of the absence of the American representatives, they had no option but to attempt to settle this question by themselves," although it was not the desire of the Premiers to "force a settlement" which was "unacceptable to the President of the United States, and will, therefore, not attempt to insist upon its acceptance until they have heard the view of the United States on this dispatch."

It was made known by the State Department today that England signed the Clemenceau-Crowe-Polk memorandum of Dec. 9 on three conditions:

1. That the proposal should not at that time be made public.

2. That the Italian Foreign Minister, Vittori Scialoja, should have an opportunity to reply to the proposal.

That the joint proposal of Dec. 9 should not be delivered as an ultimatum nor considered as terminating the discussion on the Adriatic problem.

DEBATE ON NOTES EXPECTED.

Senators Find Support for All Treaty Views in the Adriatic Controversy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Discussion of the Adriatic controversy is expected in the Senate tomorrow. Senator Hitchcock put into The Record a copy of the correspondence sent him from the White House and asked that it be printed as a public document.

Mr. Hitchcock, in commenting on the correspondence, said:

"I think the President is on very high ground and in a very strong position. It is an absolutely invulnerable position, as shown by the correspondence.

"I do not believe the treaty will be withdrawn as a result of the present discussion. I think the Allies will yield and the three nations will settle the matter among themselves. In my opinion, the sanity of the agreement last December has been admitted, and the President will win out."

Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, Republican, said:

"The President's concern over the Adriatic situation ought to remove all possible doubt as to the necessity for our reservation on Article X."

"If the President is able to thrust us into such a situation before we are committed to the League of Nations, what would he not be able to do if we were in the league?" asked Senator Moses, New Hampshire.

To Senator New of Indiana it was "unthinkable that the situation should arise in which the United States Government would be placed in the position of assuming final authority in the distribution of European territory with which we have no concern, of attempting to dictate the fixing of boundaries of European countries with which we have or should have no concern."

Senator Borah, Idaho, said:

"This controversy ought to be carefully studied by the American people, because it demonstrates that Europe does not propose either now or hereafter to accept the principle of the fourteen points or to accept the American principles of peace at all. The controversy discloses that the Eurean idea of international affairs and the American idea are wholly and everlastingly in conflict."

Senator Thomas of Colorado, Democrat, took a somewhat similar view. He said:

"I predict that in a not very distant future we will realize that this Fiume incident was a providential means of impressing us with the inevitable difficulties that must attend our participation in these affairs of the Old World."

DECLARES GERMANY CANNOT MEET DEBTS

Herr Kraemer Foresees Economic Bankruptcy Imminent Because of Credits Due to Neutrals.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—That the credits soon falling due for raw materials contracted for by German manufacturers in neutral countries during the war cannot possibly be met, owing to the depreciation in exchange, and that consequently economic bankruptcy is imminent unless a solution is found, was the statement made today by Herr Kraemer, president of the Association of German Industries, at a meeting of the German League of Nations Society.

Herr Kraemer proposed that all the industrial, mercantile and agricultural associations of Germany combine and establish a credit bank, and that an international economic association also be immediately formed for the purpose of trying to obtain an extension of credits. This, Herr Kraemer declared, would be the first step toward an economic league of nations.

BANDHOLTZ DENIES TALK.

General Says He Did Not Give Views on Hungary for Publication.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who was the American member of the Interallied Military Commission at Budapest, makes the following statement:

"Upon my arrival in Paris from Budapest on Feb. 11 I was interviewed by Mr. James of THE NEW YORK TIMES. I told him I could give nothing for publication except an emphatic denial that I had come to Paris to defend the Hungarian cause before the committee of Ambassadors.

"Mr. James states that he wishes to correct his mistaken impression that I discussed the Hungarian situation for publication."

DUTCH REPLY NEXT WEEK.

Cabinet Is Still Weighing the Allies' Note on the Ex-Kaiser.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 27.—The Dutch Cabinet is still discussing the last allied note regarding the ex-Kaiser, but a reply is expected to be dispatched next week when the Government will consent to a quasi internment, as cabled on Feb. 18, or will remove the ex-monarch further from the German frontier.

other machines and certain other goods badly needed."

The emissary of the Muscovite Government concluded by declaring that an early peace with the world would mean its speedy conquest by Bolshevism.

Red Attitude Toward Britain.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Victor Kopp, the Soviet Government's representative here, has given me in a special interview his Government's views of conditions which have been suggested as those on which peace could be concluded by England with Bolshevist Russia.

A few days ago it was announced that Kopp was here to negotiate with the German Government over a mutual exchange of prisoners. It is generally accepted, however, that Kopp's mission is of far wider scope, extending at least to a resumption of trading relations between Germany and Russia. In reference to recognition of the border States Kopp said:

"So far as Esthonia is concerned that condition is already fulfilled and we are ready to recognize the independence of Poland, Finland, and Lithuania on exactly such terms."

Concerning the safeguarding of British interests in Asia, Kopp made this statement:

"We have absolutely no aggressive intentions either in relation to India or any other British possession, but at the same time we can give no unconditional promise to renounce any weapon at our disposal so long as we are not at peace with England. I am speaking from a wide political point of view. We want to make no military attack against British power anywhere, but everything depends on the position which England itself takes.

"If England makes war against us then we shall have to consider the whole situation. If we are attacked anywhere by England then we shall have to review our position and resources and to decide what is the best use we can make of any weapons at our command and where we can best use them. But I repeat, it is only in the event of being ourselves attacked that we should think of taking any aggressive action anywhere."

Replying to a question as to whether Bolshevist propaganda was counted among the weapons which would be renounced in case of peace, Kopp said:

"Our attitude toward England is the same as toward Germany or any other foreign country. We have no desire to interfere in the internal affairs of any country."

Repayment of Russia's Debts.

As to measures for the repayment of the Russian State debt, Kopp said:

"That is our duty, and our conditions now are the same as at the time of the suggested Prinkipo conference. We recognize our obligation to repay our debts to all foreign countries, subject to those countries' agreement to the conditions made on our side. We must have guarantees for the maintenance of peace. Naturally, we will not give a promise to pay unconditionally—that is to say, without having guarantees that we may not be attacked at any moment. We are not prepared to say that come what may we will pay our debts."

On the subject of a sine qua non in the shape of the establishment of satisfactory trading relations, Kopp made the following declaration: "We are quite ready to enter into good, honorable business relations with the capitalistic world, with England, or France, or Germany, or any other country. In this matter we make no distinctions of nationality or form of state, whether it be socialistic, capitalistic or even imperialistic. We shall simply ask ourselves what we need and where we can get it.

"We want exchange of products, not of ideas or wares, not of State constitutions. That other countries with which we wish to trade have political constitutions or economic systems different from ours is in this question of no interest to us. We can export now to England wood, flax and hemp as well as many raw materials which are required for the shipbuilding industry. Later on we could also send foodstuffs—grain, butter, &c.

"At present we could not undertake any definite obligations in respect of the last named classes, but as soon as trade is resumed the productivity of Russia will certainly be increased and here we shall be willing to do all we can to send foodstuffs."

Principles Governing Imports.

With regard to imports in return, Kopp laid great emphasis on certain fundamental principles which should be strictly observed under all circumstances.

"We shall begin," he said, "by taking only such things as will restore and increase our productive capacity. It is the nation that is to say what things are of necessity to the whole community and calculated to increase its productivity. Our first requirement is for locomotives and other means of transport, then agricultural implements, machinery of various descriptions, technical instruments and, in addition, medicines and chemicals. Until those requirements are met we shall refuse importation of all articles which serve only individual interests.

"Our general standpoint is that we must do everything possible to strengthen our powers of production and the life necessities of our nation. For that end we are willing to trade with any country which can send us the means of so doing. It is from that standpoint that we view our relations with other countries."

When questioned, in conclusion, as to reports of recent changes in Russia, Kopp gave assurance that the fundamental principles of the Soviet system were unaltered. Any changes in organization or conduct of industry are of technical character, as demanded by varying conditions from time to time.

DEMOCRATS CAN BEAT LODGE'S PROGRAM

Their Leaders Find Treaty Cannot Pass if Leader's Reservations Stay.

HITCHCOCK IS ENCOURAGED

Thinks Present Effort to Ratify Will Not Be Last and That Next Will Succeed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Administration leaders in the Senate have "clearly established," they said today, that there are not enough votes to ratify the peace treaty with the original Lodge reservations to the League of Nations covenant. They have done this through a careful canvass on both sides of the chamber.

It has revealed to them that some Democrats who a few days ago were willing to take the Lodge reservations on Article X. and the Monroe Doctrine have receded from that position because they see no hope of any modifications in other Lodge reservations.

These Democrats were willing to accept the two reservations which Senator Lodge and his supporters decline to allow to be modified provided changes were made in the reservations on withdrawal from the League, domestic questions and other subjects. But the Senate seems distinctly averse to making the changes desired. It refused to alter the withdrawal reservation and Senator Lodge has withdrawn his proposed amendments to the domestic questions reservation.

The Democrats in question therefore, find themselves in the position of having to swallow the original Lodge program, and this, they have told their leaders, they are unable to do. They cannot surrender entirely, though they were willing, for the sake of ratification, to surrender on the main questions if they could have saved their faces on other points.

This turn in the situation has strengthened the position of Senator Hitchcock, although some think it has clinched rejection of the treaty.

Senators Underwood and Hitchcock today agreed as to the hopelessness of the situation as far as ratification was concerned. Mr. Hitchcock is not at all downcast at the proof the canvass has afforded that the Democrats would not revolt against his leadership to accept that of Senator Lodge. In fact the Nebraska Senator sees in the situation elements of hope; he believes that the present effort to ratify is not the last that will be made, and is quite confident that the next one will succeed.

Just when and how this next effort will be made he did not suggest.

The Senate today made no progress on reservations. The session was devoted mostly to a speech by Senator Norris of Nebraska concerning the British protectorate over Egypt.

Mr. Norris recited numerous promises by British statesmen, following the first occupation of Egypt by British troops, to the effect that Great Britain would withdraw as soon as her mission was fulfilled. These promises, he said, were made but to be broken, and he instanced the present British control of Egyptian affairs to show that instead of giving up anything in Egypt, Great Britain had intrenched herself there more strongly than ever, and intended to stay. He read from stories of alleged British atrocities, and demanded that the Senate refuse to approve "the condemnation of 13,000,000 people unheard."

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia continued his attack upon the proposed reservation on domestic questions which Senator Hitchcock offered yesterday. Mr. Smith said that in 1912 every Democrat in the Senate voted for a reservation excluding domestic questions from the British arbitration treaty. "I am only following now the same course," he said.

The Hitchcock substitute would exempt any member of the League from submitting to the League any question which, under international law, was recognized as a domestic question. The Lodge reservation would exempt domestic questions from the jurisdiction of the League, as far as the United States alone is concerned.

Senator King of Utah today offered a substitute for both the Lodge and the Hitchcock proposals. It provides that "the United States understands that the jurisdiction and authority of the council or assembly of the League does not include any power over the proper domestic, internal or national policy of any member of the League * * * the United States will not submit to arbitration or to consideration of the council any question which in its judgment is a question within its domestic jurisdiction and sovereignty."

SEND £6,000 CHECK TO HONOR OUR NAVY

British Will Erect Memorial of Its War Work in New York Harbor.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—A check for £6,000 for the erection in New York Harbor of a monument to commemorate the work of the American Navy in the great war was handed today to Ambassador Davis at a luncheon given by the English Speaking Union. The sum comes from a fund originally raised to set up on either side of the Straits of Dover a memorial to the skill, endurance and success of the Dover patrol, in which British and French naval forces co-operated in preventing the Huns from passing the Straits. As more than sufficient for that immediate purpose was subscribed, it was thought the balance could be best used in erecting a similar monument at New York.

Walter H. Long, M. P., First Lord of the British Admiralty, presided at the luncheon, and said that as soon as the Americans entered the war, with their usual thoroughness, they asked how they could render the most effective assistance. The result was they sent a fleet of destroyers to Queenstown and put them under British control.

"It was an act of wonderful loyalty," he said, "and it had an immediate effect. It enabled us at once to reinforce the Dover patrol and make it efficient."

Mr. Long told of the anxiety of Americans attached to the Grand Fleet to do their full share even of tiresome and uninteresting fatigue duties, and, speaking of the North Sea mine barrage, added:

"That was laid by the Americans with wonderful skill, and was most important. It drove the Germans down to Dover, where the patrol caught them."

Ambassador Davis said he felt that to reply for the American Navy was rather outside his ordinary steaming radius, but he was glad to find how its services were appreciated. Still, he could not forget how small they were compared with the long and arduous vigil the British Navy kept throughout the war. American officers, he said, asked nothing more than to be classed as worthy colleagues of the British, and he rejoiced there was to be permanent memorial in America of that co-operation of British and American sailors and the work of the Dover patrol, which enabled 1,100,000 American soldiers to cross the Channel and return in safety.

The check was then presented to Ambassador Davis by Sir Edwin Farley and Lord Northbourne on behalf of the Dover Patrol Memorial Committee.

HELIGOLAND FORTRESS NOW VALUELESS IN WAR

Once Impregnable German Outpost Denuded of Guns—Harbor Works Being Destroyed.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—Helgoland—two years ago Germany's most impregnable barrier against allied sea power—is today a dismantled hulk of no military importance. The black, imperious bulk of the island itself, surmounted by tons of masonry and ingeniously constructed gun emplacements, is all that remains.

Germans concerned in the construction of the fortress declare another seven years' work will be necessary to complete Helgoland's "demobilization." Work has been in progress for over a year. All the guns have been dismantled, but the destruction of the harbor works and other fortifications on the island is proceeding.

This stronghold was built at a cost of more than $175,000,000, but its mighty guns fired but once throughout the war. The British warship Shannon was the target. The island played a negative part in the defense of the German coast, probably because allied experts agree that it would have been impossible to silence its batteries.

The foundations of the harbor, which is about 800 yards in length and 500 yards wide, consist of huge blocks of concrete. All these have to be destroyed. The ground on which the barracks stand, to reclaim which from the sea a multitude of Germans worked for years at a cost of $5,000,000, is to be returned to the sea.

Everything in the defenses of Helgoland is worked by hydraulic power. The water necessary for the defense and sanitary purposes is drawn by huge pumps from fifty feet below sea level. The subterranean galleries, which are electrically lighted, are regarded by military men as "wonder works."

Although the Germans considered that the secret of Helgoland had been kept inviolate, it is now revealed that a British naval officer, posing as an American student, saw all the fortifications in 1913.

FRENCH HARD PRESSED BY TURKS AT MARASH

Withdrew So Hastily Were Compelled to Leave Their Wounded, London Hears.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Official dispatches on the situation at Marash, in the vilayet of Aleppo, Syria, where French troops have been having a severe struggle with Turkish forces, announce that the French succeeded in extricating their contingents after very hard fighting.

The French evidently withdrew hastily, as they were compelled to leave their wounded, who will be cared for by the American Red Cross.

A message from the same source confirms the reports of massacres of Armenians in the Marash district, but does not substantiate the statement from Armenian quarters that the number slaughtered was several thousand.

News of the safe arrival at Aleppo, Syria, of Mrs. Frank Johnson, of Newark, Ohio, wife of a Y. M. C. A. worker who, with James Perry, of Camden, Me., was slain by bandits in the Aintab region on Feb. 3, was contained in a cablegram received here from Major James H. Nicol, Director of Near East Relief, at Cairo.

The dispatch said Johnson and Perry were en route to India in a Near East Relief motor car when they and their native driver were attacked and killed on the Aintab Road north of Killis. A French relief party subsequently was repulsed by the bandits. Later a courier from the region where the murder occurred reported that the bodies of two Americans, supposedly those of Johnson and Perry, were seen at the village.

"All our personnel safe and have been cautioned to remain at their posts for the present," the cablegram added. "The murder of Perry and Johnson is regarded as accidental, the bandits taking the Americans for a French guard. Five of our fifteen supply wagons, following the car, were plundered by the bandits. Mrs. Johnson is safe in Aleppo."

ROPER WILL RESIGN AS COMMISSIONER

Wants to Leave Revenue Bureau Soon—Denial of Trouble Over Prohibition.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Daniel C. Roper is to resign as Commissioner of Internal Revenue. He wishes to leave office within sixty or ninety days, but this will depend upon the condition of affairs of his bureau at that time and also to an extent upon the convenience of Secretary Houston.

Rumors that Mr. Roper intended to resign have been current in Washington for several weeks.

The reports have been coupled with others that assigned as his reason the idea that the Commissioner was not in sympathy with the prohibition enforcement with which his department is charged. This idea was scouted in some quarters.

Another theory which some persons advanced several weeks ago was that protests had been made to President Wilson by clergymen who objected to an alleged order by the Commissioner that they form themselves into a vigilance organization to help carry prohibition. A denial was made tonight that Mr. Roper had received any intimation of these protests from the White House.

Mr. Roper's intention, it is believed, is to remain in office until the tax collection for the present year is well under way and to resign before the end of the tax year. He has long been known as a tax expert and before he became Commissioner was Chairman of the Tariff Commission.

RENEW RAIDS, ARRESTING 10

Alleged Radicals Are Held in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 27.—Raids by Federal agents and police early today marked a renewal of the Government's fight to stamp out radicalism and send agitators back to their native lands. Ten alleged radicals were arrested. No specific charge has been lodged against them, all being accused generally of "violating the United States laws."

Several wagonloads of radical literature was found in the homes of some of the men.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Anthony Caminetti, Commissioner General of Immigration, declared in his monthly report, made public today, that during January 2,797 warrants were issued, of which 800 were for normal immigration cases, including the apprehending of immigrants who had entered the country under false declarations. The record number of warrants was 3,067 in December.

During January, the report said, 200 orders for deportation were issued, 219 warrants for arrest were canceled, and 44 cases were deferred.

ARMIES OF TOIL RAISED BY TROTZKY

Soldiers Not Demobilized After Military Service, but Put to Work.

TASK ASSIGNED EACH ARMY

Labor Conscripted to Overcome Economic Chaos, So Russia May Be Led on "New Free Road."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Leon Trotzky, Minister of War of Soviet Russia, addressing the Third Russian Congress, held in Moscow, Jan. 25 last, outlined the Bolshevist plan for converting the Red Army into an army of labor, according to reports of his speech reaching here.

Referring to the work of the Red Army Trotzky said:

"They (the soldiers) have learned under the very hardest conditions to lead hundreds of thousands of organized masses and have led peasants into battle. They will be trained officers. There is still one way open to the reorganization of national economy—the way of uniting the army and labor and changing the military detachments of the army into detachments of a labor army.

"Many in the army have already accomplished their military task, but they cannot be demobilized as yet. Now that they have been released from their military duties, they must fight against economic ruin and against hunger, they must work to obtain fuel, peat and other heat producing products, they must take part in building, in clearing the lines of snow, in repairing roads, building sheds, grinding flour, &c.

"We have already organized several of these armies and their tasks have been allotted to them. One army must obtain foodstuffs for the workmen of the districts in which it was formerly stationed and it also will cut wood, cart it to the railways and repair engines. Another army will help in the laying down of railway lines for the transport of crude oil. A third labor army will be used for repairing agricultural implements and machines, and in the Spring will take part in the working of the land.

"At the present time among the working masses there must be the greatest exactitude and conscientiousness, together with responsibility to the end, and there must be the utmost strictness and severity both in small and great matters. If the most advanced workmen of the country will devote their thoughts, all their will and all their revolutionary duty to the cause of regulating economic affairs, then I have no doubt that we shall lead Russia on a new free road, to the confounding of our enemies and the joy of our friends."

Trotzky pointed out in his speech that the economic situation in Russia today was not unlike that existing throughout Europe, only the problems were more acute.

"We were cut off from our coal supply, crude oil and cotton," said Trotzky. "Under these conditions can the Soviet régime be blamed? Is it the source of evil? A factory may be run on capitalistic lines; it may belong to one person or a company; it may be socialized or may form part of a complete communist state, but if it lacks raw materials it cannot work.

"The Russian proletariat already feels responsible for the welfare of its country and for its economic life. The hardships and poverty we are suffering are educating the workers of the proletariat. Under those conditions every workman and every workwoman is beginning to realize what economic life means to the country. This makes us confident that we will overcome our economic disorganization.

"We shall succeed if qualified and trained workers take part in productive labor. Trade unions must register qualified workmen in the villages. Only in those localities where trade union methods are inadequate other methods must be introduced, in particular that of compulsion, because labor conscription gives the State the right to tell the qualified workman who is employed on some unimportant work in his village, 'You are obliged to leave your present employment and go to Sormovo or Kolomna because there your work is required.'

"Labor conscription means that the qualified workmen who leave the army must take their workbooks and proceed to places where they are required, where their presence is necessary to the economic system of the country. We must feed these workmen and guarantee them the minimum food ration."

RED ARMIES SWEEP ON IN NORTH AND SOUTH

Capture of Martynoff and Staff with 50,000,000 Don Rubles Is Reported.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Bolshevist communications received today record the unchecked progress of the Red forces in the Murmansk region and announce the occupation of the stations Kapeselga and Madveizhiagora and several villages. The communications say an armored train, eight airplanes and a large quantity of war material have been taken. Onega, at the mouth of the Onega River, eighty miles southwest of Archangel, has also been occupied.

On the southwest front, in the region of Tiraspol and Odessa, the communications say, the captures between Jan. 24 and Feb. 17 included 12,700 prisoners, 342 guns, 23 armored trains, 5,500 rifles, 15 airplanes and 390 motor cars.

On the Caucasian front the Bolsheviki claim the occupation of a number of localities between the sea and Rostov.

In the Alexandrovski region of the Turkestan front, according to the communications, the Reds captured the enemy staff and General Martynoff. They also took 50,000,000 Don rubles.

The Bolsheviki also claim occupation of the Island of Pvorva, on the northeastern coast of the Caspian Sea, off the Uralsk coast.

PROPOSES TO RESUME DEALINGS WITH RUSSIA

Explanations and Reparation by Us Also Urged in Senate Resolution.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator France of Maryland today introduced in the Senate a joint resolution providing for the resumption of relations between the United States and Russia. It did not explicitly provide for recognition of the Lenin-Trotzky Soviet régime, but if its provisions were carried out that would be the effect. It was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

The resolution set forth the desire of the people of the United States for "continuance of friendly relations and the re-establishment of commerce and trade with the Russian people," and the wish of America, "by every proper means, to assist in the rehabilitation of the industrial and agricultural activities and agencies of Russia for the sake of the Russian people, as well as for the general welfare of the world."

To this end the resolution would advise the President "to communicate at once, through the Department of State, with the Government of Russia, assuring the people of Russia of our friendship, sympathy, and desire to co-operate with them and to re-establish with them full and cordial relationships of friendly intercourse, trade, and commerce, and further that the President be advised:

"(1) To instruct the Department of State to raise the embargo against the shipment of goods to Russia.

"(2) To consider and advise as to the best method of arranging credits which will make possible the shipment of such American goods as may be needed and desired by the people of Russia for the rehabilitation of their country.

"(3) To immediately withdraw from Russia any and all American troops which may still be on Russian soil.

"(4) To enter upon negotiations through the Department of State concerning any explanations or reparations which may be due from this country because of our invasion of Russian territory.

"(5) To convey to the people of Russia expressions of our appreciation and gratitude for their heroic part in the war and our felicitations to them for having overthrown a despotic Government, and assurances of the desire of the American people to co-operate with them and to assist them in every proper and possible way in their efforts to establish institutions which will insure to them an ordered liberty."

Recent developments in the allied capitals had convinced some Senators, they said today, that recognition of the Soviet Government was near. They expected that, so far as the United States went, this recognition might be limited to the lifting of the embargo.

Senator Hitchcock, the Democratic leader, thought that the United States "was drifting very rapidly in the direction of resumption of trade intercourse with Russia."

TWO AMERICAN CAPTIVES ILL.

One Red Cross Worker Captured in Siberia by Reds Has Broken Leg.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The first detailed account of the capture of seven American Red Cross workers by the Bolsheviki in the taking of Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, was contained in a dispatch received today at Red Cross headquarters here. Captain Edward Charette of Stockton, Cal., one of the captives, was permitted to carry the news of the safety of the Americans through the lines to Irkutsk.

Those taken besides Charette were Alexander C. Tweedie and Otto W. Lowe of New York; Joseph R. Medill, Jaroso, Col.; Harry J. Donnalley, Philadelphia; William H. Ford, Kingston, Okla., and H. N. Bonzo of Manila.

All were reported well except Donnalley, who has a broken leg, and Tweedie, who is slightly ill with typhus.

COMPLAIN OF RUMANIANS.

Hungarians Demand Attention to "Arbitrary Action" in Transylvania.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Hungarian peace delegation has sent to the Supreme Allied Council, meeting in London, a strongly worded note calling attention to the "arbitrary action of the Rumanian military authorities in Transylvania." The delegation demands that this question be given immediate attention. The not says, in part:

"We have just received from our Government a telegram from which we transmit the following extracts.

"Two more death sentences have been pronounced at Kolozvar on two Hungarian reserve officers. Enormous resentment prevails manog the Szeklers, and it is feared they will act against Rumania on their own responsibility. An Entente mission should be sent without fail to Transylvania, since, as a result of British intervention there, the Rumanians are preparing to treat brutally the Church dignitaries, as well as all other distinguished Transylvanians whom they imagine or konw to have appled to foreign countries for protection against the atrocities of the Rumanians."

4 KILLED, 41 INJURED IN AFRICAN MINE FIGHT

Blacks Attack Europeans at Johannesburg and Military Are Forced to Act.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Several hundred striking native miners attacked white miners who were about to descend into the mine shaft last Wednesday at Johannesburg, South Africa, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Johannesburg.

A pitched battle ensued in which the military was employed, four natives were killed and thirty-five injured and six Europeans were wounded.

The dispatch adds that the belief prevails that the International Socialists fomented the trouble.

THIEVES GET $25,000 SILKS.

Goods Stolen from Eighteenth Street Loft—Arrests in Brooklyn Case.

Thieves entered a loft building at 7 and 9 West Eighteenth Street, Thursday night or early yesterday morning, and carried off silks with an estimated value of over $25,000, from the establishment of Ida Munzer, a dealer in silk lingerie, occupying the entire second floor of the building.

Employes arriving for work yesterday morning, found the Munzer door in the hallway forced open and the rooms in confusion. Miss Munzer, the proprietress, refused to discuss the case yesterday, but it was said at her office that the exact loss could not be determined until after a thorough inventory. Detectives at the West Twentieth Street Police Station said that the case was being investigated by the Loft Squad.

Acting Captain John Coughlin, head of the Brooklyn Detective Bureau, Captain Daniel Carey, and Detectives Knowles and Ferry yesterday morning arrested Isadore Grossman, living at 127 Elderly Street, Manhattan, and Morris Biller, and Samuel Abrams, both of Brooklyn, on suspicion that they were implicated in the theft of silk from the loft of Samuel Fishel, a silk manufacturer, at 75 Thirteenth Street, Brooklyn.

Grossman and Biller have a dry goods store at 68 Moore Street, Brooklyn. It is alleged that Abrams sold the partners $6,000 worth of silk stolen from the Fishel loft on Feb. 10, for $3,750. Pretending to be silk buyers, the four officers have gone from store to store in the Williamsburg section, looking for silk bearing tags torn in a peculiar manner by Fishel for the purpose of identification.

the surplus property division, office of the Quartermaster General of the Army, has made the following awards of clothing and equipage advertised and offered for sale in clothing and equipage list No. 2, bids for which were received until 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Feb. 13, 1920:

Overshoes, all rubber, new. Item No. 62; quantity, 56,850 pairs; bid, $1.35. Name and address: Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic, 110 West Forty-ninth Street, New York City.

Item No. 64: 3,500 pairs; same price; same bidder.

Item No. 65: 1,800 pairs; same price; same bidder.

Item No. 66: 340 pairs; same price; same bidder.

Item No. 67: 1,620 pairs; same price; same bidder.

Item No. 68: 6,970 pairs; same price; same bidder.

Shoes, field, reclaimed and renovated.

Item No. 69: 47,600 pairs; $2 bid; same bidder.

Quartermaster General Rodgers could not be located this evening. One of those connected with his office said that only the Quartermaster General was in a position to know anything about the transaction.

The transaction places the United States Government in a peculiar situation, regarding which the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which is now investigating Soviet activities here, will probably call for an explanation. Martens is now at the call of the Senate committee, and it is the intention of the Bureau of Immigration of the Department of Labor to take him into custody as soon as the Senate committee is through with him, pending an examination as to why he should not be deported from the United States.

PALMER WANTS LAW TO PUNISH DISLOYAL

Says There Is No Federal Statute Sufficient to Deal with Revolutionary Citizens.

FAVORS LIMIT ON SPEECH

Would Draw Line at Preaching for Overthrow of Government—Address to Lawyers.

Enactment of a Federal statute to permit the Government to hold a citizen who advocates its overthrow by violence to the same responsibility that it does an alien was advocated last night by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer at the dinner of the New York County Lawyers' Association at the Hotel Astor. Mr. Palmer said that the Government was greatly hampered in dealing with citizens of revolutionary tendencies and urged the passage of a bill, which is now being opposed as too drastic, he said, by those who a year ago were calling upon him to take drastic action against the "Red radicals," whom he declared to be the greatest menace to the country.

"I believe that it is urgent that no less punishment be meted out to a citizen, naturalized or native born, who advocates overthrow of the Government by force or violence than is meted out to the alien," Mr. Palmer stated. "At present, under our Federal statutes we are unable to reach him."

Mr. Palmer explained that, while it was made a crime to incite rebellion or insurrection, the courts had agreed that there must actually have been a rebellion or an insurrection to obtain a conviction. Conviction was also difficult, he said, under the conspiracy statute, the only other statute under which it was possible to deal with such offenders.

Objects to "Unbridled Speech."

Mr. Palmer said he had no objection to free speech, and would like to see London's open forum in Hyde Park set up in every American city.

"The right of free speech is not the right of unbridled speech without responsibility," he said. "There is a deadline, and that is the line which a man crosses when he promises, implies, or threatens the use of violence to overthrow the Government of his country."

The present Federal statutes provide no method for punishing a man who throws a bomb, or who threatens to throw one, Mr. Palmer said. He might be guilty under a State law, he continued, but not under a Federal law, even though the intent behind the throwing of the bomb might have been the overthrow of the Federal Government. "It seems to me that this requires correction," Mr. Palmer said.

Mr. Palmer said the bill he advocated merely made it a crime to threaten, commit or attempt to commit an act of violence with the intent of destroying the Government, or to advocate its overthrow by violence or to knowingly become a member of an organization which did. He declared that the Socialists, so far as he knew, had not advocated the overthrow of the Government by force.

Referring to the decision in the packing company cases, filed in Washington during the day, Mr. Palmer said it would hereafter confine the big Chicago packing companies to the butcher business. He asserted that a menace had been removed from the food table of America and that the decree would result in free and open competition in the meat packing business.

Hughes Says Ballot Is Remedy.

Charles E. Hughes, President of the association, who presided, said that the war had provided many problems.

"We have destroyed autocracy, only to find our hands full of democracy," he said. "The question is, What are we going to do with it? We propose to meet in an open forum and by competent, free and candid discussion all those who desire any changes in our methods or formulas of government. The time has come when men must declare what they think and support it by reasoning. They must commit it to the judgment of the intelligent electorate and abide by the result, without a suggestion of bigotry or intolerance, which are incompatible with democratic institutions."

Speeches were made by Judge Charles M. Hough of the United States Circuit Court, Nathan L. Miller of Syracuse, former Judge of the Court of Appeals, and former Justice Francis M. Scott, Vice President of the New York City Bar Association. About 900 were present.

CLIMBS 36,020 FEET AND DROPS 5 MILES

again gives him the record which Roland Rohlfs won from him July 30, 1919, with an official altitude of 30,300 feet and later increased in a second flight to 31,000 feet. It also breaks the record of Adjutant Casale, a French pilot, who was credited with an unofficial record of 33,137 feet.

Major Schroeder's first altitude record was made at Dayton, Sept. 18, 1918, when he flew a Bristol fighting machine to an altitude of 28,900 feet.

Leaving the field at 10:45 o'clock this morning, Major Schroeder battled for two hours and five minutes against changing air currents and in a bitter cold atmosphere until he reached an altitude of 36,020 feet.

Riding alone, almost seven miles above the earth, in a polar climate and against such winds as Peary encountered, which blow at 100 miles an hour or more, Major Schroeder fought foot by foot to drive his plane higher.

Officers of the field say his machine must have fallen into a tail spin, as otherwise it would have collapsed when he regained consciousness and righted it. The sudden change in air pressure from less than 3 pounds at 36,000 feet to 14.7 pounds at sea level crushed the gasoline tanks on his plane and caused them to collapse, besides jolting Major Schroeder.

Inventions Made Flight Possible.

Modern inventions unthought of before the war, made not only Major Schroeder's air voyage possible, but also enabled him to return with an accurate scientific record of the flight to substantiate his verbal claims. His machine was equipped with a Moss supercharger, and was the same as used Aug. 2, 1919, when he broke the world's speed record for high altitude by flying 137 miles an hour at a height of 18,400 feet.

The Moss supercharger is a device composed of a gas turbine and a centrifugal air compressor. The turbine gets its power from the red-hot exhaust gases from the Liberty motor. The power generated by the gas turbine is used to operate the centrifugal air compressor at about 22,000 revolutions per minute, and the air so compressed is fed to the carburetor at the same pressure as at sea level. Thus the Liberty motor delivered full 400 horse power, even though at high altitude.

Major Schroeder was dressed heavier than any Polar explorer. He was literally wrapped in flexible electric heaters. His flying suit was lined with the fur of Chinese Nuchwang dogs, and between the fur and the outer lining flexible electric heat units, connected by silk covered wires, with the dynamo of the engine, heated the entire suit. In like manner his headgear, gloves and moccasins were heated. He wore an oxygen mask of his own design.

Captain Harrison W. Flickinger, chief calibration officer of McCook Field, said Major Shroeder's record would be first sent to War Department officials at Washington, and later to officials of the Aero Club of America, and the Aero Club of America recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale will be asked to certify the record to the world.

BARUCH SEES DROP IN PRICES AT HAND

Tells House Committee Production Is Nearing the Peak and Profiteers Must Run to Cover.

AGAINST PEACE PRICE FIXING

Only Producers' Shame Would Have Limited War Costs but for Regulation.

DEFENDS WORK OF BOARD

Says It Controlled 357 Industries and Expended $30,000,000,000 for Government and Allies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—High prices of necessities are ending with the approach of the peak in world production in every line of industry, asserted Bernard M. Baruch, former Chairman of the War Industries Board, in testifying today before the House War Expenditures Committee.

"The profiteers and hoarders," said Mr. Baruch, "will soon run to cover, with the markets returning to normal. Only a cataclysm, an act of God or some development such as the overthrow of the Government can prevent this. When the hoarders and profiteers see that this greatly increased production is in sight, and they will be the very first to see it, they will unload and run to cover. With the restoration of normal transportation on sea and on land and with the world back at work, reduction of the cost of living is an absolute certainty.

"When the war broke out in 1914 it took 25,000,000 men from production to destruction. It took five men and women to care for the wants of each of these fighting men. This made the enormous total of 125,000,000 persons withdrawn from their normal pursuits. Factories were changed to produce agents of destruction in unlimited numbers.

"This went on for the war period. But with the armistice the world began to get back to work. We in the United States are now about back to normal. True, some—yes, a great many—have not yet resumed the job at top speed, but they are getting back. The great forces that of necessity had to be dedicated to destruction now are about to aid construction with all of their ability. Production will reach the maximum and [illegible]t will be that prices will go [illegible]ormal and all of the people [illegible]it. Because of my belief in th[illegible] am opposed to any price [illegible]ongress in peace times. The la[illegible]y and demand can be depen[illegible]ake care of this."

[illegible] Industries Fixed Prices.

Mr. Bar[illegible]ok exception to statements ma[illegible]eech in the House last N[illegible]airman Graham of the Co[illegible]nditures in the War De[illegible]t, in [illegible] the latter declared th[illegible] the p[illegible] the copper industry had been [illegible] by the big copper the United States wa[illegible] an Baruch, the prices in all i[illegible]cluding copper, were [illegible]mittee composed of [illegible]ent officials, and only after [illegible]nd complete hearing had been [illegible]n to all persons interested. He said that when the United States was preparing, but before it got into the war, the copper interests agreed to furnish all of the copper the Untied States wanted at an average price fixed on the quotations for ten years. Later, when the United States entered the war and the entire production was needed, the price was fixed after considering costs of production. In this fixing, Mr. Baruch said, the copper industry as an industry had no part.

The rule was the same in every industry, he added. The War Industries Board, Mr. Baruch pointed out, had nothing to do with the making of contracts for Government departments, but expended $30,000,000,000 for this and allied Governments.

"We dominated industry through the exercise of priorities," explained Mr. Baruch. "The power under that system was the greatest that ever was given any department of government. Yet, although I was the Court of Appeals when the officials of the Governments and the Priorities Board could not agree, only two cases were ever brought to me to settle, and even in these instances both sides agreed after they had stated the facts. The industries were mobilized by committees picked from the experts in each. How they all worked is shown by the fact that there has been no criticism of any of these men for the part they performed in winning the war.

"We did not find a slacker in a single American industry; each gave of its best at all times. The choice was unanimous for service instead of for profit.

Controlled 357 Industries.

"There was no other way we could get results except by the priority system, and I ask whether any one can suggest another, as we may have to go all over this ground some other day. You must remember that at the close of the war the War Industries Board was practically in control of 357 industries, ranging from the greatest to the smallest, and not one of them could get a single dollar in money or a single barrel of cement unless we were convinced that it was needed to win the war. And it was the neighbors of the men who wanted materials who passed on the necessity for its use, as we gave the initial power to the local councils of national defense."

When Mr. Baruch declared that excessive profits were kept down "when we compelled those making them to return 80 per cent. to the treasury," he was rebuked by Chairman Graham and Representative Jeffries, who demanded what he had to do with it.

"Excuse me," responded the witness; "I will amend that by saying that Congress penalized excessive profits 80 per cent. by law."

In defending the fixing of prices Mr. Baruch said:

"If we had not fixed prices as we did they would have only been limited, especially in the steel industry, by the shame of the producers themselves. We could not afford to have let the steel interests fatten on the blood of the country. We fixed prices. We made them as low as we could, taking into consideration all factors of the case, and I think we did all that men could do to get a result that would be satisfactory to every one."

Mr. Baruch said that he had discussed preparedness with President Wilson in the early days of the European war. At that time, he said, he had about retired from business and intended to "retire to write and read and rest." He said that among his activities had been the purchase of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, the Shelby Smelter and the Tacoma Smelter, as well as several copper companies and a rubber corporation at Torreon, Mexico.

"From the moment the European war broke out I was convinced that the United States would be drawn into it," he said. "So strongly did I feel about the matter that I was one of the early advocates of general military preparedness, and I was one of the original supporters of General Wood when he started his Plattsburg training plan. Following a trip through the country, in which I saw how terribly unprepared we were, I asked for an appointment with President Wilson, the first time I had seen him since he was elected the first time. I told the President that we should take steps to mobilize the country's industries. The President listened very graciously to what I had to say. Later I talked with Secretary Baker regarding legislation authorizing the Council of National Defense, then before Congress."

Asked who had first suggested that Herbert Hoover be named as Food Controller, Mr. Baruch caused both Republicans and Democrats on the committee to laugh when he replied:

"It could not say any more than I can say who it was that first named him as a Presidential candidate in either party."

ASKS CONGRESS INQUIRY INTO COTTON GOODS RISE

Tilson Tells House Committee Mill Owners Are Profiteers of the Worst Sort.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—An inquiry into the reasons for the enormous advances in the price of cotton goods would be conducted by the Federal Trade Commission under a resolution ordered favorably reported today by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Representative Tilson, Republican, of Connecticut, author of the resolution, told the committee the cotton goods manufacturers were "profiteers of the worst sort." He said prices had advanced 600 per cent. since 1914, although costs of raw cotton and mill labor had not advanced more than 15 per cent. each during that time.

Both New England and Southern mills have reaped big profits, he said, quoting from prospectuses of financial institutions promoting sale of cotton mill stocks, Southern press comment and a summary of market prices for the last several years.

Mr. Tilson said he had been authoritatively advised that one spinner in one month made a profit of $55,000 on a capitalization of $200,000. He also declared that a Richmond, Va., trust company had issued a prospectus for sale of stock of a North Carolina mill in which it was stated that the average annual net earnings of the plant were $287,000 and promised on present market conditions to be more than $1,000,000 this year.

"That North Carolina mill," declared Mr. Tilson, "was organized in 1901 with a capital of $25,000 and today its capital is $1,500,000."

Mr. Tilson said he doubted that Congress could enact legislation to meet the situation, but that publication of the results of the commission's investigation might have a wholesome effect.

Chairman Murdock of the commission informed the committee that the resolution would require an inquiry into the whole cotton industry generally, but Mr. Tilson urged that it be limited to a narrow field so as to produce quick action in calling conditions to the public attention.

LADY ASTOR SUPPORTS LABOR'S SUFFRAGE BILL

Speaks in Commons for Equality Measure, Which Passes Its Second Reading.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Labor Party's bill extending the franchise to women on exactly the same terms as applied to [illegible] passed through the second reading of the House of Commons unanimously today. This means that it will go to committee for possible amendments and again come before the House.

The bill provides that the present voting age for women—30 years—be lowered to 21, making it the same as the men's voting age. This would add 5,000,000 voters to the register.

Christopher Addison in his speech on the subject asserted that adoption of the bill would make the total of women voters over 13,000,000, or half a million more women voters than men voters.

Lady Astor made her second speech of the week. She announced herself in favor of the bill, declaring that it was not for the sake of the women that she wanted the bill, but for the sake of the country.

LONDON, Saturday, Feb. 28.—Lady Astor's second Parliamentary speech was perhaps not so successful as her first effort, since it was not premeditated. But she spoke, as she put it, out of gratitude to the men who had spoken in support of the extension of women's franchise, and her frankness and sense of humor were as piquantly combined as they were earlier in the week.

She congratulated Mr. Murray on his courage "in saying what other members were thinking" and said other notable things such, as "A woman of 21 or even of 18 is far older and wiser than a man of 25." "People who don't want women in public life are too late."

To a member who referred to the Plymouth bye-election as a circus Lady Astor retorted:

"Well, all I can tell him is that the lady who was elected was not the clown."

"I am so fond of men," she confessed with a merry smile, "I love them. That is why I want more women to have the vote. Men need the assistance of women."

These sentiments the male members applauded.

"There is no reason to fear us," she assured them. "We are reasonable, and people who do fear us—I don't know where they get it from."

WILL ADD TO RAIL SERVICE.

Jersey Central to Put On More Philadelphia Trains on Monday.

Announcement was made yesterday by the Central Railroad of New Jersey of an improvement in its express train service between New York and Philadelphia, effective on Monday, March 1, the date of the return of the railroads to private operation. After that date express trains will leave the Liberty Street Station each weekday at 7 A. M., 8 A. M., 10 A. M., 12 noon, 2 P. M., 4 P. M., 5 P. M., 6 P. M., 10 P. M. and 12:15 midnight. The trains leaving at 7 A. M., 10 A. M. and 5 P. M. are additions to the schedule.

Three additional trains will run from Philadelphia to New York. The improvement was said to be the first step toward the resumption of an hourly service between New York and Philadelphia, which was cut down two-thirds during Government operation.

The announcement of additional trains was taken as an indication of the intention of the Jersey Central to attempt to get back the passenger traffic that was diverted from it when the railroad passed under Federal control.

At the offices of the New York Central it was said that its service, both through and suburban, had been practically restored to pre-war basis. The same statement was made by the Pennsylvania, Long Island and New Haven roads.

Roads such as the Lackawanna, Erie and Lehigh Valley, which carry many commuters, were said to be giving practically normal suburban service and to have no intention of increasing their through service at present.

TESTIMONY CLOSED AT SOCIALIST TRIAL

Report of Committee to Assembly Not Expected for Three Weeks.

BALLOT FRAUDS ALLEGED

Assemblyman Claessens Testifies Gunmen Refused to Allow Count—Says Policeman Saved Him.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—The taking of testimony concerning the five suspended Socialist Assemblymen before the Assembly Judiciary Committee closed early this evening. Next week will be devoted to oral argument of counsel for both sides and another week to consideration of the evidence by the committee. The prospect is that it will be at least three weeks before the question of whether the five Socialists, or any of their number, shall be permitted to retain their seats or be expelled goes to the Assembly for determination.

The cross-examination of Assemblyman Claessens by ex-Senator Elon R. Brown regarding an inflammatory speech he made last year at a celebration of the second anniversary of the Soviet revolution in Russia furnished the chief interest of the day's proceedings.

The speech, read into the record early in the proceedings, bristled with invective against the Government, the courts and the American people. Claessens admitted that he regretted a good many of his utterances, and explained they were due to the impression that he had been cheated out of his election by Republican and Democratic members of the election boards in his district.

Mr. Claessens said he had been brought to this country by his parents from Switzerland while an infant; that he had been forced to make his own living at the early age of 8, and had risen from extreme poverty to his present position. He obtained his education in a parochial school, Cooper Union and the Rand School of Social Science.

Alleges Election Frauds.

The record of the Assembly debate last year on the Federal Prohibition Amendment was put in evidence and Mr. Claessens instructed to read extracts from a speech made by Assemblyman Martin McCue, a Tammany member, who recently assailed Charles E. Hughes for his support of the Bar Association resolution condemning the suspension of the Socialists.

Mr. McCue referred to the fact that the amendment had been adopted while the young men of the country were fighting for democracy across the ocean and wound up by saying:

"Sincerely do I hope, looking up to my God tonight, that they will have enough ammunition left when they come back to use on the hypocrites and bigots and enemies of democracy who have stolen democracy while they were over there."

Claessens testified that he had expressed regret at what McCue had said, and had in fact denounced it as an attempt to incite to riot, and had added:

"That is not the right way to progress. I believe in an expression of the will of the people, and if prohibition turns out to be wrong there will be one force to change it, not bullets, but education."

Among expressions in his speech at the Soviet Russia celebration that Mr. Claessens was asked to explain was a reference to "average thick-headed Americans," to the United States as "the United States of thieves," and to Judges in New York as "creatures of crooks."

"It is absolutely impossible to understand the extravagant statements I made unless you know the conditions that provoke them," said the Assemblyman.

"I received my first series of shocks as a watcher for the Socialist party in 1916 when Mr. Hillquit was a candidate for Congress and I saw the election stolen from him. I went through the same experience in 1918. But of all my experiences the worst was in my own district last year. I am ashamed to admit that I represent the most corrupt, politically speaking, district in the entire State."

In one district where there were 360 enrolled Socialists the top of the Socialist ticket got 280 votes in the count, he said. Eight or ten gun men traveled in an auto from polling place to polling place, and "supervised" the count. In one place the head of the gang asked Claessens if he would be satisfied with 270 votes, and when he replied that he wanted all that had been cast for him, was told that he would get just 270, there being no count of the ballots. A Police Inspector to whom he complained said he could do nothing for him.

"One of the ward heelers told me that Oppenheim, the Republican leader, gave instructions to his men to go the limit."

The political organizations of the Republican party in particular and the Democratic party in general were corrupt, said the witness. He was declared a winner by forty-nine votes through the mere accident that he found a policeman in the last election district he visited.

When he got there the returns showed that his opponent was 170 votes ahead. A policeman, who said he would see to it there was an honest count, stood over the inspectors with a club while they did their work. The result was 280 votes credited to Claessens and 78 for his opponents. Claessens declared an honest count would have shown him elected by at least 1,500 majority.

"I made this speech at the time when I had reached the lowest depths of abhorrence and disgust with the whole political machinery," he exclaimed.

The Assemblyman said he made at least 2,400 speeches, and that policemen and agents of the Department of Justice had attended practically all the meetings he addressed, yet he had never been arrested.

When Assemblyman Solomon was asked on cross-examination to state his attitude toward the war he said:

"I was against it. I did not ask anybody to enlist. I did not ask anybody to buy Liberty bonds. I did not advise anybody, directly or indirectly, to violate the law. I complied with it myself in every respect and was exempted because I had a wife and two children. If I had been called I would have gone, not willingly, but with a heavy heart."

Samuel Orr and Samuel A. DeWitt, two of the Socialist Assemblymen, were not called as witnesses, there being nothing on the record implicating them personally in utterances involving disloyalty or sedition.

The hearing has been adjourned until next Wednesday.

ANOTHER BLIZZARD UPSTATE

Central and Northern New York Traffic Tied Up by Storm.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Central and Northern New York is again stormbound tonight as the result of a blizzard which raged continuously for the last twenty-four hours. Steam and electric railroads, which had only succeeded in moving traffic a few days ago after being tied up for about a week, were again paralyzed, country roads were rendered impassable all through the district, and serious hardship was suffered in many places by the inability of grocers and milkmen to make deliveries.

Three interurban lines operating near this city, the Syracuse and Auburn, the Auburn and Syracuse and the Auburn and Northern, were tied up by the storm. Passenger and freight trains on the main lines of the steam railroads were running many hours behind schedule, while the branch roads were almost completely blockaded. The Auburn branch and the routes to Oswego and Watertown on the New York Central lines were badly blocked, and the Chenango branch on the West Shore route was tied up. These blockades necessitated the annulling of several milk trains.

Industrial plants in cities and towns throughout the storm area suffered by delays in freight and coal shipments.

SOCIALISTS CLAIM ALDERMANIC SEATS

Further Gain in Recount of Vote Held to Indicate Election of Lee and Cassidy.

ATTORNEY CHARGES FRAUD

President Voorhis of Board of Elections Says Courts Must Decide the Contest.

As a result of a steady gain in the count of votes cast at the recent election, and which are being recounted by the Board of Election officials under a Supreme Court order, Socialist leaders in the city yesterday claimed the election of Algernon Lee in the Fighth Aldermanic District and Edward F. Cassidy in the Twentieth District. Lee was defeated on the face of the election returns by Moritz Graubard, candidate of both Republicans and Democrats, by a plurality of 238. Cassidy was defeated by a plurality of 37, his successful opponent being Timothy P. Sullivan.

Frederick Umhey, who is representing the Socialists at the examination of the ballots, declared that Lee had made a further gain yesterday of 200 votes, making his total gain 621 votes. Mr. Umhey said that in one district alone a difference of 323 votes in favor of Lee was discovered and 81 votes in another district. He said he believed that these discrepancies showed that actual fraud had been committed.

In the Twentieth District Cassidy made a gain yesterday of 80 votes, bringing his total gain to date to 140 votes. The largest overturn of votes in this district, Mr. Umhey said, was 74 votes in one election district, and he drew the conclusion that this also showed fraud.

The Socialist lawyer said that the recount would probably be finished on Monday, when he would petition the Board of Aldermen for an examination of the ballots. This is necessary, he said, under the city charter, which provides that the Board of Aldermen shall be the judge of its own members. The present examination, he said, was only preliminary to the application to the Board of Aldermen and was resorted to solely for the purpose of establishing a basis on which the application may be made.

John R. Voorhis, President of the Board of Elections, said the board would make no recommendation regardless of the result, and contended that it would be necessary for the interested parties to make an application to the Supreme Court for another order for a recount if the examination disclosed that errors or fraud had been committed.

Mr. Umhey declared Commissioner Voorhis mistaken as to the necessity for an application for a recount. He said the Board of Aldermen had full power to act on the results of the present examination and order a re-examination. If any evidences of fraud or errors were then found, he said, it might oust the incumbents and declare the Socialist candidates elected.

HARBOR STRIKE AVERTED.

Boat Workers to Accept Owners' Offer If They Can't Get More.

A strike of engineers, masters and pilots of harbor boats owned by the New York Boat Owners' Association was averted last night when the Marine Workers' Affiliation voted to empower a committee to accept the owners' offer of a flat $15 a month increase with a ten-hour day and time and a half for overtime. The committee, headed by Thomas B. Healey, Business Manager of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, was instructed to get more, if possible, otherwise to accept the offer.

The new schedule proposed by the workers called for an increase of approximately 70 per cent. in wages with an eight-hour day and double time for overtime.

FRENCH STRIKERS CALLED INTO ARMY

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

in the Paris parks last night, unable to get home and unable to find lodgings.

The few trains run were mobbed at the stations and troops had to be used to keep order. The owners of automobiles are reaping a harvest running special services.

Yesterday the Government announced that all railroad workers belonging to three army classes liable to military service would be called into the army, but this general order has not been put into effect, and from that circumstance there is much criticism of the Government today. It is reported that Premier Millerand will call into the army the men of the State and east lines tomorrow. That is the method by which Premier Briand broke the strike of 1910.

Four-Fifths of Paris Food Cut Off.

The French Government operates only one line of the six French railroad systems, the State line. The strike leaders, who have just obtained a large salary increase, demand that the Government take over all the systems. Four days ago the Government stated that it could take no such step at this time, and from that moment the strike movement was set on foot.

Paris is cut off from all her ports. Not only that, but Paris is cut off from four-fifths of her food supplies by railroad. This gives an idea of the seriousness of the situation from the Paris point of view.

It is reported tonight that the Government intends to arrest the strike leaders on the charge that their efforts constitute a danger to the life of the country. This would undoubtedly precipitate a strained situation. On the other hand, the Government is being flooded with appeals, not only from Paris, but from all parts of France, to do something quickly to save the cities from their dangerous plight.

Late today the Government served formal notice on the employes of the State road to return to work at once. This is believed to presage an order declaring them mobilized into the army.

This afternoon the French Federation of Labor issued a statement denying all responsibility for the railroad strike. This statement, which is in the nature of an appeal to the strikers, said: "At the hour when France is calling for a new loan, an attempt is made to halt the feeding of the country, to take advantage of the national misery and to reach their ends by anarchy. Such a strike will succeed only in provoking public indignation. We must finish with those who, in peace as in war, conspire against France. It is a crime of high social treason."

The federation is seeking by all efforts to effect arbitration of the strike. The Government agrees to arbitrate the question of discipline on the Paris, Lyons & Mediterranean Railroad, which the men used as an excuse for striking, but the strikers refuse to arbitrate unless it includes the question of nationalization of the railroads.

In the meanwhile the Government is trying to keep the north system and the Orleans men from striking, while planning to restore a partial service under military control on the lines tied up today.

The newspapers this afternoon all carry notices informing suburbanites that no trains will run for them tonight, thus striving to avoid the painful scenes of last night, when thousands waited vainly for hours in the rain for trains home.

There was hope last night that the strike would be confined to the Paris, Lyons & Mediterranean, and the State line, but early this morning the men on the east system went out in sympathy with the P., L. & M. strikers. The Railroad Workers' Syndicate ordered their men out on the north and Orleans systems, but they refused to obey in any appreciable numbers.

Many Americans Stranded.

Many thousand Americans and other foreigners are stranded on the Riviera and on the Switzerland routes. Thus the fate of the traditional figure who has lost his all at Monte Carlo except his ticket home becomes really tragic when his ticket is no good at all.

It is announced that the Paris public markets will be supplied by Government motor trucks.

The Government expects to operate a limited number of food trains tomorrow under military guard. Heavy forces are kept about all stations and along the roads to prevent any disorders.

Newspapers tonight declare that the nature of the strike is now apparent. It is a fight for nationalization of the railroads, they say. The Government of the country being against nationalization, the editors say that the strike is therefore a strike against the Government and consequently a strike against the public.

The Journal des Debats says: "The revolutionary character of the movement is more and more apparent. Between the pretext of the strike and its importance the disproportion is striking. It is not a question of salary, it is not a question of work, but only a question of political principle.

"All public opinion has understood what is at stake. The Government which weakens in such circumstances will strengthen the extremists. We can repose all confidence in M. Millerand, who during the strike of 1910, when M. Briand was Premier, showed that he had the spirit to meet the situation. What was true then is true now. The general situation of the world, the necessity for immense reconstruction work and the threat of Russian Bolshevism and German propaganda all demand resolute attitude and energetic measures.

"It is the will of the whole nation which rejects this dictation of the Soviets."

La Liberté says the mass of workers do not wish to ruin their country, but are being led astray by radical chiefs. "The leaders of the present strike do not side with their revolutionary aims. While they tell their followers they are safeguarding their trade union liberties, they put forward the impossible idea of a Third International."

The Intransigeant declares: "We said yesterday that this strike would not succeed. No revolutionary strike can succeed in France, because we are not ripe for such an outcome, because there is in the railway companies, in Parliament and in the Government a firm determination to better social conditions as much as possible. But those who to save sick France seek to drown it in blood are dangerous fools who ought to be locked up."

Gustav Herve says the strike will make Americans believe that France is on the edge of another revolution and will ruin the country's credit. He says: "If in such an hour, after the increases of salary which have been granted, the railway men allow themselves to be dragged into a strike by a handful of Bolsheviki, we have no more use for the patriotism of the railroad workers."

Even Humanité, the radical organ, calls on the strikers to arbitrate.

Three Hundred Employes Dismissed

PARIS, Feb. 27, (Associated Press).—In a statement issued today the General Secretary of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Company says:

"News of the mobilization of three classes of railroad employes has already produced some effect. Many men returned to work this morning before the summons to military duty reached them. Four hundred and thirty men resumed work at Avignon alone."

It is announced that nearly three hundred employes have been definitely dismissed for striking after being warned that abandonment of their posts would result in dismissal.

Restrictions on rstaurants were decided upon this morning at the session of the Cabinet.

Menus must not comprise more than two courses, one being meat, and no milk will be served in restaurants after 9 o'clock in the morning.

If the situation is unimproved two meatless days per week will be ordered.

The decree affecting restaurants states that at the present only establishments open to the public will be affected, but requests families to observe the same rule in the general interest of the country. The restrictions apply to clubs, boarding houses and hotels.

It is pointed out by the decree that strictest economy in foodstuffs must be practiced in order to husband the resources and avoid increased prices.

NEW REPUBLICAN TANGLE IN DAKOTA

State Committee Indorses Johnson, Denouncing Action of Minority a Week Ago.

BISMARCK, N. D., Feb. 27.—Resolutions requesting all prospective candidates for the Presidency to file for the primary election in North Dakota March 16 and indorsing the candidacy of Senator Johnson of California were adopted here today at a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee, called by Chairman Lemke of Fargo.

In adopting the resolutions the committeemen denounced the action taken by a convention of Republicans on Feb. 17 in urging Presidential candidates not to file petitions for the primary in this State. The Feb. 17 meeting was called by six members of the State Central Committee opposed to the Non-Partisan League, who did not attend today's gathering.

The meeting today indorsed a ticket for the March primary, including candidates for National Committeemen, Presidential Electors and National Convention delegates. The list is identical with the one reported from a meeting of 100 "Progressive Republicans" at Hillsboro Feb. 20.

NIGHT COURT SHUT TO GIRLS

Vassar Pupils Fail to Get District Attorney Swann's Approval.

Seven Vassar pupils came to this city last Saturday, it was learned yesterday, to see the Night Court, but returned because of District Attorney Swann's refusal to aid them.

The District Attorney said that last Friday or Saturday a man, describing himself as a representative of Vassar College, called upon him and asked permission to take a party of Vassar girls to the Night Court. Mr. Swann said he informed the visitor that he would not encourage girls of that impressionable age going into the atmosphere of a night court, but would welcome them to the court where he was prosecutor.

"That same day John O. Clark, a lawyer of 149 Broadway," said Mr. Swann, "called me up and wanted to have a professor and fifteen girls, Vassar students, go to the Night Court."

This Mr. Clark denied last night.

"I called Mr. Swann to find out the location of the Night Court," said Mr. Clark. "I am not connected with Vassar and I know nothing of the matter. Mr. Swann butted in very offensively with something about these Vassar girls."

According to Mr. Swann, he informed the lawyer of the "dreadful things" the girls would hear in the Night Court, but Mr. Clark, according to the District Attorney, said he knew about that, but that it was a part of the girls' training and not a question for the District Attorney to decide, as that had already been passed upon. This was also denied by Mr. Clark.

DAKOTA'S VARIED POLITICS.

More Kinds Than in Rest of Country, Senator Johnson Says.

BISMARCK, N. D., Feb. 27.—The Americanism he believes in would hold this republic inviolate against the wiles of European and Asiatic diplomacy, said Senator Johnson of California, speaking here tonight in behalf of his Presidential campaign.

Senator Johnson touched only indirectly on the State political situation.

"In your State I have found more kinds of politics expressed by more kinds of people than I have found in the rest of the nation," he said.

Bolshevist Leaders in Berlin.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Many foreign Bolshevist leaders have arrived in Berlin during the last few days, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from the German capital. The best known of the leaders is the Hungarian, Alexander Garbai, whose visit, the dispatch says, is believed to be connected with the establishment of an international Bolshevist organization with headquarters in Berlin.

26 STATES TO FIGHT RHODE ISLAND SUIT

Gov. Milliken of Maine Lines Them Up for the Prohibition Legal Battle.

HUGHES TO BE COUNSEL

Permission Will Be Asked to Intervene in the Supreme Court Action Now Pending.

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 27.—A list of twenty-six States that will co-operate in opposing the action of Rhode Island in seeking to have the national prohibition amendment declared unconstitutional was announced today by Governor Milliken.

These States are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming.

In addition, Governor Milliken said that he had been in touch with a number of other States which were favorable to contesting the Rhode Island action, but that he had not yet been given final authorization by those States.

The Governor left today for a final conference with Charles E. Hughes in New York regarding the joint action of the individual States. Through Judge Hughes as general counsel permission will be asked in a few days to intervene in the action now pending in the Federal Supreme Court.

START NATIONWIDE FIGHT FOR EDWARDS

Illinois Wets Indorse New Jersey Governor and Declare War on Drys in Both Parties.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—With an indorsement of Governor Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey for the Democratic nomination for President, this city took the lead tonight in an organized nationwide fight in the open against the Prohibition Amendment to the Federal Constitution. The platform is for a National Administration that will agree to a "light wine and beer" amendment to the present enforcement act and a Congress that will be "damp" in enforcing the present Federal restrictions.

Fifty representatives of Chicago organizations took the formal action that, they claim, puts the liquor proposition directly into the 1920 Presidential and Congressional campaigns.

It was determined that petitions for the nomination of Governor Edwards be placed in circulation tomorrow morning in Chicago for the Democratic Statewide primary of April 13.

All candidates for delegates to both the Democratic and Republican National Conventions in the primary will be confronted with the proposal, "Are you wet or dry?"

All candidates for Congress in Illinois, regardless of party, will be asked to take a direct stand on the proposal: "Are you in favor of a light wine and beer amendment to the present Prohibition Enforcement act?"

Informally, the conference dared William Jennings Bryan to enter the Illinois Democratic primary as a candidate against Governor Edwards.

Alderman Anton J. Cermak, the active political head of the United Societies, outlined the policy agreed to as follows:

"The crisis has arrived. The wets hesitate no longer. Taking Mr. Bryan at his own word in having read Governor Edwards out of the Democratic Party, we defy him to enter the Illinois direct primary of the Democratic Party on April 13. We propose to nominate Governor Edwards at San Francisco, Mr. Bryan to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Not only that. This is a definite unit of a nationwide campaign that is being initiated tonight. It will be followed up logically in each State in the Union. We propose to elect National Convention delegates, Democratic and Republican, who are wets in principle. We will concentrate upon the nomination and election of members of Congress next November who will favor a light wines and beer amendment to the Prohibition Enforcement act. Within the week similar action will be taken by responsible organizations throughout the nation.

"I prophesy that the greatest vote ever delivered to a Presidential candidate in Illinois will be cast for Governor Edwards on April 13."

The conference that decided the policy of the Illinois wets included representatives of the Manufacturers' and Dealers' Association, the Chicago Hotel Men's Association, the Chicago Restaurant Association, the Liberty League, the United Societies for Local Self-Government and various business men's associations.

THINK DRY PLANK UNWISE.

United States Senators Condemn Act of New York Democrats.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—If the Democrats of New York State hope to revive prohibition as a national issue in the 1920 campaign, they will be disappointed, in the opinion of most members of the Senate who today discussed the adoption of an anti-dry plank by the Empire State Democrats in their unofficial convention at Albany.

Though there is a great reaction against the enforcement of prohibition in many places, Senators said that this reaction is against the enforcement measures adopted, and not against prohibition itself. Those who opposed the saloon are as much opposed to it as ever, Senators declared, but they are also opposed to interference with their right to have in their homes small quantities of liquor or wine.

Much correspondence is passing between Senators and their constituents on the subject of prohibition. This has shown Senators, they said, that the big cities are hotbeds of opposition to the rigid enforcement of prohibition, and that in some States where there are no large centres of population, notably in Iowa, there is an almost Statewide reaction against the results of prohibition.

Senators predicted that William Jennings Bryan, with the help of Southern Democrats, would squelch all efforts to put the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco on record in the same manner as that of the New York State convention.

Senator King of Utah, who voted against the constitutional amendment, voiced the sentiments expressed by other Senators, both dry and wet, when he said:

"The action of the New York Democrats was very ill-advised and unwise. Though the Eighteenth Amendment is a flagrant violation of States' rights, yet it is now in force and the question cannot be made an issue in this campaign."

Porto Rico Has 1,295,826 Population

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 27.—The total population of Porto Rico, as shown by the recent census, is 1,295,826, it was announced this afternoon. This is an increase of 177,814, or 15.9 per cent. since the last census.

WILLIAMS MAN HURT IN MOUNTAIN DESCENT

Henry Platt of Chicago May Have Fractured Skull—Jersey Man Suffers from Exposure.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Feb. 27.—Three Williams College undergraduates underwent a trying experience Thursday night and Friday morning as a result of which Henry R. Platt of Chicago is in the Williams College Infirmary with what is thought to be a fracture of the base of the skull, and Robert Carey of Jersey City is suffering from exposure in the severe cold during the thirty-six hours spent in the open.

The party, which was composed of Platt, Carey and Caswell M. Smith of 87 Park Avenue, New York City, left Williamstown Thursday afternoon. They intended to spend the night in the cabin on the summit of Mount Greylock. The ski trip up Greylock was accomplished under difficulty because of the extreme cold. Late in the afternoon Carey complained of the cold, and it was discovered that both ears, seven toes and eight of his fingers were frozen. He was assisted to the cabin, where a fire was built and the men arranged to spend the night. Before midnight the thermometer which one of the party carried registered 25 degrees below zero. The wind was blowing so hard that it was almost impossible to stand up against it.

At 8:30 on Friday morning the party started to return down the mountain by way of the Hopper trail, a narrow footpath on the western slope, winding about a steep valley. Almost the entire descent is made through woods. the trail is practically five miles long, without a break in the descent.

Smith and Carey lost sight of Platt, who was in the lead, for a time. About two and a half miles from the foot of the mountain trail Smith and Carey came upon the body of their comrade. He had made the descent with such speed that he was thrown off the trail by a bump in the path and had crashed head foremost into a tree. Though not unconscious, he was in a very dazed condition. Over his left eye was a long gash, bleeding freely.

Carey started for a doctor. When he reached the first farmhouse, a trip of two and a half miles, he was so worn out with the fatigue and suffering of the previous day that he could go no further. Dr. Sinclair of Williamstown was summoned by telephone and reached the farmhouse three hours later.

In the meantime Smith rendered first aid to Platt and carried him to the farmhouse. Platt weighs about 180 pounds, while Smith is small and light. When Dr. Sinclair arrived the injured man was brought to the college infirmary.

Platt completed his degree at Williams last semester, but has remained in Williamstown. Smith and Carey are members of the class of 1920.

PROFESSORS FOR HOOVER.

Poll Indicates Food Administrator Is Favored for President.

That colleges are in favor of the selection of Herbert C. Hoover as the candidate for President on the Republican ticket was indicated yesterday, when a college professor in New York made public the result of a poll he had been making among Republican college professors all over the United States. The professor did not wish to identify himself at this time, but he admitted he was a supporter of Major General Leonard Wood and hoped to prove that the General was the favorite of all the college professors.

The professor sent out printed cards containing the names of all the Republicans who have been mentioned as Presidential possibilities. Mr. Hoover's name was not on the list, he being considered a Democrat, but a majority of professors whose replies have been received took the trouble to write in Mr. Hoover's name as their first choice for the Republican nomination. Only Eastern colleges have been heard from, but replies are being received every day. The result of the poll to date shows: Hoover, 94; Wood, 83; Lowden, 29; Butler, 24; Johnson, 16; Harding, 1; Poindexter, 0. In all 292 replies have been received, but many wrote that they had no choice for President, or that they were Democrats.

In a summary of polls in eighteen widely scattered cities in ten States, Major Gen. Wood was far ahead of every other candidate for the Presidential nomination, it was declared yesterday at the Wood campaign headquarters. Of 11,000 votes cast in the various polls by both Republican and Democratic newspapers, it was said, General Wood had nearly half of all the votes, with a total of 4,738. Nearest to him is Senator Hiram Johnson with about one-fourth as many supporters, 1,381 in all. President Wilson is third with 1,102, Governor Coolidge fourth with 673, and Governor Lowden trailing with an even 600. The figures also include those of Leslie's Weekly. General Wood took first place in every poll except Milwaukee, where Herbert C. Hoover is ahead by four votes.

HOTEL ROBBERS CONVICTED

Spanish Sailors Brought to Trial After Feigning Illness.

Ramon Rodriguez and Adriano A. Herra, Spanish sailors, who attacked guests at the Knickerbocker Hotel on Dec. 23, and were caught in flight with $30,000 in jewelry and cash, were placed on trial by Judge McIntyre of General Sessions yesterday, when he heard that both prisoners, removed to Bellevue from the Tombs at their own request, were only feigning illness. The prisoners pleaded guilty to burglary in the first degree, as second offenders. Each is liable to a life sentence. They will be sentenced next Wednesday.

Rodriguez pretended he had mastoiditis. His trial was held up while he was under observation at Bellevue. Then Herra complained of influenza. He also went from the Tombs to Bellevue. Physicians at the hospital informed Judge McIntyre that both men were feigning illness, and that it was suspected to be a ruse in a scheme to escape. Rodriguez, 23, said he lived at 334 West Twenty-ninth Street, and had served a term in the Elmira Reformatory on a conviction of robbery in Brooklyn under the name of Garcia. Herra, 22, of 212 East 106th Street, admitted he had served a sentence in the New Jersey State Prison for burglary in Hoboken.

WATCH JERSEY'S BEER LAW.

Federal Authorities Decide on Action, to be Announced Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue have reached a decision as to their course of action with respect to the proposed legislation in New Jersey permitting the sale of beer containing 3½ per cent. alcohol.

The whole question, however, has been laid before Secretary Houston, and public announcement, it was understood, will be made tomorrow.

Prohibition enforcement and Revenue Bureau officials conferred at length during the day on the situation. Department of Justice officials also were consulted but, pending a review of the case by Mr. Houston, information as to the contemplated action was refused.

French Canard About Mrs. Wilson.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The length to which some of the French newspapers carry their anti-American propaganda is illustrated by an article in the Royalist Action Francaise, which declares that the wife of President Wilson is a sister of President Massaryk of the Czechoslovak Republic. This, it says, explains why Washington has adopted such a firm attitude in certain pending European questions.

FINDS MOTHER DEAD; SHEET ABOUT NECK

Mrs. Rosa Haiblum Commits Suicide at the Hotel Hamilton While Despondent.

SON REFUSES INFORMATION

No Notification Sent to the Police—Physician Reports Case to Medical Examiner.

When Leon N. Haiblum returned to his apartment at the Hotel Hamilton, at 141 West Seventy-third Street, at 7 o'clock last night, after finishing his day's work at his law office at 60 Wall Street, he found his mother, Mrs. Rosa Haiblum, on the floor of her bedroom with a sheet tied tightly around her neck.

He called the managers of the hotel, who summoned Dr. James F. Power of 137 West Seventy-third Street, who said that Mrs. Haiblum had been dead for several hours, and that his theory was that she had committed suicide. He reported to the office of the Medical Examiner that the case was plainly suicide.

Three hours later the police of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station were notified indirectly of the death, and patrolmen and detectives were sent to investigate. Their first report to the station was that Mrs. Haiblum had committed suicide, apparently despondent because of the death of her husband, A. Haiblum, a retired business man, who died a few weeks ago.

The woman's son refused to give information about the case, but said he would tell the police anything they wanted to know and that they might give that information to the public if they so desired. The managers of the hotel said they knew little about Mrs. Haiblum because she had moved in only a few days before from Bretton Hall, at Eighty-sixth Street and Broadway. They said employes had reported to them that Mrs. Haiblum appeared depressed and despondent and spoke frequently of the death of her husband.

Instructions to the detectives assigned to the case were that they should find out why no report of the suicide had been made to the West Sixty-eighth Street Station as soon as it was discovered. They said their first information had come to them through a newspaper reporter who had received a report from the office of the Medical Examiner.

At Bretton Hall it was said last night that Mrs. Haiblum had registered there from Stapleton, Staten Island, the address given in the city directory as the home of her son, and that she had remained only a week. The managers said they knew nothing about the Haiblums.

The first report of the police was that Mrs. Haiblum apparently had committed suicide by tying a sheet tightly around her neck and awaiting strangulation. Some of the detectives assigned to the case were inclined to doubt that Mrs. Haiblum, who was 62 years old, would have had the courage or strength to kill herself in that way and they said there was no evidence to show that she hanged herself to the chandelier or the door leading to the bathroom.

In searching the apartment the detectives found a note written by Mrs. Haiblum to her son. This told of her intention and asked him not to grieve for her. When physicians from the office of the Medical Examiner told the detectives that it would have been possible for Mrs. Haiblum to strangle herself by knotting the sheet around her neck a report was made to the West Sixty-eighth Street Station that the case was suicide. The note was not taken by the police.

The managers of the hotel said they were not aware that a report had not been made to the police, and added that it was their impression that it would be sufficient for Dr. Power to notify the Medical Examiner.

INSURE RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

A Council, Equally Representing North and South, Would Co-ordinate Work of Legislatures.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Government tonight made public the text of its Irish Home Rule bill, introduced in the House of Commons on Wednesday, and passed through its first reading by title.

The measure follows closely the outline given to the House by Premier Lloyd George in December last. By its provisions two legislatures would be set up, one for the North of Ireland and the other for the South of Ireland, the Northern Legislature to consist of 52 members and the Southern of 128 members. The representation in the Imperial Parliament would be 12 for North Ireland and 30 for South Ireland, necessitating the reapportionment of Ireland, which is provided for in the bill.

The Northern area would be composed of the Counties of Antrim, Armagh, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry and Tyrone, and the boroughs of Belfast and Londonderry.

A "Council for Ireland," composed of 40 members, half of whom would be selected by each of the Parliaments, is also provided for in the bill.

The legislative powers of the Council would be only those granted it by the two legislatures, but the framers of the bill hope it will form a nucleus around which would be built one Parliament for the whole of Ireland. Almost unlimited executive, legislative and judicial powers are provided for such a united Parliament, but the powers to be conferred on the separate legislatures would be considerably curtailed. Responsibility for organizing the united Parliament and the power to create it is left entirely with the two legislatures. The bill provides that the united Parliament, if formed, would control the customs and excise.

At the outset, according to the bill, the legislatures would have full control of education, local government, the land policy, agriculture, roads and bridges, transportation, old age pensions, insurance, municipal affairs, housing, hospitals and licenses. All the judicial offices would be controlled by them, each body controlling the officers in its own district, but there would be a court of appeal for the whole of Ireland, presided over by the Lord Chancellor.

Provides Religious Freedom.

What the Government considers one of the chief safeguards in drafting the powers of the legislatures is a provision specifically prohibiting either body from establishing any particular religious creed or penalizing any one for belonging to or not belonging to any religious denomination.

It is provided in the bill that the Imperial Parliament control the higher judiciary officers until such time as the two legislatures might be agreed on the method of appointing them. The Imperial Parliament would also control the Royal Irish Constabulary and the Metropolitan Police of Dublin for three years, if a united Parliament is not organized by that time.

Other powers reserved to the Imperial Parliament embrace the Crown, peace and war, foreign affairs, army and navy, coinage, defense, treason, trade outside Ireland, Post Office, navigation, including merchant shipping, wireless and cables, collection of income and excess profit taxes and customs and excise.

The two legislatures would be given the immediate right to collect certain taxes, including death duties, stamp taxes, entertainment taxes, license fees and such others of a similar nature which the legislatures might devise.

It is stipulated that Ireland contribute for two years to the support of the empire on the basis of 1919-1920, which figures about £18,000,000 annually. Of this £18,000,000 North Ireland would contribute 42 per cent. and South Ireland 58 per cent.

A joint Exchequer Board would be created to determine the taxable capacity of Ireland in relation to the balance of the United Kingdom and decide what amount Ireland should contribute after the two-year period. The decision of this board will stand for five years, when the case may be reopened. The board shall consist of equal numbers of representatives of the two Irish Legislatures and the Imperial Parliament, with an independent Chairman. This board would also be charged with devising means of providing guarantees for Ireland's contribution toward the support of the empire, should a united Irish Parliament assume control of the excise and customs.

The amount Ireland would have to contribute is somewhat reduced by a provision in the bill that the United Kingdom shall present £1,000,000 to each of the two Legislatures at the outset to defray their expenses. It is also provided that the Irish shall have land annuities worth about £3,000,000 annually. The bill contains a detailed Government proposal for immediate completion of a land purchase scheme.

Civil servants, as regards pensions, would be protected by the Imperial Government, according to another provision of the bill. This is one of the reasons why Imperial control of the Post Office is to be retained, notwithstanding that the Home Rule bill of 1914 made Ireland's Post Office an Irish institution. The Imperial Parliament would retain this control until such time as the two Legislatures work out a scheme for its direction by the Council for Ireland and request the Imperial Parliament to turn it over.

Greene County Society Dines.

The Greene County Society held its fifteenth annual dinner last night at the Hotel Astor. Henry W. Showers, President of the society, presided and introduced the speakers, Francis M. Hugo, Secretary of State; Frank G. Jacobs, member of Assembly for Greene County and Harding Showers, former Assemblyman. Mr. Hugo, who delivered the principal address, chose for his subject "The Americanizing of America."

DISTRIBUTE FOOD SALE FUND

Berolzheimer Names Appropriation Rules—Free Ice Board Gets $50,000.

The Mayor's Market Special Surplus Committee, of which City Chamberlain Philip Berolzheimer is Chairman, yesterday appropriated sums amounting to $85,000 from the surplus fund of $300,000 obtained at the food sales last Summer. Heading the appropriation list is $50,000 for the Mayor's Committee on Free Ice, of which Mr. Berolzheimer is also Chairman. The Committee on Reconstruction and Relief and for Milk for Poor Families will get $25,000, while $10,000 was given to the Commissioner of Health for milk for the convalescent poor.

Five conditions governing past and future appropriations have been adopted, Mr. Berolzheimer announced. These are:

1. Applications for financial relief must be made in detail. 2. They must have the approval of the Corporation Counsel and the City Chamberlain. 3. All unused funds must be returned. 4. Monthly reports must be made of money received and disbursed by the sub-committees receiving it. 5. All reports and accounts of money received and disbursed must at all times be open to the scrutiny of the Commissioner of Accounts.

FOOD GOES HIGHER ABROAD

Increases in Prices Exceed Advances in United States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Living costs have advanced more in six foreign countries since 1914 than in the United States, according to comparisons of retail food prices in nine countries, including America, made public today by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In Australia and New Zealand, however, the advance was less than in this country.

Taking July, 1914, as the base point the bureau shows that the retail prices of the principal food articles in the United States had increased by 88 per cent. in September, 1919, compared with advances of 116 per cent. in Great Britain and 93 per cent. in Canada during the same period.

The comparisons are made from the latest reports from the various countries. In August, 1919, the increase in the United States was 86 per cent. compared with 169 per cent. in France, 112 per cent. in Norway and 210 per cent. in Sweden, while in Australia and New Zealand prices climbed only 48 per cent. April, 1919, the latest report from Italy, showed an advance of 181 per cent. there against 78 per cent. in this country.

In September food prices had climbed 159 per cent. in Paris and 114 per cent. in Rome.

'WALL ST. PREACHER' QUITS

Resigns from North Baptist Church to be "Pastor at Large."

The Rev. Dr. Robert F. Y. Pierce, who for the last eight years has conducted a "spiritual clinic" in Wall Street, has resigned as pastor of the North Baptist Church, 232 West Eleventh Street, that he may have more time to devote to lecturing and writing. He is widely known for his lectures at Bible conferences which he illustrates with crayon drawings as he talks.

The office of the clergyman, who is known as the "Wall Street Preacher," is at 20 Broad Street, next to the Stock Exchange, where he sees any who needs spiritual advice. He expects now to service as a general "pastor at large." In the Summer he will conduct wayside meetings for business men in front of the Stock Exchange. Dr. Pierce has done war work both here and in Canada. His resignation has not been accepted.

LAND FIRM ASKS RECEIVER.

Company That Developed Brightwaters, L. I., Appeals to Court.

The T. B. Ackerman Company, the real estate company which developed Brightwaters, L. I., a settlement on the South Shore, applied to Justice Callaghan in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday for a voluntary dissolution of the company and the appointment of a receiver.

The development of Brightwaters was begun in 1909 by this company, which had its main office at 1 West Thirty-fourth Street, Manhattan. It was incorporated for $1,500,000. In its petition the company said that it spent $3,500,000 in the development of Brightwaters and owned 1,280 acres of land there. The company constructed a harbor a mile long and 175 feet wide. It blamed the war for its difficulties, saying that it could not sell its property.

Formerly the company paid 8 per cent. dividends, but now it owes its officers $11,000 in back salaries, according to the petition, and has mortgages against it of $100,000. The company admitted owing $35,000 to the Irving Trust Company and $20,000 to the Corn Exchange Bank.

WOMEN'S CLOTHING SOON TO BE CHEAPER

Assistant Attorney General Says Dealers Have Few Customers and Are Not Buying.

FINDS LIVING COST IS LOWER

Reports Cuts in Food and Apparel of from 25 to 50 Per Cent., Except in Large Cities.

Prices of women's clothing are bound to drop materially and soon, according to Howard E. Figg, Special Assistant United States Attorney General, in charge of the campaign to lower living costs. Mr. Figg told heads of various committees on food and clothing at a conference here yesterday that two department stores in New York and six other large department stores in other cities had canceled all orders that had been given for delivery after April 1.

The meeting was held at the office of Federal Food Administrator Arthur Williams, 124 East Fifteenth Street, to discuss more vigorous measures to bring down food and clothing prices. Another conference is to be held next Tuesday at a luncheon at the Metropolitan Club.

Mr. Figg said great quantities of women's clothing had been left in the hands of the manufacturers because retailers have found that the women who formerly bought two or three suits at a time now take only one. The women refuse to buy because of exorbitant prices, Mr. Figg said, and the retailers are limiting purchases till the manufacturers come down.

Except in large cities prices of food and clothing have decreased 15 per cent. since the campaign was started last August, Mr. Figg declared. He admitted that in the large cities the Department of Justice had been disappointed. In Georgia, he said, reductions in food and clothing ran from 25 to 50 per cent.

Miss Edith Strauss, Director of Women's Activities of the Department of Justice, offered a plan for reducing the cost of living, by restraining demand to give manufacturers and producers of clothing and food a chance to "catch up," buying only clothing necessities, reporting excessive profits by complaint card, using influence to stabilize labor conditions, and operating homes on an efficiency basis. These points will be discussed at the luncheon meeting next Tuesday.

Others who attended the conference were Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, Secretary of the Governor's Labor Board; Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, Mrs. W. G. Willcox and Miss Florence Weinstein, the latter representing the Community Councils. Miss Weinstein said that out of 1,000 complaint cards sent out only fifty had been returned by persons who thought dealers had "profiteered" against them. Investigation, she said, failed to reveal any real cases of profiteering.

BOWERS ESTATE $2,752,785.

Mostly Stocks and Bonds, Including $155,000 Liberty Bonds.

The estate of John M. Bowers, member of the law firm of Bowers & Sands, who died on June 10 last, was appraised yesterday at $2,752,785, all of which went to his family. He had $412,996 in real estate and the remainder was in stocks and bonds and personal property.

His largest stock holding was 1,572 shares of the New York Law Publishing Company, which publishes The Law Journal, valued at $168 a share, or $264,096. He had 628 shares of the Corn Exchange Bank, worth $194,380, and 1,530 shares of the American Mortgage Company worth $110,160. He owned $155,000 of Liberty bonds.

Mr. Bowers's interest in his law firm was valued at $46,995.

Women to Urge Universal Training.

A number of prominent women of this city met yesterday at 564 Park Avenue to organize a committee to work with the Military Training Camp Association for the advancement of universal military training. Mrs. Douglas Robinson presided. A resolution was passed stating that the women of America insisted upon a law making universal military training compulsory. Mrs. Robinson, Captain Arthur L. Cosby and Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey spoke. A permanent committee to start a campaign for universal training will be appointed Monday.

ARNSTEIN TO BE IN COURT MONDAY

stood that the police received word of his return to the city and that a score of detectives were hurried out that night in quest of him in the homes of associates on the upper west side, but that they found no evidence of his having appeared at any of them.

The police and the District Attorney's office are investigating the connection of a large brokerage house in the financial district with the operations of the criminals behind the theft of securities in the city, it was reported at the Criminal Court Building yesterday afternoon. The report had it that investigation of the $5,000,000 bond plot by detectives led them to the office of the brokerage house, where, it was said, they uncovered records of stolen securities valued at more than $250,000.

Brokers Imposed Upon.

It was learned that one member of the firm recently was questioned by Assistant District Attorneys Murphy and Dooling about certain securities found in the brokers' office, and that the Assistant District Attorneys believed that the man questioned had no knowledge that securities had been stolen from other firms in Wall Street. There has been a persistent rumor in the financial district, it was said yesterday, that the firm had been imposed upon by a confederate of Arnstein and that three-fourths of the securities which fell into the hands of Arnstein and his associates were disposed of through that firm.

Neither Dooling nor Unger would admit last night they had questioned this broker about anything connected with the Arnstein matter. Dooling said he was not in a position to speak about anything in the nature of evidence in the Arnstein case or the other inquiries which have developed from it. A representative of the firm admitted yesterday that they had received about $70,000 worth of securities from David W. Sullivan & Co., the head of which, David W. Sullivan, now is awaiting trial in General Sessions on an indictment charging him with receiving stolen securities. He refused, however, to discuss the report that Arnstein or a representative had placed other stolen securities with the firm.

It was also learned yesterday that Arnstein has $28,000 in cash in the Pacific Bank in this city, instead of the $18,000 mentioned in the petition in involuntary bankruptcy filed against him last week by the National Surety Company to recover some of the money the company has paid out as the result of thefts from brokerage houses. Harry Zalkin of counsel for the surety company said he would appear before Judge Hand in the Federal Court today to apply for an attachment on the money.

It is understood that Alexander Gilchrist, United States Commissioner, will not hold a hearing today in the bankruptcy proceedings started before him on Thursday. The examination of witnesses will be resumed on Monday morning, when it is expected that Fannie Brice, wife of Arnstein, again will take the witness stand, and that she will be followed by David W. Sullivan, Irving and Joseph Gluck, who confessed to the $5,000,000 plot, and several others. It was reported last night that Arnstein's lawyer, Fallon, also had been subpoenaed to appear at the hearing, but he denied it last night when he was leaving the Criminal Courts Building.

The February additional Grand Jury yesterday, through its foreman, John M. Riehl, sent a communication to District Attorney Swann expressing appreciation of the work of Richard C. Murphy, Assistant District Attorney, in presenting the evidence on which Arnstein was indicted, as well as evidence in other cases on which indictments were returned. A similar communication was sent to Police Commissioner Enright commending the good work of Detective Sergeants Isaac Mindheim, George McDonald, Grover C. Brown and August Mayer in the Arnstein case.

GERMAN HIGH OFFICERS ACCEPT LEIPSIC TRIAL

Ludendorff, Tirpitz, von Kluck and Falkenhayn Express Confidence in German Court.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—A number of prominent Generals and Admirals accused by the Allies of war crimes, today issued a declaration which, while reiterating their refusal to appear before a foreign court, expresses their willingness to go to trial before a German Judge, in whose fairness they declare their confidence.

The signers of the declaration are General Erich Ludendorff, former First Quartermaster General; Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, former Minister of the Navy; General Erich von Falkenhayn, former Chief of Staff; Field Marshal von Kluck, Admiral von Schroeder and numerous other high army and naval officers.

A German Judge, the declaration asserts, will proceed according to German law, adding: "We will only submit to a trial conducted in accordance with these principles, but now that we know what the enemy accuses us of, we expect our trial will be immediately carried out for the preservation of the honor of Germany and their own honor. We declare that we are prepared to assume full responsibility for all commands issued to our subordinates."

The signatories to the declaration say they are conscious that the Entente's reply of Feb. 16 represents a "fresh attack on the German nation and its sovereignty, the joint demand for the extradition of Germans to a foreign place being in nowise abandoned, but confirmed by the Entente's reservation of the right to bring every single case before their own court."

The Germans expressly declare they will only recognize a German court—the Imperial Court at Leipsic.

PROTEST SALE OF PALACE.

Rome Angered by Germany's Choice of Historic Building for Embassy.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Newspapers here are protesting against an attempt by Germany to purchase the Wolkonski villa, now belonging to the Marchese Campanari, as the seat of the German Embassy here.

It is pointed out that included in the property are picturesque arches of the Neronian aqueduct, built by Emperor Claudius; two ancient Roman burial places, numerous urns and frescoes, and antiquities which at present the public is allowed to visit. It is feared that if the Germans purchase the property it will be closed to the people.

The claim is made that no palace having such historic importance should be allowed to pass into foreign hands.

REFUSE TO TRANSFER STOCKS

Dominion Brokers Hold Up Canadian Pacific Railroad Securities.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The embargo on the sale of foreign-owned securities has resulted in refusal of Canadian brokers to make transfers of Canadian Pacific Railway stock, it was stated today. The transfer office for stock of the road was moved to New York during the war for the benefit of European and American interests, who constitute a majority of the shareholders.

The Canadian Bankers' Association, with headquarters in Toronto, was said to have jurisdiction over the action of Dominion brokers. Canadian Pacific securities have been dealt in more extensively here than any other Dominion stock.

DIES OF SLEEPING SICKNESS

Dr. Moses Zeller Had Attended Other Cases at Lincoln Hospital.

Dr. Moses Zeller, 27 years old, an interne in the Lincoln Hospital in the Bronx, where sleeping sickness cases have been treated, died last night of the same disease after lying in a stupor for several hours. He had attended two other victims, one of whom died.

Dr. Zeller would have finished his training at the hospital within a few months and intended to practice in Mount Vernon, where he lived at 250 South Fifth Street. He was a graduate of the Cornell Medical School.

TO GET GERMAN WARSHIPS.

Remainder of Fleet to be Surrendered to Allies on March 10.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The transfer of the remaining German warships to the Allies has been fixed for March 10. On that day eight battleships, eleven cruisers and forty-two destroyers will be formally surrendered.

Seventy per cent. of them will go to Great Britain, 11 per cent. to Italy and 8 per cent. to Japan.

To Close D. A. Sullivan Case.

District Attorney H. E. Lewis asked Justice Aspinall in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday to dismiss the indictments still pending against David A. Sullivan and Charles N. Smith. They were officers of the Mechanics and Traders Bank, which later became the Union Bank, which subsequently failed. Sullivan served two years on conviction in 1913 of taking $16,800 of the bank's funds. While Sullivan was at Sing Sing it was reported that he was riding around in an automobile. Charges led to Warden McCormick's dismissal.

Testimony of 30 Minor Respondents Before Grand Jury Is Introduced.

Special to The New York Times.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 27.—The Grand Jury statements of thirty minor respondents not previously mentioned and who were made to testify against themselves was repeated in the Newberry conspiracy trial today. The testimony told of campaign expenditures running from $100 to $1,000 to the county.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Covert of Pontiac heard himself accused through the Grand Jury testimony, given by himself, of accepting $100 to cover Oakland County expenses for Newberry work. One witness testified to money being placed in his pocket when he was not looking.

Charles F. Matthieu, a film photographer of New York, told the jury that the Newberry Committee paid him $2,031.50 for "screening" the film "Our Navy," which was exhibited during the campaign. The cost of getting pictures of Senator Newberry as he posed on the "battleship" in the park, Matthieu said, was $31.50.

People are beginning to understand that they always get uniform and high quality when they buy Hatch Specialties—

Salto-Nuts and Chocolates

And they are buying them in greater quantity than ever before. Also more people are buying them—necessitating the four Hatch stores keeping open every day and night during the year, including holidays.

The success of Hatch in New York is due to his willingness to accommodate the people with stores in neighborhoods that keep open from 8 A. M. until Midnight — where they can buy Salto - Nuts, Chocolates and other Hatch Specialties and get good service and courtesy.

During the many cold nights of the Winter thousands of people found the Hatch stores homey places where they could get hot drinks from the Soda Fountains. Hatch specializes in Soda Fountain drinks, too—and they measure up in quality like everything else Hatch serves the people.

The stores are located: 3 on the west side of Broadway near 30th, 45th and 99th Streets, and one in Herald Square, 6th Ave., near 35th Street.

They are easily identified because you will see boxes and signs bearing this trade-mark:

Hatch
TRADE MARK

Speaking of this trade-mark reminds me of a thought Mr. Hatch expressed the other day. He said:

"I believe stores should always display the name of their owner—not a corporate name. In my business I want to feel that my name means as much at least as the specialties I sell. At any rate, if I make something that is good and that I am proud of, I want my name to be attached to it. I want the people to know that I am personally interested in the business, that I give it many hours of attention, day and night, and that I want them to feel my personal responsibility for everything they buy at any of my stores. I back up with my name everything we sell."

Mr. Hatch did not say that his name is a GOOD NAME, but I will say it for him, for it is a good name, and when it goes on packages sold in his stores it is an assurance to patrons that they contain honest products, carefully and intelligently prepared.

Salto-Nuts (mixed), $2.25 the lb.
Many varieties.
Italian Chocolates (the "Bitter Sweet" kind). $1.50 the lb.
Supreme Chocolates, $2.00 the lb.

On mail orders "HATCH HE PAYS THE PARCEL POST."

Orders in the city are delivered. Telephone Greeley 241.

At the 99th Street store, families are supplied with wonderful pastry, in addition to all other Hatch specialties.

At the Herald Square store, luncheon and tea are served from noon until 6 P. M. A delightful, dainty luncheon. Go in some time and try the "Apple Pie," the making of which is supervised by a young lady who grew up in the country and knows what good apple pie is.

KENLON SETS MARK IN GETTING TO FIRE

Chief Covers More Than Seventy Blocks from City Hall to 57th Street in 7½ Minutes.

LEADS IN RESCUING TENANTS

Scores, Including a Bedridden Woman, Taken Out—Many Saved at Four Other Blazes.

Fire Chief John Kenlon set a department record in reaching an apartment house fire at 406 West Fifty-seventh Street yesterday and, arriving with the first companies, went into the burning building to aid firemen and police in a series of spectacular rescues. Every member of the thirty families in the tenement, including a bed-ridden invalid and several aged persons, was taken out by the firemen. After saving the human beings the firemen turned their attention to house cats, canaries and gold fish. All the pets were saved.

Chief Kenlon was attending a conference in the Municipal Building when he was informed that there was a fire in West Fifty-seventh Street. It is a few more than seventy blocks from City Hall Park to West Fifty-seventh Street, but Chief Kenlon's chauffeur covered the distance in about seven and one-half minutes by the Chief's official watch. Icy streets prevented some of the other apparatus from reaching the fire, including a fire tower that had a smash-up at Broadway and 135th Street.

One of the first rescuers to reach the building was Patrolman George Deno, of Traffic Squad B, who was on his way home on the Ninth Avenue elevated, when he saw the flames coming from the windows of the burning building. He alighted at the Fifty-ninth Street station, turned in another alarm, and ran to the apartment house. There he went from floor to floor leading out bewildered women and children.

After he had led thirty women and children to safety, Patrolman Deno learned that Mrs. Marie Costello was ill in bed in her apartment on the fifth floor. She was unconscious when Deno reached her bed, and he had a hard task carrying her down the smoky stairway to the street.

Meantime, Fireman Charles Goldstein and other members of Truck 25 had put ladders up the front of the building, and were taking out other women and children. The excitement was too much for Chief Kenlon and he ran into the building to help the firemen, who then started to take out the cats and canaries. Several cats were caught napping by Fireman Goldstein, who put them into a sack. He had some trouble getting his animated bundle to the street.

Chief Kenlon said the fire apparently had been caused by a flying spark from a rubbish fire near the building, and he estimated the damage at $30,000, including the water and smoke damage to adjoining buildings.

Although the day had the usual series of cold-weather fires and fire apparatus had diffiulty getting through the streets, only one death was reported. Mrs. Jennie Rosenberg, 80 years old, was burned to death in her rooms at 6 Hester Street when her clothing caught fire at the kitchen stove. Patrolman George Lenz of the Clinton Street Station, led fifteen other tenants to safety, but was unable to get into Mrs. Rosenberg's flat because the door was locked.

Patrolman Frank Kelly, a wounded war veteran, suffered a fracture of the leg after he had warned 100 persons of a fire in their tenement at 146 West Seventeenth Street. Kelly discovered the fire and sent in the alarm. Then he ran from door to door warning the tenants. When escape by the stairways was cut off, he helped scores of women and children to safety over the roofs of adjoining houses. He fell on the ice in the street after he had finished his rescue work.

It was a great day in the history of the Kelly family, another patrolman, Frank Kelly, rescuing scores of other persons in a tenement fire at 68 West 102d Street, near Columbus Avenue. While firemen were thawing out frozen hydrants Kelly ran through the house warning the tenants He carried Mrs. Mary O'Rourke to the street.

Firemen of Engine Company 73 took Mrs. Esther Ishkishos, 70 years old, and her daughter down a ladder in a fire at 867 Whitlock Avenue, the Bronx. The women were on the third story window ledge when the firemen arrived, and the flames were so close to them that their clothing was scorched and their hair singed. The rescuers were Firemen Michael J. Kennedy and Charles J. Corbett and Henry Schiff, a civilian chauffeur, of 944 East 165th Street, the Bronx.

Reckless Autoist Gets Ten Days.

Found guilty of reckless driving on complaint of two men, who alleged his automobile struck them while they were walking on Delancey Street on Jan. 12, Peter Cramer, 24 years old, of 174 East Eightieth Street, was sentenced yesterday by Magistrate Frederick B. House in the Traffic Court to ten days in City Prison. Samuel Goldstein, a lawyer, of 191 Hooper Street, Brooklyn, and Joseph Blaustein of 432 Fifteenth Street, Brooklyn, testified injuries suffered when Cramer's automobile struck them necessitated hospital treatment.

MAN AND WIFE SHOT IN FRONT OF CHURCH

Dying Husband Accuses Boarder—Prisoner Says Couple Fired the Shots.

Father Goedding was conducting a mission for married women in the Church of the Sacred Heart in Fifty-first Street, near Tenth Avenue, last night when six pistol shots sounded outside. Women ran out to find Thomas S. Heatley, a carpenter, of 516 West Fifty-third Street, and his wife huddled in a heap on the sidewalk, each with three bullet wounds. Patrolman John McKeever of Traffic A hurried from his home near by and arrested on a charge of felonious assault George T. Beckenbaugh, a trolley conductor of 709 South Main Street, Scranton, Pa., whom he found standing near the couple, while a pistol lay on the street.

McKeever said both Heatley and his wife pointed to Beckenbaugh, a former boarder in their home, as their assailant, and at Polyclinic Hospital, where they were taken for first aid before removal to Bellevue, Heatley identified Beckenbaugh positively.

In the West Forty-seventh Street Police Station Beckenbaugh said he met the couple at the written request of Mrs. Heatley, who said family trouble over Beckenbaugh's friendship with her could be settled. The prisoner said Heatley exclaimed "I'm through," drew his pistol and fired three shots into his wife's body, after which she snatched the weapon and fired three shots into her husband. McKeever denied this story.

Heatley is dying and his wife is in a critical condition. She was placed under arrest in the hospital as a material witness.

Proposes $400,000,000 for Highways

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Appropriation of an additional $100,000,000 a year for the next four years to aid the States in road building was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, Oregon.

HEIR TO FORTUNE ELOPES.

G. V. Lewis, Chicago High School Boy, Weds Niece of Rex Beach.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—George Virgil Lewis, a high school boy who recently inherited one-fifth of the $3,000,000 estate of his grandfather, Robert D. Lewis, Vice President of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, it was announced today eloped several months ago with a niece of Rex Beach, the novelist, Miss Mae Vee Beach, who was formerly a classmate.

Lewis is 20 years old and a senior in the Nicholas Senn High School. His bride, two years his junior, is the youngest daughter of Elmer Beach of the law firm of Beach & Beach. The lawyer is a brother of Rex Beach.

The couple were married Nov. 14 in Chicago. They are reported to have kept their marriage secret until two weeks ago, when young Lewis told his mother, Mrs. E. C. Lewis. For the present they are living with Mrs. Lewis.

FINAL STEP TAKEN ENJOINING PACKERS

Decree Is Signed Restraining "Big Five" from Dealing in Other Than Meat Products.

PALMER EXPLAINS RESULTS

Defendants Agree to Action to Assure Public There Can Be No Food Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The agreed decree under which the "Big Five" packers are forever enjoined from engaging in any line of business other than that of handling meat and meat products was filed today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court. It was submitted by Attorney General Palmer, who said it "removes the menace of control of unrelated industries by the 'Big Five' and confines their activities in future to the business of distributing meat and its by-products."

Counsel for the packers said in a statement to the court that the decree had been agreed to by the defendants, "not because of guilt, for they have not violated any law, but that the American people may be assured that there is not the remotest possibility of a food monoply by the packers."

After hearing statements by counsel for the Government and the packers Chief Justice McCoy signed the injunction making effective the agreement.

To Restore Competition.

In a statement commentng on the effect of the divorcement decree Attorney General Palmer said:

"The decree, which the Department of Justice has brought about by urgent insistence, is designed to restore freedom of competition and increase the opportunities for individual initiative in business, which must in time bear good fruit for the public welfare.

"Those great aggregations of capital which have come to be known as the 'Big Five' have been able to dominate so many lines of trade that their continued and unrestrained growth constituted a real menace not only to American business, but to the American consuming public as well.

"In brief, the decree removes the menace of control of unrelated industries by the Big Five, and confines their activities in future to the business of distributing meat and its by-products under an injunction which restrains them from unfair and unlawful practices."

The decree, which involves reorganization of a great industry with assets of more than $1,000,000,000, and which affects eighty-seven corporations and forty-nine individuals, results from an agreement between the larger meat packers and the Department of Justice announced on Dec. 18. This agreement was reached after the department, at the direction of President Wilson, had instituted anti-trust proceedings against the packers in Chicago.

Attitude of the Packers.

The attitude of the packers was summed up at that time by M. W. Borders, general counsel for Morris & Co., as illustrating the "spirit of true Americanism" of the packing industry. Henry Veeder, counsel for Swift & Co., asserted his company had met the request of the Government because it was felt "that the same spirit which caused the business men of the country to submit to personal sacrifices during the war is just as essential during the period of reconstruction."

Mr. Borders made the following statement today in behalf of counsel for all the defendants:

"These defendants have consented to this decree and to give up certain businesses, not because of guilt, for they have not violated any law; but that the American people may be assured that there is not the remotest possibility of a food monopoly by the packers; that the constant criticism and agitation leveled at this vital industry, which is seriously injuring not only it, but the people generally, may cease; that a better understanding and feeling between this industry and the public may be re-established, and that conditions in this uncertain and dangerous period of reconstruction may be stabilized and the efficiency and benefits of the great industry—dealing as it does in a prime necessity of life, a highly perishable product—may be preserved."

TWO BEDFORD WOMEN ASSAULT NEW MATRON

Three Prisoners Help Rescue Official, Who Loses Keys and Money in Fight.

Special to The New York Times.

BEDFORD, Feb. 27.—Miss Catherine Bownoski, a new matron in the State Reformatory for Women here, was attacked and severely injured by two prisoners today. Keys, which open the cells and outside door of the reformatory prison, and money were stolen from her, but the keys were recovered. The attack, according to Superintendent Helen Cobb, was the result of a plot by two disturbers to assault attendants, although she does not believe they planned a jail delivery. Miss Julia Minogue, disciplinary officer, who went to Miss Bownoski's aid, and Mrs. Henrietta Hoffman and Mrs. Susan Martin, watchwomen, were also attacked.

Mazie Rice, Agnes Ryan and Lillian Rosenstein, who have heretofore been described by attendants as among the worst girls in the institution, went to the rescue of Miss Bownoski.

Shortly after breakfast Miss Bownoski unlocked the door on the ground floor of the prison and entered the corridor. As she locked the door behind her, Marie Davis drenched her with a pail of cold water and assaulted her. The prisoner kicked the fallen matron several times and jumped on her. Miss Bownoski regained her feet and started to run down the corridor when, it is alleged, Alice Petrino attacked her.

The Davis woman held Miss Minogue and three matrons at bay, but five male guards lifted her up bodily and placed her up in a sound-proof cell. The other fighting prisoners soon followed her. The matrons say that disturbers have become boider since recent criticisms caused officials to do away with handcuffing and other methods of discipline.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR JACK DEMPSEY

Writ Also Sworn Out for Pugilist's Manager Following Their Indictment.

THEY ARE READY TO APPEAR

Divorced Wife of Pugilist Withdrew Accusations, Saying They Were Due to Pique.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Following their indictment by a San Francisco Grand Jury today for violation of the draft laws, Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of America and his manager, Jack Kearns, arranged for bonds to insure their appearance before the United States Commissioner here. Copies of the indictments and the warrants for the arrest of the two men have not been received here yet. Neither would make any statement except again to deny the charges.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of Jack Dempsey, the pugilist, and his manager, Jack Kearns, following their indictment by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of conspiring to defeat the operation of the draft law and evading the draft. Kearns was indicted on a charge of conspiring with Dempsey and his wife, Madaline Dempsey, to aid the pugilist in defeating the draft law and in evading the draft. Dempsey was indicted twice, the two counts charging evasion of the draft and conspiracy to defeat the operation of the draft law.

The last offense is a felony and is punishable by imprisonment in a Federal prison for two years and a fine of $3,000, or imprisonment may be inflicted alone. Evading the draft is a misdemeanor and is punishable by imprisonment in a County Jail for not more than one year.

The fact that Dempsey and his manager were to be indicted was told in San Francisco almost a week ago, when Annette Adams, United States Attorney, began her investigation into the charges originating with Dempsey's divorced wife, that Dempsey was a willful slacker. Witnesses were brought before the Grand Jury from Los Angeles, Omaha, Chicago, New York, Salt Lake City and Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Dempsey, after making the charges, retracted them in an affidavit presented to the Grand Jury, declaring that she had sought to gratify her pique.

Dempsey and his manager tried to show that Dempsey had been a most patriotic person, and had rendered service under the "work or fight order" of more value to the country than that of fighting in the trenches. Dempsey worked in the shipyards at Seattle on Government built vessels and gave boxing exhibitions for the benefit of the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, the cantonment canteen funds and for military hospitals, throughout the Middle West and West.

COMMUNITY TRUST TO GUIDE CHARITY

Eighteen Financial Institutions Organize to Assist in Distribution of Gifts.

AN AID TO PHILANTHROPISTS

Patterned After Cleveland Foundation, Which Has Received More Than $100,000,000.

The New York Community Trust, which is to foster educational, charitable and benevolent gifts, to be administered under a plan which will permit flexibility of distribution to meet changing needs and enable persons of wealth as well as of moderate means to make their gifts more effective, was formed yesterday at a meeting of representatives of eighteen trust companies in the executive offices of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, 55 Cedar Street.

The plan has progressed to the point where already a number of trust companies which have given their co-operation to the movement have been named under wills as trustees for the New York Community Trust, which is patterned after the Cleveland Foundation at Cleveland, Ohio, originated and developed by Judge Frederick H. Goff, President of the Cleveland Trust Company. Similar trust funds for the benefit of the community have been founded in thirty other cities. Although the Cleveland Foundation has been established but five years, gifts, living trusts and bequests aggregating more than $100,000,000 have been made to it.

The announcement says that the following trust companies have qualified to date to accept business: Equitable Trust Company, Columbia Trust Company, New York Trust Company, United States Mortgage and Trust Company, Irving Trust Company, Title Guarantee and Trust Company, Metropolitan Trust Company, Manufacturers' Trust Company, Franklin Trust Company, Kings County Trust Company, Mercantile Trust Company, Fidelity Trust Company, American Trust Company, Hamilton Trust Company, Hudson Trust Company and Commercial Trust Company. Alvin W. Krech, President of the Equitable Trust Company, is Chairman of the Trustees Committee, and Frank J. Parsons, Vice President of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, is Acting Director of the New York Community Trust.

The fund of this community trust, according to its organizers, will be used not only to assist educational, charitable and benevolent institutions, but it will be devoted to the promotion of scientific research.

It is provided that the income of the trust shall be distributed by a committee of eleven citizens. Seven are to be appointed respectively by the President of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, the Mayor of New York City, President of the New York Academy of Medicine, President of the Association of the Bar of New York City, President of the Board of Trustees of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and the Senior Circuit Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Second District. Five members are to be appointed by the Trustees Committee, none of whom may be executive officers of the trust.

$4,000 CHURCH POST GOES TO WAR HERO

Rev. Thomas Guthrie Speers, 29, Made Associate Pastor of First Presbyterian.

WILL AID DR. ALEXANDER

Appointee Is One of Five Brothers Who Served in the War, and Was Gassed Twice.

The Rev. Thomas Guthrie Speers, 29 years old, has been elected associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and Eleventh Street. His salary will be $4,000, and in the event of the death or retirement of the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, the senior pastor, Mr. Speers will become the pastor of this historic and wealthy congregation.

Mr. Speers is believed to be the youngest clergyman in the Presbyterian Church to become co-pastor of so large and influential a congregation at the salary named. Arrangements for his formal installation will be made at the next business meeting of the Presbytery of New York. The young pastor is the son of James M. Speers, President of James McCutcheon & Co. His parents live in Montclair, N. J. The father is President of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, a member of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions and was Chairman of the committee which brought "Bily" Sunday to Nw York City.

Young Mr. Speers had a distinguished war record. He served in France as chaplain of the 102d Infantry. He was twice gassed and won the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross. One of his acts of bravery cited was carrying ir. a wounded officer at Marshville, Sept. 26, 1917. The deed took him all night.

The Rev. Mr. Speers was one of five brothers who served in the war. The young clergyman was educated at the Hill School, Princeton University and Union Theological Seminary. He made a trip round the world in 1915 with Robert E. Speer, Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, in a visitation of missions of the denomination.

When war broke out Mr. Speers was associate pastor with Dr. Alexander of the University Place Presbyterian Church at Tenth Street. When that congregation and the Madison Square Church were absorbed into the First Church all the pastors resigned. On his return from the war Mr. Speers was appointed a member of the staff by the Session of the First Church. At a corporate meeting of that congregation held Feb. 18 last he officially was elected as associate pastor.

Drop Women's Manslaughter Case.

Indictments charging the Misses Annie Murphy and Bridget O'Flaherty of Yonkers, who formerly conducted the day nursery of Divine Providence there, with manslaughter were dismissed by Supreme Court Justice W. P. Platt yesterday. Twelve babies died at the nursery within a short time; and it was charged that the deaths were caused by malnutrition and neglect.

TEACHERS COLLEGE GETS $1,000,000

Rockefeller Board Makes Appropriation for Library and Classroom Building.

COST PUT AT $3,000,000

Plans Drawn for Structure to Occupy Site in 120th Street Next to Whittier Hall.

The General Education Board, founded by John D. Rockefeller, "to promote education within the United States without distinction of race, sex or creed," last night announced that it had appropriated $1,000,000 for Teachers College as a contribution toward a building fund of $3,000,000 for the construction and endowment of a new library and classroom building. The announcement read:

"The General Education Board announces an appropriation of $1,000,000 for Teachers College, New York. Tihs is a contribution toward a building fund of about $3,000,000, which will be required for the construction and endowment of a new library and classroom building.

"The appropriation is in special recognition of the national character and high importance of the educational work done at this institution and is the largest appropriation for an institution devoted to the education of teachers which the General Education Board has ever made.

"Teachers College has done more for the elevation of professional training of teachers and educational administrators than any other institution of its kind in the country. Its students and graduates occupy important posts in every State in the Union. The appropriation of the General Education Board recognizes its great work and assists in its extension."

The following was authorized by James E. Russell, Dean of Teachers College:

"The General Education Board has made an appropriation of $1,000,000 as a contribution to the Teachers College Building Fund of about $3,000,000 which will be needed for the erection of a new library building.

"Plans for this building have been completed by Allen & Collens of Boston. The building is to face south on 120th Street on the only remaining plot in the block between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue, and is to be set between Whittier Hall, the college dormitory and the main building.

"The need for additional library facilities in Teachers College is especially great, as more than 900 of the 3,000 students now enrolled are taking post-graduate courses, specializing in advanced teaching and school administration, and are therefore called upon to do a large amount of special research work.

"A survey recently completed shows that in the entire United States one out of every seven trained teachers is a former student of Teachers College, and east of the Mississippi River one out of every six trained teachers studied at Teachers College.

"During the present academic year 186 foreign students have enrolled from twenty-eight countries, and each of our insular possessions, Porto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands, the Virgin Islands and the Phillipines, is represented in this list.

"Among the post-graduate students are Presidents and Deans of colleges, Superintedents of Schools and others of advanced position in the educational world. The nature of their work involves much research and reference and special library facilities, and such a building has been a pressing need at Teachers College for several years. At present hundreds of volumes needed daily are stored in the basement. So crowded are reading rooms and classrooms, especially in Summer, that not only is everything available used for writing tables, but scores of students find seats on stairways to read and prepare for class work.

"The new building will be six stories high, four stories being devoted exclusively to the library. Two floors will be used as reading rooms, the two together accommodating 500 readers at one time. Each of these will extend across the entire width of the building, thus giving both north and south light. Two other floors will be furnished as study and seminary rooms for post-graduate students. Each of these rooms will accommodate 175 students.

"Provision will be made for 350,000 volumes, with storage space in the basement for 250,000 volumes not in constant demand."

TWO BILLS TO CHANGE CONTROL OF SCHOOLS

One Offered at Request of Controller Craig Limits Powers of Superintendent.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—Reorganization of the New York City Board of Education to give it broader powers and restrict the authority now given to Superintendent of Schools Ettinger is provided in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Alvah W. Burlingame, Kings County, Republican.

The bill was offered at the request of Controller Craig. It would reduce the number of members of the City Education Board from seven to three, provides for their appointment by the Mayor, the Controller and the President of the Board of Aldermen. It would place the Superintendent of Schools under jurisdiction of the proposed new board and make his powers entirely subject to the discretion of the board and charge him with "such duties as may be imposed upon him by the board."

The proposed new board would also receive power to remove the School Superintendent, a power now denied the present Education Board.

The bill further empowers the new board to select textbooks to be used in the city schools, eliminates from the present law the requirement that the board perform any duty imposed on it by the State Board of Regents or the State Commissioner of Education and leaves to the Regents' Board only the right to prescribe courses of study. The measure may find favor with the Republican Legislature, but it is regarded as doubtful if Governor Smith will approve it.

Senator Abram Kaplan, Manhattan, Democrat, also today introduced a bill which would abolish the present boards of education in cities of the first and second classes and substitute for them departments of education, the heads of which are to be appointed by the Mayors. The term of the Commissioner of Education in New York City, under provisions of the bill, would be seven years, at a salary of $15,000 a year. He would be permitted to appoint as many deputies at $7,500 a year as the Board of Estimate determines.

Canada Lifts Staats-Zeitung Ban.

The mailing privileges of the New Yorker Staats-Zeitung in Canada, which were revoked with those of other foreign language newspapers during the war, have been renewed. The first papers, about 1,500, were forwarded last night to old subscribers in Canada, according to William S. Hofmann, Circulation Manager, following extended communication between the local postal officials and the Canadian Government. The ban went into effect in November, 1914.

Meredith Quits Advertising Office.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 27.—The resignation of E. T. Meredith, United States Secretary of Agriculture, as President of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, was in the hands of other officials of the organization today. Mr. Meredith resigned because of his duties as a Cabinet member.

Candy Making Coming Into Its Own

The death of John Barleycorn last July has brought the art of candy making to the fore, as never before.

Sugar eating has grown so rapidly that candy making at home is one of our most popular indoor sports. Candy is one of the best foods obtainable. Everybody knows how palatable it is, but comparatively few rightly appreciate its wholesomeness—then too, it is a "bracer" with no bad after effects.

Some interesting books on this interesting subject follow:

THE RUSSIAN PEACE OFFER.

The new Bolshevist peace proposals must be considered as aimed principally at France. England and Italy are ready to take the Bolsheviki back into fellowship, and our State Department seems inclined to reject the proposals at once as mere propaganda. But France is the centre of opposition to peace with Bolshevism, and France is the country which holds most of the Russian bonds. The offer to pay 60 per cent. of the debt, with arrears of interest, has a direct appeal to so many Frenchmen that it may be expected to produce some results.

There has been talk of this before, but there has never been talk of "the establishment of democratic principles" and the calling of a Constituent Assembly. "Democratic principles" is a term conveniently vague, but the Bolsheviki could hardly keep up even a pretense of it if they did not extend the franchise, which has heretofore been restricted in order to abolish the private industrial and commercial classes. As for the Constituent Assembly, the Bolsheviki dispersed the old Assembly, elected in the Fall of 1917, when it met shortly after the Bolshevist revolution; and dispersed it for the excellent reason that it had an anti-Bolshevist majority. It is to be presumed, then, that they are confident that any Constituent Assembly which they may call will have a Bolshevist majority.

The Red Army, after its recent victories, would be quite capable of attending to the question of getting a majority if there were any doubt about it, or of dispersing an Assembly which developed inconvenient tendencies. The Red Terror, it appears, has ended; ended because it was no longer necessary. Opposition has been put down. The Red Army has virtually broken down all military opposition and is now in part at least becoming a labor army. And, indeed, the new labor policy of the Soviet Government is the most enlightening piece of evidence both as to its complete military victory and its economic collapse. Only a Government which had complete control of its territory could even promulgate a labor code which virtually makes every individual the slave of the State. It is probable that the labor laws will never work very well, but it argues great confidence in their power that the Bolshevist leaders try them at all. And they try them because, while they have triumphed on the battlefield, they have lost the campaign in the factories, mines and harvest fields. A Russian writer in The New Europe remarks that "the Bolsheviki have succeeded in exterminating Russian capitalism; by killing it they have destroyed the Russian productive forces."

Now they have to call on the productive forces of other countries to make good the damage, and in calling on them they have to sacrifice some of the fundamental principles of Bolshevism. Whether that sacrifice is permanent, or merely a temporary expedient, depends on allied policy. Bolshevism in Russia can be let alone if it will let the rest of the world alone. Until lately its leaders have been saying that world revolution was necessary to their program. Now they find capitalist co-operation more immediately necessary. Nevertheless, VICTOR KOPP, the Bolshevist representative at Berlin, says that his Government must first think of Russia, but "without giving up the idea of world revolution." Mr. ARTHUR COPPING, now in Russia for The London Chronicle, has discovered that "Bolshevism is behaving with strict propriety and is far more of a national lamb than an international wolf." On the other hand, Dr. HANS VORST of the Berliner Tageblatt says that the Bolsheviki "cannot and will not give up the idea of a Communist world revolution," and that "trade is only a lure." Dr. VORST is an excellent authority on Russia, and Mr. COPPING's first impression in Bolshevist territory was an excited elation at the discovery that Bolshevist stenographers giggled and Bolshevist dogs wagged their tails. Any one is at liberty to choose between their divergent opinions. The dispatch from Berlin which we publish this morning shows that some at least of the leaders of Bolshevism have already worked out the plans for the military invasion which may follow the bolstering up of Bolshevist economics by two or three years of peace.

Mr. KRASSIN, Bolshevist Minister of Transport, says that his Government needs first of all machinery and railroad rolling stock, and is willing to pay cash for them. A Government which can talk of paying billions of debt ought to be able to return at once the stolen Rumanian gold before there is talk of paying cash. There is no way in which the Allies can force the Bolsheviki to keep their promise of democratization, or their promise to pay part of the debt.

WHY?

What particular interest invites the American Federation of Labor to concern itself about, to be tender to, conscientious objectors, the so-called "political prisoners" now kept in disciplinary barracks of the War Department, and "political prisoners" held under the espionage law? Mr. GOMPERS himself brought about a conference between Secretary BAKER, the general organizer in the East of the Federation and a representative of the Central Labor Bodies' Conference of Greater New York for Amnesty for Political Prisoners. It appears from the statement of the general organizer that "organized labor throughout the country is enlisted in the movement for the freeing of 'political prisoners.'"

In the war Mr. GOMPERS was a sound and active American patriot. His services, and those of the Federation, to the United States in carrying on the war have been gratefully and frequently acknowledged. Why is the same Mr. GOMPERS, if indeed he be the same Mr. GOMPERS, if some sudden, swift, progressive malady of radicalism has not attacked him in the last few months, now pleading and working for the benefit of those who, whether as so-called conscientious objectors and shirkers or as unconscientious seditionaries and disloyalists, did all they could to defeat the United States in the war? What does he mean by a "political prisoner"? There is not in the United States a "political prisoner." The persons to whom the sympathetic souls of Mr. GOMPERS and the other Federation leaders are now so kind were all, from the meanest malingerer to the egregious revolutionary DEBS himself, resisters and defiers of our laws and Government. What has organized labor to do with, why should it wish to do anything for, such unworthy citizens, such false or cowardly Americans, if they are to be called Americans? What good to itself, what good to the United States, does organized labor look for from this surprising course?

A part of British labor has been infected with sinister notions and has sought strange allies. Is a part of American organized labor about to treat itself to the same experience?

CONGRESS AND THE MERCHANT MARINE.

In giving his views about the American merchant marine General LEONARD WOOD avoids details, as does almost every public man who ventures to say something about this irrepressible and difficult problem. All agree that we should have cargo carriers under the American flag in sufficient numbers to transport American products to all parts of the world. It is like the question of continuing to pay rent when a man should own the house he lives in. Why pay the British, Norwegians and Japanese for cargo space when we can build and operate our own ships? The war gave us our opportunity. Ships were built by the gross to carry troops, munitions and supplies to Europe, and the war over the building program was continued in order to found an American merchant marine and put the Stars and Stripes in ports where for forty years it was rarely, if ever, seen. "Let us see to it," says General WOOD, "that, to as large an extent as possible, they [the ships] remain in the hands of Americans." He adds that "the Government will have to sell its ships at considerable loss," and there the General stops. He does not trust himself to details. He steps warily.

Some questions of prime importance remain unanswered. Can the ships be sold cheap enough to tempt firms and companies to buy? What Government control shall there be over private operation, if any? Would it be expedient for the Government to lease some of its ships, retaining title? Is Government ownership to have any consideration? Can officers be provided for as large a merchant marine as would be able to compete with the British before they got the cream of the ocean-carrying trade? Can crews be obtained and kept at living wages, American standards? Is it practicable to operate American ships profitably without amending the navigation laws? Would passenger ships pay in competition with foreign liners not handicapped by prohibition laws?

The American merchant marine is in an inchoate state, waiting for Congress to do something, with Congress reluctant, backing away, fearful. The problem must soon be dealt with courageously and with resolution. One thing is certain—if those questions relating to operation cannot be answered satisfactorily, the sun rising on the American merchant marine will be obscured by clouds.

WOMAN AND PROHIBITION.

In the unofficial Democratic State Convention the activities, demeanor, political talent, good nature and good sense of the woman delegates were particularly observable, and were observed simply because in the East the superior sex is still a freshwoman, so to speak, in politics. The Democratic Convention made much of the women. The women made much of the Democratic Convention. They were good-humored and tolerant. In their admirable courtesy they were even willing that the men folks should smoke, in a hall that had more than a little of that Black Hole atmosphere which usually characterizes convention halls. They asked nothing too much for themselves, for the concession of half the delegates at large and half of the alternates would have been voluntarily made, perhaps, by canny bosses, bound to be more liberal to the women voters than was the rival Republican show.

It is in a matter of opinion, however, that these feminine delegates showed a large tolerance and incidentally confuted a theory once rather lightly put forward by some ardent suffrage chiefs, disappointed by some State election or referendum. It has been the fact that prohibition and woman suffrage are no relations. A prohibition State has been known to defeat woman suffrage. In the local options in the New York cities, woman Wets were as numerous as, in some cases a little more numerous than, the woman Drys. Yet how often in the struggling days of woman suffrage, and even till within a year or two, have we heard about "the dark forces," "the saloons," beating woman suffrage? The cry was raised in Iowa, in Nebraska, in Pennsylvania, in New York, almost everywhere; and yet there never was any reason for it.

The Democratic State Convention of New York, with the enthusiastic approval of most of the woman delegates, demanded the speedy repeal of the prohibition amendment, and until that repeal asserted the right of the State "in the exercise of its sovereign power to so construe the concurrent clause of the Eighteenth Amendment as to be in accordance with the liberal and reasonable views of our people." That is, until the amendment can be repealed the people of New York should be allowed by a State statute to have at least beers and wines whose alcoholic content shall be determined at Albany and not at Washington. That the Democratic woman delegates believe in this is as intelligible and natural as that the other Democratic delegates did. Notoriously, there are plenty of Republicans who sigh and cry for it. The count will determine how many of them there are; likewise how many Democrats are "otherwise minded." Without going into the merits, it is right to say that a considerable political tact as well as a strong attachment to personal liberty of habit and to State rights was shown by the delegates, and especially the woman Democratic delegates, at Albany.

BILLIONS FOR BONUSES.

Which way the wind blows in Congress on the soldiers' and sailors' bonus question is shown by the vote of 325 to 4 on the rule to refer all bills for monetary and land bonuses to the Ways and Means Committee with instructions to report a comprehensive measure. The House balks at, in fact shies around, a plan of universal training that could be carried out for $150,000,000 a year, but it looks with favor upon a distribution of bonuses that would cost $2,000,000,000, perhaps much more. There seems to be a strange inconsistency here, but the politicians of the House—that is to say, the leaders—know what they are about. There are votes in bonuses, or in the promise of Congress to pay them, but interest in universal service, which was in high favor two years ago, is not so keen now. In many districts a time-serving candidate for re-election would not dare to advocate universal military training.

Before retiring from the Treasury Department Secretary GLASS opposed a large expenditure for veterans' bonuses because the indebtedness of the Government was already giving concern, and to add a billion or two to the burden, except under the compulsion of necessity, would be indefensible. But the advocates of veterans' bonuses say that bonds for $2,000,000,000 would be taken cheerfully by the American people. No financial authority would agree with these optimists. It was uphill work selling the Victory notes, which were to pay 4¾ per cent. interest, and pressing war obligations were involved. The people had taken a long series of Liberty Loans gladly enough, and they had subscribed to every kind of war service with devoted patriotism. It is no exaggeration to say that many made the utmost sacrifice when they paid their installments on Victory notes. These people, and their number is legion, could certainly not take the bonus bonds.

The bonds would have to carry a higher rate of interest than any previous Government issue, 5 per cent. at least. They could not be floated without causing a further depreciation in Liberty bonds and Victory notes; and, aside from that aspect of the case, which is serious enough for the millions of people who hold these securities at a paper loss, the money to pay for the bonus bonds would be subscribed to the detriment of business enterprises which have a hard road to travel now in obtaining credit. In fact, the whole credit situation is bad enough, and a new issue of $2,000,000,000 Government bonds would make matters gravely worse. Will Congress venture to appropriate $2,000,000,000 for bonuses and add by so much to the burden of taxation? Congress should be wary of making promises it would be most difficult to keep.

Mr. CLEVELAND's definition of "disability incurred in the line of duty" as the condition requiring a just Government to pension its soldiers was so honest and fair to the taxpayer as well as to the soldier that it was not popular with the politicians. Has it entirely lost its appeal? In a way it has, for Congress has neglected to do its duty toward disabled soldiers and sailors, whom the Government had promised to train and fit for gainful employment. The Board for Vocational Education has failed to function properly. Employment has been found for 217 maimed veterans only, and but 24,000 out of 200,000 who applied for assistance to fight the battle of life, and not for cash, have received any training at all. Here is a cause for Congress to take up with virtuous indignation. The people are a unit for generous treatment of maimed and helpless veterans, cost what it may. Why does Congress turn away, but present a smiling face to the applicants for bonuses who are sound in body and in most cases are well employed and do not need the $50 a month for each month of service, at home as well as overseas, which it is proposed to pay them? Why do whole and busy men desire a bonus which they do not need? There must be great numbers of thoughtful veterans who would not want to take it, would like to refuse it.

CONTROL THE WATERFRONT.

More than financial gain is involved in the effort to regain public possession of lands on the waterfront, though in New York, Bronx and Queens Counties alone the value is estimated at between fifty and one hundred millions. The project is essential to the development of one of our greatest natural beauties, which may be also a source of vast public convenience.

Since 1786 the Commissioners of the Land Office have been granting lands under water on condition that the recipients fill them in and erect docks within five years. In more than one thousand cases, the Attorney General now declares, these improvements have never been made. Meantime the needs of the public have been transformed. The day of individual and haphazard development is long past. The city of today requires a waterfront comprehensively planned for the community as a whole. To the great project of uniting New Jersey, Brooklyn and Manhattan in a single organic port, a control over docks and piers is of an importance scarcely to be exaggerated.

Closely linked with this plan is the project of a waterfront street which shall encircle the island. That is essential to the ever-growing needs of commerce, and especially in view of the increasing use of motor trucks. The time is at hand, furthermore, when the crowded and unseemly slums which disgrace so large a part of the waterfront will be replaced by well-built, well-lighted and dignified apartment houses and factories.

THE NEXT BRITISH AMBASSADOR.

The British Government has selected Sir AUCKLAND CAMPBELL GEDDES as the next British Ambassador to the United States. It has been difficult to find, among the few men equal to the duties of this great post, one able to accept it permanently. Lord GREY's appointment was only temporary. It could not be expected that Lord READING, high as are his qualifications and valuable as have been his services at Washington, would consent, save in the stress of war and questions raised by it, to leave the duties of his illustrious place as Lord Chief Justice. The Right Hon. H. A. L. FISHER, President of the Board of Education, known in this country by his delivery of the Lowell Lectures in Boston in 1909 and by his scholarly articles and books, is an engaging and a democratic man, who would have made an acceptable Ambassador and continued the tradition of JAMES BRYCE.

Yet Sir AUCKLAND GEDDES may be thought to be even better calculated for American latitudes and the varied requirements of the office. A Scotchman like Lord BRYCE, he has had the versatility and the variety of pursuit and residence which Americans used to regard, perhaps not too modestly, as peculiarly their own. He has been a Professor of Anatomy in Edinburgh, in Dublin, in Montreal. He was a Lieutenant in the Boer war. He served two years in the great war. He has been Director of Recruiting, Minister of National Service. He is now President of the Board of Trade. In the House of Commons he is known as a clear and agreeable and effective speaker. He has the art of making interesting subjects usually regarded as dull. So Mr. GLADSTONE, Chancellor of the Exchequer, used to gild the budget with rhetoric and turn the price of beer into a poem. As an outsider or occasional orator, too, Sir AUCKLAND usually pleases and never bores. He has something or much of the Canadian ease and "breeziness" and feeling for fun. In short, to a trained intellect and a sagacious judgment he adds tact, charm. He knows how to get along with people and how to get things done.

The old purple, patrician diplomatic corps is passing away. More and more attention to and mastery of commercial, financial, economic matters is impatiently demanded of Ministers and Ambassadors. In a sense, they are to be glorified Consuls. It is fortunate for two great commercial nations like Great Britain and the United States if the former is to be represented at Washington by a man who is interested in and understands trade. Intellectually and socially Sir AUCKLAND GEDDES will be welcome here. Indeed, Caledonian-Canadian as he is, the United States has annexed him. He is half ours. His wife was a New York girl.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Indeed a World of Change.

Again must one be moved to sympathy and the starting tear on realizing with what deep humiliation and bitter envy burglars of the old school must read about the daily exploits of professional successors who have brought such wonderful simplicity and efficiency into their ancient art. The latest revelation of this advance is to be found in the fine haul of cash made when six up-to-date practitioners visited the office of Dr. JONATHAN C. DAY, manager of the naval sales, lined him and his seven assistants up against the wall by a flourish of pistols, took their collections for the day, and then departed, not exactly at their leisure, but without urging their taxicab to any attention-attracting speed.

It was not necessary for them to go very fast, for no method of dealing with their variant from former methods has been devised as yet by our interested but evidently helpless police.

Once burglars had to do their work between midnight and dawn, an inconvenient time, and they had to exercise infinite precautions not to wake up their selected victims. Lethal weapons usually were carried even then, but they were used reluctantly and only as a last desperate resort in effecting escape. An expensive set of tools, too, had to be provided for every job of any consequence, only to be abandoned after one use. This diminished the profits of achievement. Always success depended on craft and caution rather than on the nobler quality of courage, a fact that rendered impossible the pride in the work done that is the sweet reward of toil.

Now all is changed, or at any rate there has been introduced in city practice the same dramatic and adventurous spirit that won for JESSE JAMES and his kind something of the respect that went from aspiring youth—not the worst judges of real merit—to the Indian fighter and the frontier Sheriff.

All Criminals Find Them Useful.

Prominent in all episodes such as the robbery of Dr. DAY is the automobile. Seemingly that machine lends itself to nefarious purposes with an ease that deserves the earnest attention of moralists and legislators. In this it appreciably resembles that noble animal, the horse, which was not only the near companion of the old-time highwayman, but all through the ages, for some mysterious reason, has adversely affected the manners of human beings at all closely associated with him and has been the means or excuse for a form of gambling than which none other has more often caused the judicious to grieve or the adventurous to repine.

However, just as it is not because of racing scandals and his service of aleatory ends that the horse is now seemingly headed straight for the limbo where wait for him the dodo, the mastodon and the innumerable company of saurians, so the utility of the automobile for bandits will not lead to its evanishment from the world, no matter how much the world may be reformed and uplifted. The self-propelling car has too many other and innocent uses to justify its condemnation, but perhaps it would be only reasonable to hold every owner and operator of an automobile to a stricter responsibility for what he does, or permits to be done, with it.

Poverty and Wealth in the Courts.

It was natural and, indeed, inevitable that Mr. HUGHES, as a lawyer who has been a Judge, should have read with displeasure and dissent the recent report prepared for the Carnegie Foundation—the report wherein it was charged that the poor do not get fair treatment in American courts. This accusation Mr. HUGHES emphatically denied in his speech at the annual meeting of the Legal Aid Society, and his assertion that our courts show no discrimination in favor of the rich will be accepted by all except critics of our institutions who are more or less eager to sweep those institutions all away and to substitute for them devices which in such previous trials as they have had always failed miserably.

It was to be noticed, however, that by praising the society before which he spoke, and by rehearsing the vast extent of its activities in the last year, in effect Mr. HUGHES admitted that to secure safety and justice the poor litigant often has to have help of a sort which the courts willingly permit, indeed, but do not provide. And by declaring that past abuses—delays, postponements and the like—have been much decreased of late, he confessed to their existence.

That, as between a poor man and a rich man, the former is often at a disadvantage in litigation is true. It is not because the courts or the laws are unfair, but because, as always, money commands the service of experts and because it can avail itself, and poverty sometimes cannot, of the legal facilities which are open to all—to all, that is, who can pay for them.

Dark Forces Claim a Victory.

Opponents of daylight saving have succeeded in getting from the Agricultural Committee of the Assembly a favorable report of the bill to repeal the present State law on the subject. That is triumph, of a sort, and it may be the first step toward whatever of victory there may be in refusing the State's sanction for a plan that largely increases the happiness of a majority of its inhabitants. Even the fiercest of the rural legislators, however, has not dared, as yet, to attempt making it illegal for anybody who chooses to set his clock ahead an hour at the end of March. While that freedom remains, daylight saving is safe in this city and in all the other cities, towns and villages that are either glad or compelled to follow its example.

For New York has decided to save daylight, no matter what the rest of the State does, and if the rest of it decides to follow a different time schedule it will have to endure the consequences. So will New York, for that matter, but here the troublesome consequences will be few and light, at least as compared with those our neighbors will encounter.

Moreover, the bill to repeal the State law, though favorably reported, is not yet passed, and the Secretary of the National Daylight Saving Association has the faith to believe that it won't be, or that, if it is, the Governor will veto it.

THE SULTAN IN EUROPE.

If It Pleases the Moslems It Will Displease the Rest of the World.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May it be permitted for one American citizen to voice his earnest indignation, nay, wrath, at the report that the leaders of Britain and France are resolved to leave the "unspeakable Turk" in Constantinople? Doubtless the public in this country knows relatively little of the Fiume question, it is bewildered over the problem of Russia, it is in a maze over economic settlement of the peace treaty, but the proposition to leave the Ottoman in what a moderate British writer has wisely called his "sty" is something we all can understand. In protesting against such an issue to the war I believe that conservative and radical, Democrat and Republican, Wilsonian and anti-Wilsonian will be at one.

The continuance of the Turk anywhere west of the Bosporus will be a formal proclamation that in one great particular not merely has the old diplomacy failed, it has very cynically avowed its failure, and made merry over the disappointment of those who had hoped for a better day. The reasons adduced—the fear of exciting the Moslem provincials of India and the possible clamors of holders of speculative Ottoman securities—may carry weight in the British India and Foreign Offices; they will carry weight nowhere else in the Christian world.

The perpetuation of the Ottoman in Constantinople will stand as one great blot upon the new map of Europe. It will be an indescribably plausible argument against American guarantees of Old World arrangements, such as will delight the fiercest opponents of the tempest-tossed "Article X." We are not responsible for the present condition of the Near East. If the Turk is today still in Europe, Britain is largely responsible. And Britain today has it undeniably in her power to make him go. Any rational arrangement for the possession of the city will be better than leaving the Sultan in Yildiz-Kiosk and the muezzin sending his call from the towers of Hagia Sophia. If British policy decides that it is better to cater to the prejudices of an uninformed mass of Mohammedanized Hindus rather than to listen to the united voice of the Christian peoples, let it understand fully the price of its action. It will be an affront to American sentiment so direct, so unmistakable, that the task of arranging for genuine British-American co-operation, already sufficiently hard, will become many times harder.

A Tax on the Soldier's Pay.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It must be true that a great many ex-soldiers, as myself, are affected by the ruling of the State Controller in the matter of compensation received by them for their services in the army during the last year. Income tax return form No. 200 provides a place for the recording of such remuneration. This item is not included in the total income that is taxable, because such compensation, coming, as it does, from the National Government, cannot be taxed by a State.

However, in the process of calculating the tax to be paid, provision is made for personal exemption of $1,000 for single men with no dependents, and other allowances for men who are married and those who have dependents, or both. From this amount of exemption, provision is made for the subtraction of the amount of income received as army pay. This reduces the exemption to that extent, and, by such reduction, virtually includes income received from the United States Government in the amount of taxable income.

This provision, I submit, is unconstitutional and should be changed. In Dobbins vs. Commissioners, reported in 16 Peters 435, of the United States Supreme Court Reports, the United States Supreme Court reversed the decision of a Pennsylvania State Court and ruled that any and all compensation or other remuneration received by a citizen of a State for services rendered to the National Government as agent or in any other capacity is not taxable by a State Government. This decision has never since been reversed or amended.

Rent and Fire Insurance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Regarding the letter in yesterday's paper by Morris Morgenstern, one of his statements is absolutely incorrect, namely, "all kinds of insurance on buildings have been almost tripled." If he means to include fire insurance his statement is absolutely untrue. There has been no increase in fire insurance rates in this city. The fire insurance companies are having a hard time of it with increasing expenses and not an increase in their income.

ROMANCE.

Sometimes when I tire of the season's best seller,
Of the verse libre so weird and the realist's rage,
When I long for romance that is wholesome and "meller," Beyond the dull dreams of this practical age,
Then I seek the old volume whose thumbed pages fill me
With visions fantastic of obsolete
bliss—
Just an old-fashioned cook book, but how it can thrill me
With recipes, some of them starting like this:
"Take one dozen eggs and a pound of fresh butter,
Add one pint of cream and some sugar and spice."
Oh, it quickens my pulse and it makes my heart flutter—
Today no Romance has a sequel so nice!
I have shuddered with Poe, I have chuckled with Dickens,
I have wept with De Morgan and laughed with Bill Nye;
But this tale of Baked Hams and of smothered Spring Chickens Brings a lump to my throat and a tear to my eye—
When I turn the thumbed leaves of the old-fashioned Cook Book,
With its reckless Romance of the days long gone by!

HIROSHIGE TRIPTYCH, $310.

Brisk Bidding on Hoyt Collection of Japanese Prints—Total $5,600.

The constantly increasing interest in Japanese prints was shown in the brisk bidding at the sale of the Charles B. Hoyt collection at the Walpole Galleries last evening which brought orders from many places and many of the prints will return to Japan, where prices are now higher than in this country. Hiroshige's great triptych, Kiso Mountain Snow, No. 113, the Japanese artist's masterpiece, brought the highest price, starting at $40 and selling on order for $310.

Another fine triptych by the same artist, No. 114, "Full Moon on Kanazawa," a companion to the first, went to Prince del Drago for $190. Again selling on order was that always popular print, Hiroshige's "Rain on Ohashi Bridge," which brought $115. A Kararaye, a lacquer print, "Chinese Lady with an Elephant," No. 183, in the style of Koyoharu, an early artist, sold to order for $115, and a Kunisada triptych, each of the three prints, two men and one a woman, on a silver ground, went to K. Tanaka for $105.

"Omi Fox Lights on New Year's Eve," Hiroshige, No. 104, went to Massachusetts, to a buyer named Bidwell, and a fine example of "Mii Dera," or "Evening Bells at Mii Temple," No. 106, from the "Eight Views of Lak Biwa," sold on order for $65. A charming print by Koriusai, Chuban form, with three figures, No. 177, a "Disguised Youth Assisting a Maiden Into a Boat," sold to order for $85. Preceding the sale of prints, a number of books and catalogues on Japanese art were sold, all bringing good prices, the catalogue of the T. Hayashi collection selling for $52.50. The returns for the evening were $5,600.

$1,750 FOR LANG-YAO VASE.

Bischoff Sale of Oriental Porcelains Now Totals $43,496.

Returns for the fourth afternoon of the Bischoff sale of Oriental porcelains, &c., at the American Art Galleries yesterday were $11,409, making a total to date of $43,496. The sale will be concluded this afternoon.

A beautiful 17¾-inch Lang-yao oviform vase, No. 838, K'ang-hsi period, with a mirrorlike brilliancy of glaze, the color ranging from warm blood red to the coagulated tones of brown and black, brought the highest price of the day, going to S. S. Laird for $1,750. To Laird went also No. 804, a tall, cylindrical club-shaped vase of the same period as the former, of a beautiful powder blue with flower and butterfly panels. To Timothy F. Crowley was sold No. 757, a pair of Ming wine ewers, 9¼ inches high, of a brilliant lapis lazuli blue, with the peach of longevity on the face of each.

To Seaman, agent, went No. 779, a set of K'ang-hsi powder-blue garniture, a tall beaker and pair of temple jars; No. 784, a powder-blue club-shaped vase with Schu medallions in gold and chrysanthemum medallions, went to the Long Sang Ti Company for $340, and Clarence Watson paid $675 for No. 812, a peachbloom chrysanthemum bottle, K'ang-hsi, 7¾ inches high.

PAINTINGS ON FLOUR SACKS.

Belgian Artists' Work During War Shown in St. Mark's Hall.

An interesting lot of pictures is on exhibition in St. Mark's Hall, in the rear of St. Mark's-in-the-Bouwerie, Tenth Street, west of Second Avenue, in which is some of the flour-sack work done by Belgian artists on the containers of the welcome American flour which came to them in their time of need during the war. There are nine of these paintings, all of them in simple gilt frames.

One of the most attractive shows a jolly little chap, with red hair, a turn-up nose, a red handkerchief knotted around his neck, and a visor cap set on hindside before. He is eating, with an expression of impish joy, an enormous slice of bread and butter. This is by G. Gaudy. There is a clever sketch of a seated girl by Rassenfosse, and heads, family interiors and a soldier on horseback are on other sacks. The greater number of the pictures are on canvas, by Armand Jamar—marines, scenes from little French towns, figures, and one of the pictures received a gold medal in Paris.

The collection may be seen free from 10 A. M. to 12 M. and from 2 to 5 P. M.

BOYS IN NAVY TOO YOUNG.

Department Called On to Explain Reports of Recruiting of Minors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The House Naval Committee called on the Navy Department today for an explanation of reports that hundreds of boys under 17 years of age have been enlisted in the service. A statement to the committee by Major Gen. Barnett, Commandant of the Marine Corps, that the Captain of a battleship recently had told him that 50 per cent. of his crew were "worthless boys under 17 years old," prompted the inquiry.

Representative Browning, Republican, New Jersey, urging an investigation, declared that if such reports were true they indicated laxity by recruiting officers, while Chairman Butler, Republican, Pennsylvania, pointed out that parental consent was required for enlistments under 18 years.

General Barnett recommended an authorized strength of 27,400 men for the Marine Corps and an increase of pay on the scale proposed for the army and navy. He also favored a peace time enlistment period of two years.

INSIST ON NAVY REPAIR.

Senate Urged for $3,000,000 Provision Which House Opposed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Urging that the Senate insist on its amendment to the second Deficiency bill providing $3,000,000 for the repair of naval vessels, which the House desired to eliminate, Senator Phelan, Democrat, California, declared today that the necessity of maintaining order in Hawaii, where Japanese laborers are on strike, rendered the appropriation imperative.

The Senator asserted that the Japanese were getting official orders from their Burgomasters in Japan forbidding work for white planters, and had resorted to sabotage, which had caused fourteen cane fires. He said he was informed that a Japanese warship had arrived at the island to take off the Japanese subjects.

The Senate voted to insist on the amendment and also on amendments providing $1,000,000 for the Customs Service for enforcing prohibition, and $500,000 additional for the purchase of the Chicago Speedway Hospital.

REJECT BID ON STEAMERS.

Navy Gets Offer of $1,580,000 for the Yale and the Harvard.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Bids on the steamers Yale and Harvard were rejected today by the Navy Department as too low. The vessels, which were operated in the English Channel transport service during the war, were purchased by the navy at an appraisal of approximately $2,000,000 for both.

The present appraisal is $1,750,000, against which the highest bid received was $1,580,000, submitted by a Los Angeles company. A new bid will be invited.

DEMAND IMPORT CONTROL.

Danish Financial Council to Hand Note to the Government.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 26.—The Danish Financial Council at a meeting today decided to demand from the Government sole control of all imports. Co-operation of the bankers with the council already has resulted in virtual prohibition of Danish purchases in Leipsic and Hesse.

The Government organ Politiken today seeks to console the importers of American semi-luxury articles, saying that the importation of these goods will not altogether be stopped, although it will be heavily curtailed.

OPPOSES MEMORIAL IN PELHAM BAY PARK

Playgrounds Association Protests to Governor, Legislature and Estimate Board.

URGES HEARING ON PLAN

Objects to the Use of Any of City's Parks for Rice Field or Other Similar Projects.

Messages of protest against the plan to use the southern end of Pelham Bay Park as a public playground and athletic field, under the terms of the Isaac L. Rice bequest, have been sent to Governor Smith, the Legislature and the Board of Estimate by the Parks and Playgrounds Association, of which George Gordon Battle is President. Mr. Battle asks Governor Smith for an opportunity to appear and state the association's views, should the bill be reported. In a telegram to the Senate Judiciary Committee he asks for a public hearing on the bill.

The original plan to place the memorial in Central Park met with a storm of protest from many sources. The American Association of Landscape Architects and the Fine Arts Federation were among the organizations which joined in this protest.

Mr. Battle, in his telegram to the Senate Judiciary Committee, said:

"Referring to Senate Bill No. 342, Int. 336, introduced by Mr. Dunnigan, I beg to say as President of the Parks and Playgrounds Association of the City of New York, that the proposition of the Isaac L. Rice Memorial Foundation to establish playgrounds and recreation centres in Pelham Bay Park or any other park in New York City is, in my judgment, and I believe in the judgment of the Parks and Playgrounds' Association, contrary to the best interests of the people and contrary to the correct principles for the use of the parks in this city. I earnestly hope that your committee will not take favorable action on this bill without giving it a public hearing and allowing the Parks and Playgrounds Association and other persons interested in the parks an opportunity to present their views. This is another one of the well-meaning plans of encroachment on park space which, if permitted, would result most disastrously to the parks of this city and to its people."

The letter to the Governor inclosed a copy of the telegram to the Judiciary Committee.

"I trust," says the communication to the Board of Estimate, "this matter may receive your most careful consideration before determining action by the board, and that in no case shall any portion of Pelham Bay Park, or any other park in the city be given over for this purpose. In our judgment it would be absolutely wrong to permit any private individuals or corporation to make use of any park, and particularly this most valuable park space in Pelham Bay Park which has already been put to such admirable use by the present Park Commissioner for the purpose of erecting memorials therein.

"While in no way lacking in appreciation of the splendid benevolence shown by Mrs. Rice there is no guarantee that the city will not be at a loss financially."

Justice Eugene A. Philbin of the Appellate Division, who is a Director of the association, declares that it would be absolutely wrong to permit any private individuals to make use of any park in the city for erecting memorials. "Such encroachments," he said, "should not be tolerated on the plea that they had some aspect that would be useful to the public generally. One has only to remember the extraordinary population of this city, which is constantly growing, to realize how much is needed every inch of space available for recreation."

DEBATE VICTORY HALL SITE.

Board of Estimate Members, at Public Hearing, Suggest Locations.

For two hours yesterday the Board of Estimate heard arguments for and against the selection of a site at Forty-second Street and Park Avenue as a suitable place for the erection of a Victory Hall as a war memorial. A bill providing for the erection of such a building on the site is now before the Legislature and members of the Central Federated Union and others who are in favor of the plan asked for a public hearing, with the hope that the city authorities would also favor it.

The site is partly on the property of the old Grand Union Hotel, which was purchased by the city for subway purposes, and the Victory Hall Association, Inc., which is fathering the scheme, has promised to buy the city property at the city's own price and the necessary adjoining land by popular subscription. The city will sell its property at public auction within thirty days, as the Charter provides. Representatives of the Central Federated Union, the American Legion posts, civic societies and others crowded the Board of Estimate room at the hearing.

The members of the board made it plain that they were not opposed to the erection of a Victory Hall, but they were anxious to know why the Forty-second Street site was selected. The Controller intimated that the owners of the large hotels in the vicinity were behind the scheme, as they were behind the bill, defeated in the Legislature last year, for the selection of the same site for a public park.

The Controller was informed that the site was selected because it was considered to be the most accessible to all parts of the city, and especially easy for strangers to find. The Controller thought a site on Eighth Avenue, near Fifty-eighth Street, would be more convenient to reach.

Acting Mayor LaGuardia said that all the members of the Board of Estimate were in favor of the erection of a Victory Hall, but did not want to have to select a site that was probably the most valuable in the world. One speaker declared that no property was too valuable for a memorial to the soldiers. The hearing closed without the board taking action.

After the discussion the board postponed until Mayor Hylan's return action on the proposal to levy two-thirds of the cost of the construction of the Classon Avenue, Brooklyn, sewer on the city and one-third on the area benefited.

SOLDIERS EAGER FOR LAND.

15,023 Have Taken Canadian Claims, Mostly in the West.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—Soldier settlement of land in Canada is progressing rapidly, especially in the three western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, according to reports received at headquarters of the Soldier Settlement Board here.

Reports from district superintendents state that the new settlers have entered enthusiastically into their new work, which now has passed the experimental stage.

A total of 15,023 service men so far have taken advantage of the movement. Under favorable conditions, it is estimated the annual production should average at least $2,000 for each man.

DANCE FOR CHARITY AT COSMOPOLITAN

Many Young Members of Society Attend Benefit at Club—The Dinner Hostesses.

YALE FRATERNITY SUPPER

Society of Illustrators Gives a Stag Entertainment, and Fine Art Students Stage a Musical Revue.

An interesting dance was held last night at the Cosmopolitan Club for the benefit of the Children's Canteen and Clinic of the Warren Goddard House. There was a large attendance and bridge was a side attraction. Dinners were given preceding the dance by Mrs. Chauncey B. Garver, Mrs. Harley Lord Stowell, Mrs. James Lenox Banks, Jr., Mrs. Henry Morgan Post, Mrs. Louis de Bebian Moore, Mrs. William E. Wheelock, Mrs. Howard Carroll, and Mrs. Howland B. Jones.

Attending the dance were the Misses Anna Alexander, Deborah Bigelow, Symphorosa Bristed, Grace Bristed, Caramai Carroll, Rosalie Coe, Mary Cushman, Margaret Geer, Emily Gilbert, Helen Goodwin, Alice Goddard, Dorothy Hamilton, Cordelia Hepburn, Gertrude Hoyt, Sylvia Hoyt, Margaret Hutchins, Barbara Kissel, Anne Moore, Christina Nichols, Edith Pine, Frances Riker, Elizabeth Russell, Audrey Riker, Margaret L. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Marshall J. Root, Jr., were at the head of the Committee of Arrangements for the Yale Fraternity supper and dance which was held last night at Delmonico's. About 250 members of the fraternities attended.

The Society of Illustrators, of which Charles Dana Gibson is President, gave their 1920 stag entertainment at the Waldorf-Astoria last night. Appearing in a program of novelties and a playlet were F. C. Cooper, Tony Sarg, C. H. Wright, J. M. Flagg, Frank Godwin, William Arthur Brown and C. D. Williams.

The students of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art staged a musical revue last night at Leslie Hall, Eighty-third Street, just west of Broadway. Louis Press wrote the words and music of the revue with the exception of one song. "The Curse of Temperament," "The Goddess of Art" and "The Golden Touch" were among the scenes that showed off to advantage the scenery and the costumes, painted and designed by the students.

MRS. SANDE-BAKHUYSEN WED FOR THIRD TIME

New York Friends Learn That She Married R. A. D. Cort van der Linden in Edinburgh July 21.

Friends of Mrs. Adriaan van de Sande-Bakhuysen in this city only recently learned that she had married again. On July 21 last she was married to R. A. D. Cort van der Linden, in Edinburgh, Scotland, and they are now residing at The Hague. No formal announcement has been made of their marriage here.

This is Mrs. van der Linden's third marriage. On Dec. 7, 1908, she was married in Grace Cruch to George Borwick, son of Sir Robert Borwick of England, from whom she obtained a divorce in the Summer of 1913, in London.

On Feb. 18, 1915, she became the bride of Mr. van de Sande-Bakhuysen, Consul General of the Netherlands at New York, who was her senior by fifteen years. Among the guests at their wedding was the Minister of the Netherlands from Washington, D. C. Later they went to Singapore, where her husband was Consul General of the Netherlands.

She was formerly Miss Mary Mason Hasell of this city, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cruger Hasell, and is a direct descendant of John Cruger, who was Mayor of New York from 1739 to 1744.

ALICE MOFFITT TO WED.

Engaged to J. J. Pulleyn, Banker's Son—Both Served Overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Moffitt of New York and Larchmont announced yesterday the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Moffitt, to John W. Pulleyn, a son of John J. Pulleyn, the President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, of 302 West 107th Street.

Miss Moffitt served during the war as a nurse in France for eighteen months, first at Dr. de Payis's hospital at La Panne, and later at Dr. Joseph A. Blake's hospital in Paris. Mr. Pulleyn, who was graduated from Columbia in 1912, went overseas and was a Captain in the artillery with the 27th Division.

No date has been named for the wedding.

Brundage—Brower.

The marriage of Byron E. Brundage, a son of Mrs. Celia A. Brundage of 316 West Ninety-seventh Street, this city, and Miss Lucy P. Brower, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel J. Brower of 811 Rugby Road, Brooklyn, took place at 8:30 last evening in St. Mark's M. E. Church, Brooklyn, the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Moore officiating. Mrs. Archibald McKeige was the matron of honor and the Misses Harriet Robinson and Ruth T. Adams were the bridesmaids. Darius C. Brundage was his brother's best man and the ushers were Archibald McKeige, Roy Low, Everett Ludwig and Frank Kiendl. There was an informal reception in the church for the church guests, and only the relatives and a few intimate friends attended the reception at the bride's home.

Webb—Currier Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Webb of Greenwich, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Catherine McCord Webb, to John R. Currier, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Currier of Newark, N. J. Mr. Webb is Vice President of the James F. Hughes Company of New York.

Denies Countess Szechenyi Seeks Divorce.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MRS. DANIEL G. REID WINS DIVORCE SUIT

Jury Returns Verdict in Five Minutes in Action Brought by Financier.

DECREE WILL COME LATER

Maids Testified That Husband Entertained Modiste and Nurse in Wife's Absence.

It took a jury in the Supreme Court less than five minutes yesterday to return a verdict for Mrs. Margaret Carrere Reid for a divorce from Daniel G. Reid, financier. The suit was brought by Mr. Reid against his wife. She filed a counterclaim, and when he abandoned his charges it remained only for the jury to determine whether the testimony of maids in the Reid apartment at 907 Fifth Avenue concerning visits there of Mme. Georgette, a modiste, of 9 East Fifty-sixth Street, and of Miss Irene Corbett, a nurse, was sufficient ground for a decree.

The evidence and decision of the jury will go before a Supreme Court Justice for confirmation and a decree will be granted. The decree will not make any provision for the support of Mrs. Reid, in view of the fact that when the couple separated last Spring they made an agreement by which Mrs. Reid got $200,000 outright and $30,000 a year.

Although the charges against Mrs. Reid were not pressed she was called to the stand to deny the allegations that she was guilty of improper conduct with Captain Sampson Tchernoff of the Serbian Army in New York and San Francisco last April. Justice McAvoy in his charge to the jury directed them to return a negative answer to the question as to whether she had been guilty of the conduct alleged in the complaint.

Acted as Own Model.

Edmund L. Mooney, attorney for Mrs. Reid, read into the record the deposition of Amanda Gunnison, personal maid for Mrs. Reid, taken last December, in which she said Mme. Georgette became a caller at the Reid apartment to show Mrs. Reid articles of lingerie, and that on these calls she usually met Mr. Reid also. On one of the visits Mrs. Reid went to the theatre and left the modiste there, the maid said. While she was showing the garments to Mr. Reid the maid heard him ask if she "had brought any models," and the modiste replied: "No, I prefer to be my own model."

The modiste then displayed a transparent petticoat for Mr. Reid, the witness said. Miss Gunnison testified concerning a week's visit of Mme. Georgette to the apartment in December, 1918, while Mrs. Reid was at Atlantic City, concerning which Tillie Olson, a maid, testified on Thursday. She said that Mme. Georgette directed the butler, James, to summon a hairdresser and masseur, because she wanted to "make herself presentable to Mr. Reid." She told of a telephone call from Mme. Georgette the first day of the week's stay, in the course of which the modiste said she wanted the bed in the "blue room" prepared for her because she intended to sleep "in exactly the same place where Mrs. Reid sleeps."

From Illness to Merriment.

Miss Gunnison said she was summoned one day to attend Mme. Georgette, who appeared to be hysterical and said she was ill. The maid suggested calling a physician but the modiste said, "No, call Mr. Reid." Mr. Reid came in his dressing gown and the modiste threw herself in his lap, the witness said. The maid then made up the bed at Mr. Reid's direction.

"When I left she was sitting on his lap with her arms about his neck and was laughing."

Miss Gunnison explained a quarrel with the modiste by saying, "I was hired as personal maid for Mrs. Reid and I did not consider it my duty to wait on Mr. Reid and another woman."

Vivi Sandstrom, a waitress, corroborated the testimony of the two maids and told how Mrs. Reid ordered the modiste from the house when she returned from Atlantic City and found her there.

In summing up his case Mr. Mooney said:

"I can imagine no worse instance of insensate brutality than where a man makes charges in a divorce action and fails to press them."

W. M. K. Olcott, for Mr. Reid, retorted that the financier showed rather a chivalrous spirit in deciding to permit his wife to get the divorce if her testimony warranted it, instead of annoying her with the charges against her.

DIVORCED WIFE SUES BRIDE

Mrs. Wilson Asks $100,000 for Alienation of Affections.

Through the belated filing in the Supreme Court yesterday of a summons served at the Waldorf-Astoria six months ago it became known that Mrs. Laura Cave Wilson, who has been prominent in the Southern Society here and was one of the founders of the Texas Society, is suing Mrs. Bertha Lobit Wilson, daughter of a banker at Galveston, Texas, and said to be worth $7,000,000, for $100,000 damage for alienating the affections of Hunter L. Wilson, an insurance man.

The plaintiff has also started suit here against her former husband to recover $30,000, which she says she advanced to him out of her own funds during eighteen years of married life. Through her attorney, Joseph M. Hertzberg, she alleges that her husband devoted but little time to the insurance business and was chiefly interested in making himself popular with those he met.

Mrs. Wilson alleges that after the money she received from her father, Major Cave, a Dallas, Texas, railroad man, had gone, her husband left her here and went to Galveston, where he met Miss Lobit. He started suit for a divorce there, and after he had obtained a decree, because his wife did not appear in the action, he married Miss Lobit.

The first Mrs. Wilson is now supporting herself by conducting a tea room at 270 Madison Avenue. Wilson and his second wife are living in New Orleans. The plaintiff will not sue to set aside the divorce, she said.

KENDALL HEADS EDUCATORS

National Education Association Urges Justice to Middle Class.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—Calvin M. Kendall, Commissioner of Education of New Jersey, was elected President of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association in convention here today. Other officers elected were:

Ernest A. Smith, Superintendent of Schools, Salt Lake City, First Vice President; J. M. Gwinn, Superintendent of Schools, New Orleans, Second Vice President, and Belle M. Ryan, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, Omaha, Neb., Secretary.

The keynote of the report of the Resolutions Committee was indorsement of steps to induce Congress to pass the Smith-Towner bill, providing for a Secretary of Education in the President's Cabinet, and an annual Federal school appropriation of $100,000,000 for salaries and school activities.

Another outstanding feature of the Resolutions Committee report was a plan for justice to the unorganized middle class in America, the committee declaring that domination by any class or group, capital or labor, was not to be tolerated.

PROF. ODDONE ARRIVES.

Italian Seismologist Will Study Earthquakes in Mexico.

Professor Emilio Oddone, an Italian seismologist, arrived yesterday from Naples in the liner Presidente Wilson on his way to Mexico to study recent earthquakes there for his Government. He brought with him an instrument of his own invention for the measurement of energy and motion. On the voyage he used the device to measure the amplitude, length and duration of ocean waves and their effect on the steamship's motion.

On his return from Mexico Professor Oddone expects to go to Washington to study the American system of recording earthquake shocks. The Presidente Wilson brought 40 first, 308 second and 1,211 third class passengers.

LEADERS AT MURPHY BIER.

Bishop Lines Officiates at Funeral of Ex-Governor of New Jersey.

More than 500 persons, including many leaders in public life, attended the funeral yesterday afternoon of former Governor Franklin J. Murphy of New Jersey. The services were held at his late home, 1,027 Broad Street, Newark, and although Governor Murphy was a Methodist, the officiating clergyman was Bishop Edwin S. Lines of the Newark Episcopal diocese.

The honorary pallbearers were former Governors John W. Griggs, James F. Fielder and Edward C. Stokes; Uzal H. McCarter, Robert H. McCarter, Thomas H. McCarter, Chief Justice Gummere, Justices Francis J. Swayze and Charles W. Parker, R. Wayne Parker, Richard V. Lindabury, Frederick T. Frelinghuysen, Winton C. Garrison, John J. Richardson, General Breintnall, Charles R. Flint, Dr. Edward Staehlin, Charles Bradley, William M. Johnson, A. Pennington Whitehead, John R. Hardin, T. Sanford Ross, C. G. Kidder and Robert S. Sinclair.

The State Legislature was represented by a committee, as were the Newark Board of Trade and the Murphy Varnish Company. The Union League Club of New York appointed a delegation to attend that included Charles E. Hughes, Benjamin B. Odell, Will H. Hays, Charles F. Brooker and Henry B. Quinby. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

WILLIAM P. WOLFE, connected with the Internal Revenue Office for many years, died Thursday in this city, aged 57 years.

CITY SCHOOLS LOSE THE BEST TEACHERS

Salary Committee Finds That Most of Those Resigning Have Highest Ratings.

BETTER PAY RECOMMENDED

Unsatisfactory Compensation Declared to Cause the Shortage of Instructors.

The Board of Education's special committee on teachers' salaries, appointed by President Prall, held its first session yesterday. Acting City Superintendent of Schools William J. O'Shea testified that resignations were chiefly due to the present compensation. He advocated paying the teachers in the lower grades from $1,200 to $1,400 a year and increasing the pay of those in higher grades proportionately. He presented a number of reports on the subject of salaries, maintaining that the best teachers were leaving the service because the pay was insufficient.

To learn the quality of service given by the teachers who had resigned, he said, the records of 471 teachers from kindergarten to 6B were examined. These practically showed that all who had left were rated well. The following table shows the ratings of teachers who have left the service:

Ratings.	Number.	Per Cent.
AA	115	24.4
AB+ and B+A	59	12.5
AB, BA and B+	140	29.7
B+B and BB+	50	10.6
CB+ and CC	3	0.6

The last two are the lowest ratings, and the resignations are the fewest. Of the resignations in 1919 121 were in the high schools, 886 in the elementary schools, three in the training schools and eleven in the vocational schools. In the elementary schools the largest proportion was in the 1A-6B group, which lost 753, the 7A-9B group lost 82 and the special teachers 32. Women's resignations were 832 and men's 189. The percentage among the men was 9.5, more than twice that of the women, which was approximately 4 per cent.

According to length of time the teachers who resigned were classified as follows:

Years of Service.	Elementary. M.	Elementary. W.	H. S. M.	H. S. W.	Other Schools. M.	Other Schools. W.	P.C. of T'tl.
Up to 4 years	32	158	22	15	3	4	27.3
4 to 8	15	227	13	13	..	..	31.3
8 to 12	17	140	8	7	..	..	20.1
12 to 16	14	83	4	1	..	1	12.0
16 to 20	5	42	3	..	..	..	5.8
Over 20	3	21	2	1	..	2	3.4
Total	86	671	52	37	3	7
Unclassified	25	104	21	11	2	2
Grand total	111	775	73	48	5	9

The resignations in 1919 showed a big increase. The high schools, for example, lost 121, compared with 68 in 1918, 39 in 1917 and 28 in 1916.

George J. Ryan, Chairman, announced that the committee would hold its next meeting on Monday at 8 P. M. It is his present intention to hold about three meetings each week until the investigation is finished. On Monday other Superintendents and Supervisors will be called and their views obtained. This will be continued until all of the higher officials have testified. It is Mr. Ryan's intention then to call the representatives of the different teachers' organizations. In this way, he says, all sides of the shortage of teachers and their proposed advancement in salaries will be obtained.

Skolny Clothes

FOR YOUNG MEN AND BOYS

FABRICS

The best tailoring talent is employed in the Skolny Shops, therefore it would be economic stupidity for us to supply such craftsmen with inferior fabrics.

Skolny Clothes are made of cloths that come from the foremost mill-men of England, Scotland, Ireland, and our own country. Generations of skill behind the spinning, weaving, designing and dyeing.

"All-wool" is not necessarily good wool. There are different grades of "all-wool." A manufacturer may truthfully claim that he limits his products to "all-wool," but it is well for you to know and remember that shoddy and rubbish can also be "all-wool."

Skolny exercises the greatest care and technical knowledge in the selection of fabrics — fine, live fleece firmly woven. Hundreds of swatches are examined and compared—subjected to the most critical tests—before we decide upon a single one.

We also study colorings in relation to patterns. The introduction of a discordant color, or even of a harsh tint, may destroy the charm of an otherwise attractive pattern.

Much of the refinement of Skolny Clothes may be traced to our true appreciation of color values.

The Skolny policy of choosing certain patterns for certain models is a highly developed science, based on natural and cultivated taste.

Pattern and model must complement each other, or there will be a noticeable and offensive discord.

Many Skolny Suits and Overcoats are made of fabrics whose patterns are in limited quantities, and confined exclusively to us. Hence the men and boys who wear them do not meet their duplicates copied in common qualities.

With such fabrics, patterns, colorings, models, and tailoring in Skolny Clothes, ready-for-service, to put on without the delays of repeated "fittings," there is no artistic or business reason to justify the perpetuation of custom - tailors and their exorbitant prices.

GIANTS AND YANKEES DEPART TODAY FOR SOUTHERN TRAINING CAMPS

PLAYERS TO LEAVE FOR SOUTH TODAY

Squad of Giants Starts This Morning for Training Camp at San Antonio.

YANKS ALSO MAKE GETAWAY

Huggins, Babe Ruth and Others Will Depart Early This Evening for Jacksonville.

The baseball season of 1920 opened its eyes, stretched and yawned yesterday and showed signs of consciousness. For New Yorkers this is really the opening day of the season, as both Manhattan clubs, the Giants and Yankees, will start South on their training excursions. It has been a hard Winter for the national pastime. The game was anxious to hibernate quietly in camphor, but warring club owners refused to allow it to sleep.

The American League had the most successful season the baseball lawyers have ever known. Internal strife in the ranks of the Ban Johnson circuit tied up the whole baseball machinery, and it hasn't been until the past few weeks that it looked as if any games were going to be played outside of the courtroom. Just like a squabble in a women's sewing circle, however, the club owners became tired of calling each other names and realized that the way to play the game was with a ball and bat.

The exodus of the Giants and Yankees for the sunny South is a surer harbinger of Spring than the coming of the blue birds, for sometimes the birds are late. But no matter what the weather is in Times Square, the ball players always start South at this time of the year. When the Giants get back from Texas and the Yankees from Florida the overcoats and Winter furs of New Yorkers will be packed away in moth balls.

The Giants will be the first to get away. A big squad in charge of Coach Christy Mathewson, Treasurer F. X. McQuade and Traffic Boss Eddie Brannick will leave on the Empire State Express this morning and expect to be in San Antonio on Monday night or Tuesday morning. In the party which leaves this morning will be Jess Barnes, Chick Bowen, George Burns, Benny Kauff, Frank Frisch, Sterling Stryker, Arnold Statz, Jim Cooney, Johnny Horie, Arthur White, an infielder from Washington; Jim McQuade, the Fordham pitcher, who is a cousin of Judge McQuade; Harry Burfiend and Rube Benton.

Others Join at St. Louis.

At St. Louis another big bunch of players will join the party, including Lew McCarty, Arthur Nehf, Jim Garton, Lee King, Harry Bates, Dick Kinsella, Jr., and Eddie Sicking. Arthur Fletcher, the Giants' short stop, who is at his home in Collinsville, Ind., will report a week later than the other players.

The Giants old and new who will go to San Antonio directly from their homes are Virgil Barnes, from Circleville, Kansas; Larry Doyle, Mike Gonzales and Ross Young, have spent the Winter in Cuba and will go to the training camp with Manager McGraw. They expect to arrive there on Tuesday.

Phil Douglas will go from Tracy City, Tenn.; W. W. Hubbell from Buhl, Idaho; Paul Johnson, a pitcher, from Langley, S. C.; George Kelly and his brother, Ren, will go from San Francisco; Bill Ryan from Stockton, Cal.; Sid Ross from Stawm, Texas; Earl Smith from Hot Springs, Ark.; Fred Toney from Nashville, and Jess Winters from Abilene, Texas. Frank McGuire, a new infielder, who comes recommended by Fred Snodgrass, comes from San Francisco. George Armstrong is another young infielder, from Vallejo, Cal. That concludes, baseball fans, the greatest aggregation of youthful "phenoms" ever gathered under one tent.

For some of them it is only going to be a vacation. They will have the sojourn at San Antonio and then a ride back home. Out of this large collection, however, Manager McGraw expects to find some talent good enough to stick to the big show. McGraw needs infielders and pitchers and he evidently figured that the more he corraled the better chance he had of finding one or two who could fill the bill.

Yankees Leave for Florida

The Yankees' squadron will go away this evening on the Florida Flyer. Manager Huggins has been laid up at his hotel for the past few days with a bad cold but expects to be able to start with his players. Several more new contracts piled into the Yankee office yesterday. Warren Collins, Mario De Vatalis, Bob McGraw, Walter Smallwood, Chick Fewster and Dan Murphy fell into line.

Good tidings were also received from Duffy Lewis and Bob Meusel. These two have left the Pacific Coast and will join the other players at Jacksonville on Monday. They have not signed yet, but there is no doubt that a satisfactory adjustment will be made of their salary differences. Manager Huggins expects to have definite word from Truck Hannah, Aaron Ward and Frank O'Doul before leaving for the South this evening.

In the party which will leave with Manager Huggins will be Babe Ruth, the home run slugger; George Mogridge, Herbert Thormahlen, Ping Bodie, Mario De Vatalis, Walter Smallwood, Dan Murphy, Benny Geiser and "Doc" Woods, the trainer. Shawkey and Pratt will join the party at Philadelphia and others will join at Baltimore. The first Yankee practice will be held on Monday.

MISS WALSH IS WINNER.

Defeats Mrs. Wood in Tennis Singles Semi-Finals at Palm Beach.

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27.—Miss Phyllis Walsh won in the semi-finals in the Florida tennis singles championship this afternoon in straight sets, 6—1, 6—2. She defeated Mrs. Rawson Wood of the West Side Club of New York. The victory places the Philadelphia girl's name on the Flagler cup.

In the women's doubles second round Mrs. Howard Brokaw, New York, and Mrs. C. Derham, New York, this morning defeated Miss E. Pierson, Newport, and Miss Virginia Rice, New York, 8—6, 6—2. The winning team in the afternoon played Mrs. Frederick Singer, formerly Paris champion, and Mrs. Wood, the latter team winning easily, 6—0, 6—1.

The doubles championship will be decided tomorrow afternoon when Mrs. Singer and Mrs. Wood will play Miss Walsh and Miss Katherine Force, New York.

BRAVES SELL KEATING.

Boston Nationals Dispose of Pitcher to Los Angeles Club.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—The management of the Boston Nationals announced tonight that Pitcher Ray Keating had been sold to the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League. It was said that Keating was not satisfied with the contract the Braves offered him this year. Keating formerly pitched for the New York Yankees.

Wooster to Captain Colgate.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Roy D. Wooster, 1921, of Binghamton, N. Y., has been named as Captain of the Colgate football team for next season. He succeeds James T. Laird, Captain-elect, who has left college. Laird became ineligible to represent Colgate as a result of having participated in a professional game at Buffalo last November.

Mid-Western Teams Ask for Harvard Open Football Date

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 27.—Following the request for a football game with Harvard on Oct. 9 form the University of Detroit, another has been received from Valparaiso University of Indiana, one of the largest of the Middle West educational institutions. Manager Keogan of Valparaiso, in asking graduate Treasurer of Athletics F. W. Moore for a game on Harvard's open date, stated that his team promised to be stronger than that of last year when Valparaiso won all its games, played under Western conference rule conditions, except that with Notre Dame when the South Bend team won, 7 to 0. Mr. Moore also has received from the Detroit Chamber of Commerce a request that Detroit University's application for a game be favorably considered.

TIGERS HOLD ROPER FOR 2 MORE YEARS

Head Coach of Football Will Again Have Gennert in Charge of Freshmen.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, Feb. 27.—William W. Roper of Philadelphia, head coach of the 1919 football eleven at Princeton, has been re-engaged for the next two seasons, according to an official announcement today by the Board of Athletic Control. "Red" Gennert, whose freshman football team went through the 1919 season with a clean slate, will be back next Fall to direct the destinies of the yearlings.

Coincident with this announcement the figures pertaining to the 1919 expenses for 'Varsity and freshman elevens were made public. For 'Varsity and freshman coaching, including, in addition to salaries, meals for the coaches and suits and athletic supplies for them, a total of $7,437.87 was spent. The uniforms, shoes and supplies used by the players represented an outlay of only $3,272.26. The total expenses, exclusive of traveling, amount to $10,710.13.

Roper is a graduate of Princeton of the class of 1902. He turned out Eddie Hart's championship team in 1911, and after an interim of eight years he came back to Tigertown last Autumn and gave Princeton the best team it has had since then. Roper was elected to the Philadelphia City Council last Fall while he was coaching the Orange and Black football players.

His retention indicates that Princeton's football policy is settled for the next two years at least. Roper has just been choosen a member of the Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee, to succeed Park H. Davis, also a Princeton man, and this fact will make his presence here next Fall doubly valuable.

Gennert completed his education here in 1917 and left at once to enlist in the navy. His last year of intercollegiate football was with Captain Trevor Hogg's 1916 outfit.

JIM BRADEN LEAVES YALE.

Full Back and Drop Kicker Unable to Make Up Time Lost by Injury.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 27.—Jim Braden, Yale football full back and track team star, has left college because of injuries received during the gridiron season, which compelled him to undergo hospital treatment for several weeks. Braden lost so much time and fell so far behind in his studies that he decided to accept a war degree and diploma instead of trying for the regular degree at commencement next June. Braden broke his nose and injured two ribs in the Yale-Princeton game, and reopened the same injuries in the Yale-Harvard match the next week. He has gone into business with a steel manufacturing concern.

OLYMPIC SOLONS TO MEET.

Fifteen Sports Bodies Will Be Represented March 13 at N. Y. A. C.

Athletic officials of this country who are directing the task of selecting and preparing Uncle Sam's Olympic team for the revival of the international classic at Antwerp, Belgium, this Summer, will disclose some of their plans Saturday afternoon, March 13, at the next meeting of the American Olympic Committee. The session will be held in the New York A. C..

At this meeting, it is expected, the committee, of which Gustavus T. Kirby is President, will adopt plans which will obviate the conjecturing which has to date been prevalent in discussion of American Olympic matters.

Representatives of fifteen affiliated governing sport bodies, in addition to the executive members of the American Olympic Committee, will attend the forthcoming meeting and discuss their ideas for the participation of this country in the international classic.

The following will be represented at the meeting: Amateur Athletic Union, Amateur Fencers' League of America, American Trapshooting Association, Intercollegiate A. A. A. A., Intercollegiate Conference A. A., International Skating Union, National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, National Cycling Association, National Rifle Association, United States Army, United States Football Association, United States Golf Association, United States Lawn Tennis Association, United States Navy, and United States Revolver Association.

The officials of these sports, comprising every branch of athletic endeavor in which this country will participate at the Olympic games, will report on the progress they have made thus far and disclose their plans for holding tryouts to determine Uncle Sam's representatives at Antwerp.

It is likely that the meet will be held in the Harvard Stadium, Cambridge. The date will be either July 3 or 10. This has practically been determined and will likely be formally announced at the forthcoming meeting. It was learned last night that the idea of holding the games at Philadelphia has been practically abandoned.

VAN HOUTEN LANDS IN FINAL

Jersey Golfer Will Play Perkins Today for Ormond Beach Title.

Special to The New York Times.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27—Norman B. Perkins of Williamsburg, winner of last year's tournament, will meet E. W. Van Houten of the Arcola Country Club in the final clash for the Ormond golf championship here tomorrow. These two survived the semi-final round today though both experienced close calls.

The summary:

Second Round—E. W. Van Houten, Arcola, defeated Horace Lowry, Minnekahda, 2 up; Judge J. B. Kennedy, Youngstown, defeated Paul McKeel, Fairmont, 1 up (21 holes); N. B. Perkins, Williamsburg, defeated W. C. Hartman, Detroit, 3 and 2; F. R. Van Deusen, Detroit, defeated F. R. Van Tuyl, Seattle, 1 up (20 holes).

Semi-Final Round—Van Houten defeated Kennedy, 1 up (19 holes); Perkins defeated Van Deusen, 1 up.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—David McAndless, Jr. of Chicago set a new amateur billiard record in tonight's match of the national amateur Class A 18.2 balkline tournament with Percy P. Trump of Pittsburgh. He averaged 23 1-13. The previous average record was 22 4-13. The champion played the best billiards of the tournament and triumphed over Trump, 300 to 153 in thirteen innings.

In the afternoon game Francis S. Appleby of New York had little trouble defeating Julian Rice of New York 300 to 148 in twenty-nine innings.

The evening battle was by far the most interesting played to date and marked the title holder's third straight win. His high run was an unfinished one of 108, which was preceded, in the twelfth inning, by one of 40, the cluster coming to an end on a hair line miss of a difficult shot in one corner. In the sixth inning he clicked off 54.

Trump gave the spectators a pleasant surprise when he started out in an aggressive manner, putting aside the calibre of game which has earned him the title of "average reducer." He was in excellent stroke and played exactly the type of billiards calculated to make the champion do his best.

The entire run of 108 by McAndless was made at one end of the table, brilliant balkline nursing making his play stand out. He counted on the balls from one corner to the other without driving until in the sixties a beautiful gather following his first drive. His fiftieth count in the run was a massé. His cue ball was frozen and he massed away from the first object and counted when the cue ball came back to kiss the red.

FRISCH WINS IN 93 INNINGS.

Defeats Van Arsdale, 50 to 36, at Three-Cushion Billiards.

Harry Frisch cued his way into the select circle of those who have won games in the national three-cushion championship tournament of the American Amateur Billiard Association at Joe Thum's Academy last night. He defeated G. E. Van Arsdale by the score of 50 to 36. The game lasted ninety-three innings, and, in spite of the fact that it was a long affair, it was productive of some good carrom billiards.

Frisch took the lead early, and at the end of the fortieth inning was in front by a score of 19 to 8. At that time it looked as if Frisch would make a walkaway of it. He seemed to be in much better stroke than his rival and his execution was much more accurate. But Van Arsdale found his stroke, and by making a series of remarkable shots he tied the score at the end of the fifty-second inning. The score then stood 21 to 21. Thereafter, however, Frisch injected his high runs of 6 and 5, and incidentally mixed in a few clusters of 4 points each. These enabled him to get a fairly commanding lead, and he eventually won by the comfortable margin of 14 points.

GARDNER IS DOUBLE WINNER

By winning a double-header in the metropolitan three-cushion billiard tournament at the Broadway Billiard Academy, Gus Gardner yesterday materially increased his lead for the local championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players. He now holds first place, with four games won and none lost. His nearest rival is Louis A. Servatius, who also scored a victory last night. The three matches played yesterday resulted as follows: Gus Gardner defeated H. J. Rose, 30 to 11; Gardner defeated H. Levine, 30 to 24, and L. A. Servatius defeated H. T. Turk, 30 to 27.

Five-Year-Old Girl Does Stunts as a High Diver

Five-year-old Lucille Heyworth, daughter of a Muncie (Ind.) newspaper man spending the Winter at St. Petersburg, Fla., is one of the most remarkable swimmers and fancy divers of her age or anywhere near it, assert critics who have seen her at the "Sunshine City." Little Miss Heyworth thrilled hundreds of tourists who watched her in the water sports carnival held in Tampa Bay when she dived head-first into water from the fifteen-foot breakwater wall and from the high diving board. Lucille is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heyworth. According to her father, she swam like a duck the first time he took her into the water with him.

JACK FROST WINS ICE YACHT PRIZE

Captures Third-Class Pennant by Winning Three Straight on Shrewsbury River.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, N. J., Feb. 27.—By making it three straight victories, Captain James O'Brien's Buckout-built Jack Frost, which was brought to the South Shrewsbury from Manhasset Bay, captured the third-class ice yacht championship pennant of America this afternoon. Sailing as one of the challengers under the colors of the Long Branch Ice Yacht and Boat Club, ably handled by Skipper William Buxton and William Duryee, the Jack Frost covered the twenty-mile course on the North Shrewsbury in 48 minutes.

The Imp, the other challenger, well sailed by the owner, Captain Elisha Price, who is 67 years old, with his son, Leon, tending sheet, finished second, only 16 seconds behind Jack Frost.

Neither of the defenders finished. George W. Bray's Daisy, sailed by Reuben White, with Oscar Brand tending sheet, which broke her boom in yesterday's race, parted a sprout today in the second round while sailing a good race. After temporary repairs the Daisy started again, but withdrew in the seventh round.

PRINCETON SEVEN WINS.

Conquers Quaker City Hockey Team by a Score of 3 to 2.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27. — The Princeton hockey team defeated the Quaker City aggregation by a score of 3 goals to 2 at the Ice Palace tonight. The game was fairly fast, the Tiger team showing clever defensive work.

The first goal was scored by Knox nine minutes and seven seconds after the start. He took a pass from Haight and shot it into the Quaker City net. Terry made it 2 to 0 for the Tigers when he scored near the end of the period.

The lineup:

POLY PREP GAINS TITLE IN THE TANK

Scores One More Point Than Berkeley-Irving in School Championships.

By the slim margin of one point swimmers of Poly Prep School of Brooklyn carried off the scholastic swimming championship last night at the annual Marquand School aquatic meet in the pool of the Central Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn. Representatives of this school registered sixteen points in the six events which comprised the program, leading Berkeley-Irving School, winners of the meet last year, who finished the series of events with a total of fifteen tallies. Marquand School was third with eight.

While the meet is not officially designated as a championship, it is conceded this significance through the fact that it is the only local swimming meet which is open to private and public high schools. A large crowd attended, attracted by races between the leading schoolboy swimmers of the metropolitan district.

Paul Chace, Berkeley-Irving School crack, carried off the individual laurels, gathering a brace of victories and being the heaviest point scorer for his team. Chace swam to an easy victory in the 220-yard race and in the 100-yard swim touched the finish a victor by a margin of about three yards.

The summaries:

200-Yard Relay Swim—Won by Poly Prep School (Dodd, Trowbridge, Johnson and Genthner); Marquard School, first team (Brown, Mazet, Mason and Morrison), second; Manual Training High School (Shaw, Fanning, Hilby and Arnold), third; Flushing High School, fourth. Time—1:53 2-5.

220-Yard Swim—Won by Paul Chase, Berkeley-Irving School; A. Morrison, Marquard School, second; McNutty, De Witt Clinton High School, third; Fitzgibbons, De Witt Clinton High School, fourth. Time—2:49 2-5.

50-Yard Swim—Won by Paul Genthner, Poly Prep School; H. McMuller, Erasmus Hall High School, second; Braisted, Boys' High School, third; Johnson, Poly Prep School, fourth. Time—0:26 2-5.

100-Yard Swim—Won by Paul Chare, Berkeley-Irving School; Knebel, Flushing H. S., second; Mazet, Marquard School, third; Dodd, Poly Prep School, fourth. Time—1:01.

Dive for Form—Won by Schissel, Commercial H. S., with 82.5 points; Varden, Poly Prep School, 72.1 points, second; Reynolds, Erasmus Hall H. S., 70.9 points, third; Hendrickson, Poly Prep School, 68.2 points, fourth.

Plunge for Distance—Won by Philip Copelin, Berkeley-Irving School, with 60 feet; A. Oppehofer, Textile School, 60 feet, second; D. Loewy, Stuyvesant H. S., 59 feet, third; Marsano, Manual Training H. S., 51 feet, fourth. (Copelin won on plunge-off.)

Point Score.

Poly Prep School, 16 points; Berkeley-Irving School, 15; Marquand School, 8; Commercial H. S., 5; Erasmus Hall H. S., 5; Flushing H. S., 4; De Witt Clinton H. S., 3; Manual Training H. S., 3; Textile School, 3; Boys' H. S., 2; Stuyvesant H. S., 2.

YALE FRESHMEN WIN SWIM.

Defeat Princeton, 38 to 13—Elis Are First in Every Event.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 27.—The Yale freshman swimmers tonight won from Princeton, 1923, 38 to 15. They took first in every event. Captain Jeliffe won the 50-yard race and the fancy dive, and his teammates, Marshall and Cooper, were in rare form. Marshall won the 220-yard race in 2:32 4-5 and the 100 yards. Cooper covered the 75 yards of the tank in 0:57¾. Powers of Princeton took second in the 50-yard and 100-yard races.

WOMEN'S TOURNEY IS SET FOR JUNE 14-18

Greenwich Club Links Chosen for Golf Fixture of Metropolitan Association.

Taking advantage of the only free week in June, and thereby avoiding all conflicts with other golf tournaments, the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association will hold this year's championship at the Greenwich Country Club June 14 to 18. The Executive Committee met yesterday morning with Mrs. R. Percy Thompson, the Secretary, and, in accepting the offer from the Connecticut course, determined to steer clear of the conflicts which have confused some of the arrangements in past years.

As now constituted the local linkswomen have the most satisfactory schedule in many years. The Eastern title event and the tri-city matches for the Griscom Cup will precede by one week the metropolitan championship, insuring unusually good practice and preparation for the local fixture. Moreover, the Executive Committee yesterday fixed the dates tentatively for the three interdistrict team matches, which will also come before the championship tourney at Greenwich. Long Island women will clash with the New Jersey fair ones in team matches on a Jersey couse on May 12. The Westchester-Long Island meeting will be held on Long Island May 19 and the New Jersey-Westchester encounter will be held in Westchester May 26. The course for each of the team matches will be named soon. It is not expected that any change in these three dates will be necessary.

Among the innovations to be inaugurated at Wykagyl this season will be one that will meet with doubtful favor among golf professionals. Wykagyl plans to take away from the professional the customary privilege of selling balls, sticks and accessories and to put the pro under a straight salary. Indeed, so radical is the contemplated change, that even the duties of instructing novice players will be determined by the club. The pro will merely fill assignments in his daily program and all fees for instructing will go into the club's treasury. It was learned last night that the P. G. A. is to discourage such a tendency emphatically, and that some of its officials may request the Wykagyl Directors to abandon their plan.

Wykagyl proposes expenditures of approximately $50,000 this season on the links and club house. Alex Smith, the veteran pro, recently left Wykagyl after many years of service. He will continue his professional services for Belleair and at Shennecossett, New London.

LEO DIEGEL LEADS FIELD.

Barnes, Brady, Hutchison and Others Trail in Deland Open Golf.

Special to The New York Times.

DELAND, Fla., Feb. 27.—With a total of 144 for the thirty-six holes, Leo Diegel, of the South Shore Country Club of Chicago, led a field of twenty professional golfers in the first day of an open tournament here today. He scored 71 on his morning round and had 73 for the afternoon.

Five of the leading pros of the country tied for second place with 145. They were Mike Brady, Oakland Hills; Jock Hutchison, Glen View; Jim Barnes, Sunset Hills; Charlie Hoffner, Philmont; and Wilfred Reid, Wilmington.

Eddie Loos, of Ravisloe, was the only other player to do better than 150. His total was 149. Owing to the fact that he did not arrive until noon, Loos was allowed to play both of his rounds in the afternoon.

Walter Hagen, the open champion, who recently arrived in Florida, did not appear for the tournament.

FORT BLISS REGISTERS FIRST VICTORY OF WINTER SEASON IN FEATURE RACE AT NEW ORLEANS

FORT BLISS SCORES AT JEFFERSON PARK

Billy Kelly's Half Brother Defeats Duke John by a Length in Feature Event.

RIB PROVES A GOOD THING

Pays Backers 30 to 1 in Registering His First Victory of the Winter Racing Season.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 27.—J. R. Skinker's Fort Bliss, which had not won a race since late in the Autumn meeting at Bowie, when he took the measure of Grimalkin, Kashmir and a few other good sprinters, came to life here today and scored very handily in the feature event at Jefferson Park. This was a race at a mile, with allowances, and the five-year-old half brother of Billy Kelly stepped the distance in 1:39 4-5 in defeating Duke John a length. Irish Kiss took third in a driving finish.

Fine weather again prevailed for the racing, and the public found some solace in the fact that the favorites met a kinder fate than they had experienced in the last few days. Four of the choices managed to get home in front, but the string of successes was punctuated by at least one long shot, which paid 30 to 1.

The long shot of the day came in the sixth race, which was for three-year-olds at a mile and seventy yards, when Rib got home in one of the closest finishes of the day at 30 to 1, defeating Challenger and Foreclosure among others in a field of fourteen starters. Rib had not won a race all Winter and so was overlooked. The winner was far out of it in the early stages of the race while Nellie Witwer was setting the pace. He was as far back as tenth going through the back stretch, but he moved up steadily on the outside and saving ground at the turn disposed of Foreclosure and fought it out with Challenger, just gaining the decision in the last stride by a head. Challenger had about the same margin over Foreclosure for the place, although the latter had tired and was dropping back.

As close finishes were to be the rule of the day the first one very properly came in the opening event when Freddie got home a head in front of Coombs in the three-and-a-half-furlong dash for two-year-olds. Freddie saved ground all the way after getting away from the barrier in front of the others, but was never safe until he reached the end.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For maiden two-year-olds; claiming; purse $600; three and a half furlongs. Freddie, 115 pounds (Kelsey), 3 to 2, 3 to 5 and 1 to 3, first; Coombs, 115 (Myers), 5 to 1, 2 to 1 and even, second; Tutt, 115 (Murphy), 9 to 2, 8 to 5 and 4 to 5, third. Time—0:43. Josephine K., Pauline Solomon, Kohoma, Miss Adrianne, Twinkle Blue, Boss Welch, Vera Twyford, Kayman and Margarete Rose also ran.

SECOND RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; six furlongs. Onico, 101 pounds (Richcreek), 11 to 5, 4 to 5 and 1 to 2, first; Bellringer, 111 (Butwell), 4 to 1, 8 to 5 and 4 to 5, second; The Gallant, 104 (Stack), 8 to 1, 3 to 1 and 8 to 5, third. Time—1:14 2-5. New Model, Silvey Shapiro, Sir John Vergnel, Columbia Tenn, Pleasureville, Prosperos Baby, Marasmus, Wall Street, Huntemann and Celtiva also ran.

THIRD RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; one mile and a sixteenth. Goldvale, 96 pounds (Richcreek), 13 to 5, even and 1 to 2, first; Goldcrest Boy, 104 (Zoller), 2 to 1, 4 to 5 and 1 to 3, second; Caballo, 108 (Rodriguez), 10 to 1, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time—1:47 1-5. Charming, W. H. Buckner, Bubbling Louder, Capital City and Twinlwin also ran.

FOURTH RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; purse $600; five furlongs. Toe the Mark, 112 pounds (Thurber), 7 to 1, 3 to 1 and 8 to 5, first; Stepson, 112 (Smith), 7 to 1, 3 to 1 and 8 to 5, second; Tattle, 103 (Rodriguez), 4 to 1, 2 to 1 and even, third. Time—1:00 2-5. Maiden Voter, Talisman, Ace of Trumps, Cormoran, Jean Bullant, Our Birthday, Rainbow Girl, Magikon, Yvette, Ula and Gorham also ran.

FIFTH RACE—For three-year-olds nd upward; purse $700; one mile. Fort Bliss, 111 pounds (Lyke), 2 to 1, 9 to 10 and 2 to 5, first; Duke John, 112 (Thurber), 6 to 1, 5 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; Irish Kiss, 111 (Morris), 8 to 1, 3 to 1 and 6 to 5, third. Japanese Show Aptitude in Playing Ice Hockey Surprising strides have been taken by the young Japanese population on the Pacific Coast in the different sports which are so popular with their white brothers. The Asahis, a Vancouver Japanese athletic club, are playing our games with considerable success. Last Summer the baseball team showed some real class against local and outside teams.

This Winter the Japs have taken to ice hockey. The sport is new to them, but they are mastering the finer points of the game. The little goal-tender of the Asahis has shown that he has the making of a player by his clever handling of some hard shots.

BILL M'CLOY WINS MEXICO HANDICAP

Gains His First Victory in Nearly a Year in 5½-Furlong Sprint at Havana.

HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 27.—Bill McCloy, who was sold last Fall for $6,000, finally found a field that he could beat and rewarded his owner by scoring in clever fashion in the Mexico Handicap, a five and one-half furlong sprint, the feature of the card at Oriental Park today.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—Purse $600; for maiden 3-year-olds; 5½ furlongs. Herron, 114 pounds (H. CRESCENT FIVE WINS GAME.

Defeats De La Salle Alumni at Basket Ball—Score, 62 to 14.

The Crescent A. C. basket ball team scored an easy victory last night at the club gymnasium, defeating the De La Salle Alumni quintet by the score of 62 to 14. The Crescents went to the front early and led at the end of the first half by the score of 31 to 6.

The lineup:

CRESCENT (62).		DE LA SALLE A. (14)
Stannard	R. F.	Kuzer
Kinney	L. F.	J. Shanley
McTigue	C.	Duffy
Butler	R. G.	Meenan
Dayton	L. G.	O'Brien

Goals from floor—Stannard (5), Kinney (3), Parmelee (4), McTigue (4), Butler (3), Dayton (3), Griffin (4), Heath, Meenan (3) Lyons (2), Kuzer (2). Goals from foul—Kinney (7), Parmelee.

Substitutions—Crescents: Griffin for Stannard, Parmelee for Kinney, Heath for Dayton. De La Salle Alumni: Sullivan for Kuzer, Lyons for Shanley, Ryan for Lyons, Halpin for Duffy.

Referee—Dr. Dayton, Crescent A. C. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

BARNARD WINS ANOTHER.

Defeats Dean Academy Quintet, Making 17 Straight Victories.

The Barnard School basket ball team gained its seventeenth consecutive victory of the season last evening, easily defeating the Dean Academy five of Franklin, Mass., holders of the interscholastic championship of New England for the last three years, by a score of 26 to 15 on the former's court. Both teams played well, but the superior floor work of Barnard, and the accurate shooting of Bolles, who accounted for eighteen of his side's twenty-six points, were the outstanding features of the contest. The score at half time stood 15 to 1 in favor of Barnard.

The lineup:

BARNARD (26).		DEAN (15).
Bolles	L. F.	Barows
Bender	R. F.	Kenney
Bellinger	C.	Hatch
L. Farrell	L. G.	Richards
Hubbell	R. G.	Dufor

Goals from floor—Bolles (5), Bellinger (4), Kenney, Richards (4). Goals from foul—Bolles (8), Kenney (5).

Substitutions—C. Farrell for Bender, Hedges for Barows.

Referee—Mr. Hastings of De Witt Clinton. Time of halves—Fifteen minutes.

CRESCENT A. C. ACCEPTS.

Will Compete in National Basket Ball Tournament at Atlanta.

The Crescent Athletic Club basket ball team will be one of the competitors in the national championship tournament to be held at Atlanta, Ga., March 10 to 13. The Crescents, who have been consistent winners this season, have been invited by the A. A. U. to compete at Atlanta, and the invitation has been accepted.

The Rutgers College quintet previously accepted an invitation, and it is understood that New York University may be represented at the tournament. Teams from the Los Angeles A. A. and the Illinois A. C. will also be represented.

COLT BY SUN BRIAR.

Chestnut Son of Kilmer Racer Is Foaled by Conference.

Another of the get of W. S. Kilmer's great racer, Sun Briar, has been foaled at Sun Briar Court, near Binghamton, N. Y., according to word received yesterday from trainer Simon Healy. This is a chestnut colt out of Conference, a half sister of Whisk Broom 2d, and Healy reports that it is a fine-looking youngster. This is the second foal of the year from Sun Briar, the other being a filly out of My Friend.

Healy is training a two-year-old full brother of Sun Briar, which is named Sun Brae, and which will go to the post this season. He will shortly make a visit to Remlik Hall, Mr. Kilmer's place in Virginia, to look after a number of yearlings by Assagai, which are said to be very promising youngsters.

TIGER RALLY BEATS CORNELL FIVE, 31-26

Dickinson and Legendre Turn the Tide After Princeton Had Trailed in First Half.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BASKET BALL LEAGUE STANDING.

College.	Games.	W.	L.	P.C.
Pennsylvania	6	6	0	1000
Yale	8	5	3	.625
Princeton	7	4	3	.571
Cornell	7	3	4	.429
Columbia	6	1	5	.167
Dartmouth	6	1	5	.167

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 27.—After trailing at half time by 18 to 11, Princeton's basketball team, playing a fighting aggressive game, nosed Cornell's big red team out at the finish here tonight. The final score was 31 to 26.

The game was featured by spectacular long shots, especially on the part of the Ithacans, until Dickinson got the range for the Tigers toward the close of the game. Porter and Molinet flashed a exhibition of great playing for Cornell. They made shots bordering on the impossible, and their work was almost sufficient to turn the tide. Dickinson, however, matched both with four field goals.

Legendre's playing, his foul shooting in particular, saved the day for Princeton. He tossed them in with monotonous regularity, while Sidman was uncertain and missed many chances.

The lineup:

PRINCETON (31).		CORNELL (26).
Hynson	R. F.	Porter
Opie	L. F.	Molinet
Dickinson	C.	Rippe
Legendre	R. G.	Sidman
Wittmer	L. G.	Spader

Field goals—Dickinson (4), Hynson (3), Legendre (3), Wittmer, Porter (4), Molinet (4), Rippe. Foul goals—Legendre, 9 out of 12; Netts, none out of 1; Sidman, 8 out of 15.

Substitutions—Cornell: Shepherd for Molinet, Knauss for Shepherd. Princeton: Margetts for Legendre, Netts for Opie.

Referee—Mr. O'Shea of West Point. Umpire—Mr. Cartwright of Philadelphia. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

EASY VICTORY FOR ELIS.

Yale Basket Ball Five Doubles Dartmouth's Score, 42 to 21.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 27.—Yale doubled Dartmouth's score tonight, rolling up 42 points to 21 in a basket ball game which lacked excitement from its one-sided nature.

Yale plunged into a winning lead within five minutes and accumulated 25 to 7 points at recess. With the outcome certain, both teams used substitutes in the final ten minutes of play, and the brilliant team game exhibited by the Elis in the early stages lapsed.

Captain De Forest Van Slyck and Bob Hamill for the winners displayed brilliant goal shooting, the former finding the hoop for six, the latter for five baskets from the floor. Van Slyck had an off night in his foul tries, missing on five out of eleven chances.

The lineup:

YALE (42).		DARTMOUTH (21).
Van Slyck	L. F.	Akey
Alderman	R. F.	Yuill
Hamill	C.	Chamberlaine
Flynn	L. G.	Browne
Cohen	R. G.	McDermott

Goals from floor—Yale: Van Slyck (6), Alderman (3), Hamill (5), Cohen (4). Dartmouth: Browne (6), Yuill. Goals from foul—Van Slyck (6), Browne (7).

Substitutions—Yale: Crane for Alderman. Dartmouth: Tracey for Yuill, Sample for Chamberlaine.

Referee—Tom Thorpe, Columbia. Umpire—Mr. Koch, Yonkers. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

RUTGERS BEATS CARNEGIE.

Registers Decisive Victory in Basket Ball by 46 to 26.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 27.—By nearly twice as many points, the Rutgers five subdued Carnegie Tech this evening on the Ballantine Gymnasium court. The score was 46 to 26.

French was the surprise of the evening. He scored five baskets, and his floor work and dribbling were good.

The lineup:

RUTGERS (46).		CARNEGIE (26).
Benzoni	R. F.	Gibson
Taliaferro	L. F.	Harrimann
Hall	C.	Corey
French	R. G.	Moon
Meury	L. G.	Lynn

Goals from floor—Benzoni (4), Taliaferro (4), Meury (7), French (5), Gibson, Harrimann (4), Corry, Lynn (3), Hall, Moon. Goals from foul—Taliaferro (6), Lynn (4).

Substitutions—Rutgers: Dettlinger for Hall, Baker for Benzeni, Doonan for French. Carnegie—Godden for Moon.

Referee—Ed Shaw, Bayonne Y. M. C. A. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

SPORTING SPANIELS BOW BEFORE DURBAR

Mepal Kennels' Entry Adjudged Best in First Show of A. S. C. Held Since 1908.

After a lapse of twelve years, the American Spaniel Club resumed its activities at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday with the largest and finest assortment of sporting spaniels ever put on exhibition in America. This was the club's third specialty show, the other two having been held in Atlantic City, with the late H. R. Bloodgood as judge.

The progress made in the interval was amply attested by the fact that there were yesterday 147 dogs in the ring, as against an entry of seventy-two on the former occasion. Of the total number 144 were cocker spaniels, with only two clumbers and one Irish water spaniel.

The Mepal Kennels landed the top honors yesterday when champion Durbar, bred by F. W. Lewis, and a son of Calmo Don Carlos and Calmo Climo, was adjudged by C. F. Neilson of New York the best in the show and winner of the Grand Challenge Trophy. The same kennels scored heavily with other entries in most of the regular classes.

There was general satisfaction at the consistent success of W. T. Payne's dogs, the awards of the recent Westminster show being thus amply vindicated in far more exacting competition. On the female side something of a sensation was caused by the rapid advance of J. R. Beard's Brookside Cordelia from first in the novice class to winners among the parti-colored specimens.

The awards follow:

TENNIS SOLONS SET DATES FOR SEASON

Metropolitan Association Adopts Schedule for Tournaments to Begin on May 8.

A meeting of the Metropolitan Tennis Association, made up of tennis clubs within thirty miles of New York City, was held yesterday, to arrange matches between the clubs for the coming season. The meeting was presided over by Charles E. Chambers, representative of the Kings County Tennis Club.

It was recommended unanimously to hold doubles tournaments on different days from singles tournaments and to begin the matches earlier, so that it will be unnecessary to play during the early evening hours.

The following dates were arranged for tournaments in the coming season: Harlem, May 8; Yonkers, May 29; Montclair, June 12; New York Lawn Tennis Association, June 19; Kings County, June 26; University Heights, July 3, and Hoboken, Sept. 11. All these tournaments will last a week following the opening dates.

The final matches between the clubs will be held on Sept. 17, the same date as last year. The committee announced that all the dates are subject to change and that the matches this year will have the sanction of the National Lawn Tennis Association.

NAME A. A. U. DELEGATES.

Will Represent U. S. in International Athletic Councils.

The names of five officials of the Amateur Athletic Union were yesterday submitted to the A. A. U. Board of Governors for approval as representatives of this country in the councils of the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Samuel J. Dallas, President of the A. A. U., heads the list of potential representatives. The others are Gustavus T. Kirby, President of the American Olympic Committee; Frederick W. Rubien, Secretary of the A. A. U.; Everett C. Brown of Chicago and Joseph B. Maccabe of Boston.

Conductor, Louis Hasselmans.

The Chicago Opera Company, on the eve of its departure from the Lexington Theatre, produced there last night one of the most elaborate of its novelties, Camille Erlanger's opera of "Aphrodite." It was the first performance of the opera in this country, for the company had never given it in Chicago. There was the purpose, apparently, to make the occasion a sensational one, if not in a musical way, at least in some other. In expectation of accomplishing this the prices for the evening had been largely increased.

The current performance of the spectacular "Aphrodite" at the Century Theatre may have been expected by the management to stimulate, educate and guide the public taste toward an appreciation of the operatic version. Then there was Miss Mary Garden as the heroine, the original representative of the part in the first Paris performances, now some fourteen years ago, who has since then largely enhanced her reputation by depicting the same sort of individual in other operas, more musical if less sensual in character.

All in all, the public interest seems to have been jogged; and there was a large audience that occupied all the seats and all the boxes. It applauded duly at the appropriate points; it summoned forth the principal singers and the conductor, Mr. Hasselmans. But it would be extravagant to call it an enthusiastic audience or to see in its manifestations a great admiration for the opera.

First Produced in Paris in 1906.

"Aphrodite" was first produced at the Opéra Comique in Paris on March 27, 1906. Miss Garden then took the chief part in it. In the original cast, as the jailer, was Mr. Huberdeau, one of the baritones of the present Chicago company. The composer, Camille Erlanger, is unknown in this country by any other work, though he is the author of several operas, one of which, "Le Juif Polonais," had some success in Paris some years ago. His death occurred last year.

The libretto of "Aphrodite," the opera, like the play that has been on exhibition in New York for several months, is drawn from the novel by Pierre Louys, somewhat toned down in the process, an operation for which there was much necessity.

The story relates the adventures of Demetrios, a famous young sculptor of Alexandria, in the period of its greatest luxury and decadence, and Chrysis, a Galilean courtesan whom he meets on the great quay of the city. Demetrios had been scornful of women; her resplendent beauty, especially when she refuses his advances, inflames his passions. She will be his only if he presents her with three gifts, the mirror of Bacchis, which he must steal; the comb of Touni, the high priest's wife, whom he must kill to get it; the necklace that adorns the statue of Aphrodite, possession of which involves sacrilegious violation of the temple.

Festival of Aphrodite

He has sworn to get these things. It is the first day of the festival of Aphrodite; courtesans throng her temple, bringing gifts and asking favors. Chrysis asks no favors, sure of the word of Demetrios. And indeed he is there, hidden in the temple; and when the crowd has gone he despoils the goddess's image and flees.

In the third scene there is a great crowd holding festival at the house of Bacchis, in honor of the sale of Corinna, one of her slaves, causing great jealousy to her six sisters. One of them, having discovered the theft of the mirror, charges Corinna with it. Notwithstanding her protestations of innocence, Corinna is then and there promptly crucified, with the inexorable swiftness of a Kentucky lynching bee.

Demetrios is alone in his studio in the fourth scene. Of a sudden Chrysis enters, radiant with joy and expectation, throwing herself into Demetrios's arms and asking for the three jewels. He gives them; she is happy, and they sing a long love duet. Cries are heard outside in the street. The crimes are known. Demetrios tears himself from her embraces in a sudden tempest of revulsion. He makes Chrysis swear—not by Aphrodite, for she is a Galileean, but by Jehovah, Israel's God—that she will wear the jewels in the streets of Alexandria, and it will be certain death for her to appear with them in the city.

But she keeps her word. In the next scene a crowd around the great lighthouse of Alexandria is excitedly discussing the thefts, the murder, the sacrilege, that have become known. Suddenly Chrysis appears on a gallery of the lighthouse, holding the mirror and clad in the two jewels and little else. The crowd below, at first thinking her Aphrodite, sing her praise as a goddess, but soon recognize the courtesan and she is seized and hurried to prison.

There, condemned to drink the deadly hemlock, she hopes to see Demetrios again before she dies, as he has promised she shall. The jailer comes with the fatal cup, refusing her more time. She drinks it and dies, just as Demetrios arrives too late.

The last scene shows only two women, Rhodis and Myrto, in the sacred grove of Hermanubis, carrying religiously a burden: it is Chrysis's body, which they prepare for burial.

Audience Spared the Crucifixion.

The audience was spared some of this last evening. Even in Paris the scene of Chrysis appearing on the lighthouse with the jewels was omitted, as it was here. The whole second act, depicting the temple of the goddess and the rape of her jewels, was also omitted in the performance at the Lexington Theatre. There should be some gratitude that the audience was also spared the details of the crucifixion in the third tableau, the riotous feast in the house of Bacchis. These horrors are supposed to take place in an adjoining room, though the cries of the victim the enraged shrieks of the mistress, the guests' exclamations of horror, are not lacking.

Nor was there lacking in this scene of wild and orgiastic revelry some of the wildest and most orgiastic dancing that has been seen here lately. There is, in fact, a good deal in "Aphrodite" that is not pleasant to the eye of decency, nor to its ear, when it can be understood. tI cannot be considered a misfortune in this instance that the quality of the singers' diction and the amount of orchestral covering prevent a large part of the French from being understood.

This begins in the very beginning of the first act, when the courtesans of Alexandria are exhibited on the Quai plying their trade and talking about it with very little reserve. It is successfully continued in the banqueting scene of the second act (as the opera is performed) and more or less so to the end of the opera.

Music could do a great deal for "Aphrodite" in throwing a mantle bespeaking charity over its sins. But it does little or nothing—or less than nothing. There have been few operas produced here in recent years in which the music showed so great a poverty of invention, impotence in characterization of the personages, ignoble as they all are, or failure to express or delineate the moods, feelings and passions that come to the surface in the drama.

Music Lacking in Ideas.

The listener is at a loss where to begin in enumerating the qualities of music that so fails to show any tangible substance of ideas. The one passage that has an element of beauty or quality occurs in the ballet music of the second act—and that is a quotation of the Greek folksong "Ainte, ainte koimeson," that some will remember in Mme. Sembrich's folksong programs—a slumber song distilling all the drowsy syrups of the East in its exquisite languorousness. A score whose chief merit of interest is such a borrowed one has unquestionably distinction of a certain kind.

Nor does Mr. Erlanger's orchestration add anything material to conceal the essential emptiness of the music. It is alternately thin and noisy. The composer has not arrived at expressing much of the sensuousness, the voluptuousness, the passion that fill the book; either in the orchestra or in the phrases that come from the singers' mouths. He has perhaps done himself more credit in the overture. He has devised some pretty effects of distant choruses. Even in the wild scene of the festival he has done little more than let loose a noisy orchestra.

Miss Garden's Impersonation.

In "Aphrodite" Miss Garden adds one more to her celebrated gallery of portraits of frail women, bearing a strong family resemblance to some of the others. It is a resemblance not only of type but of method; the method being that incessant and restless activity of movement, stride, pose and gesture that is a chief part of many of Miss Garden's impersonations; a stereotyped representation of character and personality as she conceives them. It would be hard to arouse sympathy for Chrysis; almost as hard to arouse interest in her. It should not be set down wholly to Miss Garden's discredit that she does not succeed in either. But there is nothing new and certainly nothing surprising in her Chrysis to a public that has become familiar with her other impersonations. Nor is there anything different, or better, in her singing of the music than is already known.

Mr. Johnson made a sincere and determined effort as Demetrios, a character fittingly associated with Chrysis, as ignoble as any that can easily be recalled in opera. He did, doubtless, what could be done in the representation of the changing moods of this unheroic figure, under the handicap of a distinctly unfortunate makeup, and sang with fervor a long and arduous part.

Of the score or so of other characters, prominence more or less brief was gained by Cyrena Van Gordon as Bacchis, Evelyn Herbert as Myrto, Irene Pavloska as Rhodis, Maria Claessens at Chimairis the fortune teller, and Edouard Cotreuil as the jailer, who sang his few lines with significant effect. The "dances," as the program called them, by Andreas Pavley and Serge Oukrainsky, have already been mentioned. Mr. Hasselmans accomplished a difficult task with success in giving life and movement to the performance by his conducting. There is not much praise to be given to the scenery, a matter in which there was opportunity for lavishness and architectural luxury.

Mme. Barrientos in "Rigoletto."

"Rigoletto" was repeated before a large audience at the Metropolitan last evening, Mme. Barrientos again singing a charming Gilda, whose delicate beauty might have wrought disaster amid a ducal court. As the Duke, Mr. Hackett also reappeared, and Mr. De Luca as the Jester, a role in which he tears no passion to tatters, yet offers a picture of artistic and strikng merit in its kind. Mr. M[illegible]oni conducted an excellent perform[illegible]

Edith Bideau, Soprano, Appears.

Edith Bideau, a soprano new to public appearance here, gave a recital in Aeolian Hall last evening, assisted at the piano by Richard Hageman. Miss Bideau began with old airs of Haydn, Bach and Handel, in which perhaps timidity accentuated a voice of delicate, even frail, though musical quality. She added modern pieces from the Russian, others in French, and lyrics by Horsman, Hageman, Zucca and Jacobi.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Mabel Taliaferro will be seen in the Shakespeare Playhouse's production of "The Piper," to be acted at the Fulton Theatre at a series of special matinees beginning March 11.

"Just a Minute," seen at the Cort Theatre earlier in the season, will be reorganized soon for a Chicago engagement. Mabel Withee and Tom Dingle will head the cast.

PEOPLE'S LIBERTY CHORUS.

In Concert Aided by New Orchestra and Marie Sundelius.

The People's Liberty Chorus gave a first concert of its Advanced Unit No. 1 last evening in Carnegie Hall, assisted by sixty men from the New Symphony Orchestra, together with an opera soloist, Marie Sunderlius, who gave an air from "Carmen," and by the chorus's honorary chairman, the Rev. Dr. Henry van Dyke, who spoke from the stage.

Dr. van Dyke praised the patriotic work of the organization during the war, and appealed heartily for support in its present aim of serving the cause of music as a safeguard to the nation. Lorenzo Camilieri, the conductor, also made an address, saying that while the scientists were intent on communicating with Mars, he would be satisfied to get people acquainted here on earth.

John A. Carpenter's "The Home Road," Moore's "Tara's Halls" and Barnby's "Sweet and Low" were printed in the program and sung by the audience at the concert's close.

Donahue Displays Humor in Recital.

Lester Donahue, who has that last gift of pianists, the sense of humor, gave a performance of MacDowell's "Keltic" sonata filled with legendary shivers, with elfin pranks—in short, more racy of the old sod than the good American MacDowell himself—in Mr. Donahue's only recital this season at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon. Spare in physique as he is of gesture, he also gave a singularly good account of serious pieces of Brahms, Schuman, Chopin, Liszt and two delightful bits, "Little Indian" and "Little Dancer," dedicated to this player by John Carpenter, composer of "The Infanta's Birthday."

Big Audience Hears Rachmaninoff.

The Philharmonic Society's week of concerts with Sergei Rachmaninoff as guest came to a climax at yesterday's sold-out matinee in Carnegie Hall, when the Russian pianist was heard in the E flat major concerto of Liszt, and the orchestra gave his fine tone-poem, "The Isle of the Dead." Mr. Stransky's long program presented also Haydn's "Surprise" symphony, Reger's variations on a theme of Mozart's, and Tschaikovsky's "Slavic March."

Otto Goritz to Sail Today.

Otto Goritz, formerly the German baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, sails today for Hamburg on the American liner Mongolia, accompanied by his wife and two daughters. He attracted attention last November as managing director of the Star Opera Company, which was organized to present German opera at the Lexington Theatre and was abandoned mainly through the vigorous protests made by the American Legion.

MUSIC NOTES.

"Parsifal" starts at 1:30 o'clock sharp at the Metropolitan today, and all late arrivals are barred from being seated during the overture and certain other parts of the drama.

Lydia Lipkowska, a Russian soprano, formerly heard with the Boston Opera Company and recently returned from her native land, will appear in "Rigoletto" at the Lexington today.

Claudia Muzio and Giovanni Martinelli will sing at a benefit for Italy's blinded soldiers, under patronage of Consul General Tritoni, at the Biltmore tomorrow night.

GET BOMB OUTRAGE CLUE.

Police Say Italian Had Circulars Like Those Near Victims' Homes.

Some hope of solving the bomb outrages of last Summer, in which Judge Charles C. Nott of this city, Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer in Washington and a number of persons in Cambridge, Mass., were victims or intended victims, developed yesterday out of the arrest of Vieto Mariani, taken into custody by members of the bomb squad and a special investigator attached to the State Attorney General's office. He was charged with criminal anarchy and held in $15,000 bail for further examination by Magistrate Tobias in Yorkville Court.

The police say they found in Mariani's rooms pink circulars, signed "K. B.," similar to those scattered in the vicinity of several places where bombs were sent. One of these circulars was headed "Plain Words." A handkerchief bearing these initials, and signed "The Fighting Anarchists," was found near Palmer's home after the explosion there. Mariani is said to have lived here ten years and to have been editor of three Italian newspapers published in a cellar somewhere on the east side.

Pageant in Aid of Hungary Mar. 14

R. H. Burnside will stage a pageant, "The Forgotten Village," which is to be given at the Hotel Commodore on Sunday, March 14, in aid of the starving children of Hungary. The pageant will be given under the auspices of the American Relief Committee for Hungarian Sufferers, which is co-operating with Herbert Hoover in raising a fund of $1,000,000.

HABIT AND IMPULSE
There are five reasons—all impulsive—why people go to the theatre:
1. Beacuse they see a bright sign
2. Because someone says the piece is good
3. Because they see a picture of the play
4. Because they suddenly recall a time when they were in love with the star, or
5. Any other reason why.
Of the millions of people who go to the New York theatres every month not one in a hundred is a habitual theatre-goer.
And yet of these millions who are prompted by impulse, an amazing percentage turn to McBride's for seats.
Why? Habit. The courtesy and promptness with which McBride's furnishes you good seats when you want them, and McBride's time-honored service fee of only 50 cents over the box office price, forges the habit of thought that McBride's is synonymous with comfortable play-going.

REPUBLICAN RIVALS STIRRING UP INDIANA

Goodrich Sees in Number of Aspirants Hope for Uninstructed Delegation.

WOOD GAINING STRENGTH

Johnson Support Said to be Increasing—Watson Watching Struggle Closely.

The Republicans of Indiana have fixed upon May 12 as the date of the State convention, to be held in Indianapolis. This was agreed upon at the meeting of their State committee on Thursday. The situation as to Presidential candidates was not revealed at the meeting, but it is a complex one, even in Indianapolis. James E. Watson, Republican, is the senior Senator from Indiana; James P. Goodrich, Republican, is Governor. The terms of both in their present offices expire in 1921—Governor Goodrich's on January 1, and Senator Watson's on March 4. Both are, or were, candidates for the nomination for President. Indiana is a pivotal State. It went for Mr. Wilson in 1912 and for Mr. Hughes in 1916.

Up to a few months ago, a decided Presidential boom was under way for Senator Watson for the Republican nomination. Governor Goodrich, also had aspirations which ran counter to those of the senior Senator. A meeting, some weeks ago, of leading Republicans called at Indianapolis, was attended by both Goodrich and Watson. Certain influences were brought to bear in the interest of party harmony, which got Watson out of the Presidential race, a contributing cause being the possible candidacy of A. J. Beveridge, former Progressive, for Mr. Watson's place in the Senate. Ex-Senator Beveridge is the old Roosevelt leader and a former U. S. Senator. It was said that Governor Goodrich looked with considerable favor on the Beveridge talk, not because he favored the Beveridge candidacy, but rather because he liked the effect it was having on the prospects of his Republican rival, Watson, for the Presidential nomination.

It was even reported that one of the Governor's political workers was one of those who was in conference with Beveridge about that time. Senator Beveridge is a stormy petrel in Hoosier politics and his return to prominence was not regarded with favor by the Republican Old Guard in that State.

Petitions Circulated for Governor.

After Senator Watson announced his formal withdrawal, Governor Goodrich had his opportunity. Some of his friends thought he should not get into the Presidential preference primary in Indiana but rather should stand with the "organization" for an uninstructed delegation. Others thought he should enter. About six weeks ago the Governor announced his name would go on the Indiana primary ballots and the work of preparing petitions for his candidacy was begun.

But, meanwhile, there seemed to spring up throughout Indiana a strong sentiment for General Leonard Wood and incidentally there was noticeable opposition to the Governor among members of his own party. Predictions were made that Mr. Goodrich might have a hard race against General Wood and might fail to win the absolute majority which the Indiana Primary law requires. It provides that the delegates shall be instructed only when a candidate gets a majority of all the votes. Otherwise there is no instruction.

The friends and former supporters of Senator Watson were not displeased with this talk. They felt that the Governor had forced Watson out of the race, so they welcomed the forces that were getting the Governor into the background. So these three conditions, a spontaneous sentiment for Wood, the hostility of some of Senator Watson's friends, and opposition to the Governor on account of certain political acts of his and certain policies of his administration, resulted in the Governor's announcement that he would withdraw from the Presidential race in Indiana and would not seek the indorsement of his own State.

Working for General Wood.

In northern Indiana General Wood has been receiving his largest support and in the Huntington district his admirers have been circulating petitions in his behalf. Among other Republicans of Huntington County taking an active part for Wood is Glenn Brown, former County Clerk. In Greencastle, Frank A. Hays, Chairman of Putnam County, and Frank Scott of Russell township, are active in the work. In Richmond, though the primary is some months off, petitions for Leonard Wood have been signed by a number of prominent Republicans. The petitions were accompanied by a letter from the temporary Wood campaign committee in Indianapolis.

The former Treasurer of Marion County (Indianapolis), Frank S. Fishback, sent this telegram from Coronado Beach, Cal., where he is stopping: "If possible, sign my name to the petition for General Wood." Caleb S. Denny, formerly Mayor of Indianapolis, brought in a petition to the Wood headquarters signed by thirty men. Oran Perry, Custodian of the Soldiers' Monument, Indianapolis, has signed the petition and the Wood supporters, though only partly organized in Indiana, are greatly encouraged by these evidences of the popularity of their candidate.

On the day the Governor announced that he would run it was announced by friends of General Wood that his name would go on the Indiana primary ballots. The Wood sentiment had been moving fast, so fast, in fact, that on the day it was announced that his name would go on the ballots no permanent organization had been formed for him, the announcement being made by a sort of preliminary committee which had been hastily organized.

When it was seen that the Wood movement was sweeping ahead the Watson men became frightened and one of the Senator's close friends, who had been pushing the Wood candidacy, issued a statement in which he complained because the Wood campaign had been taken out of his hands. The Wood movement is still going forward, with hundreds of names on the petitions for his candidacy.

Seek an Uninstructed Delegation.

This is not at all pleasing to the Governor and the State organization. The plan of the Governor and of the organization now is said to be to get as many candidates as possible into the Indiana primaries, their hope being that in this way they may prevent Wood from getting a majority of all the votes and thus send an uninstructed delegation to the convention.

So, at present, the Governor and his friends are offering encouragement to all Presidential candidates aside from Wood. Governor Lowden's representatives held a long conference with Governor Goodrich recently, and Senator Harding also has many supporters in the Governor's organization. Senator Johnson of California is also a candidate. Zell C. Swain, in charge of his Presidential campaign, declares he is receiving letters, telephone calls and personal messages telling him of high regard for Senator Johnson, but they are the reports of individuals. There is no organized Johnson movement. The greater the number of candidates the less likelihood there is of General Wood getting a majority of all the primary votes in Indiana.

An important recruit to the Wood cause is Charles A. Bookwalter, former Mayor of Indianapolis and a widely known figure in Indiana Republican politics. He telegraphed from Miami, Fla., where he has been spending several weeks, that he was for General Wood. He expects to return to Indiana to participate in the Presidential primary campaign. Mayor Bookwalter has done considerable campaigning in Presidential canvasses, and has been in demand as a speaker in other States as well as Indiana.

Louis L. Kiefer, a local Judge, has indorsed the Wood candidacy, according to his statement given out at Wood's headquarters in the Claypool. Mr. Kiefer, who was a Taft Republican in 1912, nevertheless had the most ardent admiration for Roosevelt. "I am sure," he writes in his statement, "that General Wood is the foremost public figure in America, both in the hearts of the people and the policies which he stands for. I don't feel that General Wood, by virtue of his regular army position, stands for militarism. I feel sure that he will, if placed in the White House, be an exponent of military preparedness. The Government should stand for military preparedness, for never again should this country be caught as it was in 1917, and I believe General Wood is the man to carry such a policy into effect."

Diverse Elements Favor General.

Many Republicans are quoted as saying that if the primaries were held now General Wood would get a clear majority of the votes. Some say he will get a majority of the votes in spite of all the work that may be done against him between now and the date of the primaries. General Wood seems to be gathering strength from many sources. Soldiers are strong for him, as also is the bulk of the former Progressives. But many men who were strong in their anti-Progressive tendencies are also for Wood. It is hard to explain such support from sources heretofore antagonistic.

The weak spot in Wood's candidacy in Indiana is the fact that the Republican "organization," the Old Guard, is not for him. General Wood's friends say that they are having no trouble in building a Wood organization, but the politicians who work with the "organization" in season and out believe in the power of their machine which has withstood successfully assaults from within and from without, and is the best and most concrete evidence of Chairman Hays's political handiwork. A "breakaway" in favor of an outside candidate in his own State would largely disarrange the political structure he has been building up. Meanwhile, the friends of Senator Watson and Governor Goodrich, Indiana candidates, and of Senator Harding of Ohio and Governor Lowden, of Illinois, neighboring States, are not idle. If the combined vote for Harding, Lowden and Johnson, who are entered in the spring primaries, exceeds the Wood vote, as the Old Guard leaders are sanguine it will, the delegates from Indiana will go to Chicago "uninstructed" and will vote as the "organization" advises—or directs.

Goodrich and the Irish Vote.

It is a case of Wood against "the field," with the field by no means dormant. Governor Goodrich in particular, in his address of welcome to de Valera, made, it is claimed, a bid for the Irish vote, which, while of less importance in Indiana than in either Illinois or Ohio, is strongly inclined toward the Republicans on account of the treaty controversy.

In the Congressional fight of 1918, turning largely on the treaty issue, the Republicans of Indiana, for the first time in the State's history, carried every one of the Congressional districts of the State. There are now thirteen of them, and every one is represented by a Republican. Both United States Senators are Republican—a Republican phalanx broken only by Vice President Marshall as presiding officer of the Senate.

Since the days of Oliver P. Morton and during the long political leadership of John C. New and Charles W. Fairbanks the Republican Party in Indiana has been a "machine-made" organization, substantial, impervious to progressivism, well knit and, to a great extent, boss-ridden, even if the bosses generally have been intelligent men. Since the death of Senator Fairbanks Will H. Hays, until he succeeded William R. Willcox as Chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been the recognized leader in Indiana. The situation which has arisen in his own State—Mr. Hays comes from Sullivan County, on the Illinois boundary, south of Terre Haute—involves, should General Wood be successful at the Spring primaries, a complete overthrow of the legend of political invincibility which the Republican machine has preserved so long and which is now for the first time seriously threatened.

SEVEN CANDIDATES IN OHIO PRIMARY

Only Harding and Wood Likely to be Final Republican Contestants.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 27.—Not until late on this last day of filing declarations did the managers for Senator Harding enter his name upon the Presidential preference primary by making public the lists of candidates for delegates which they are filing throughout the twenty-two districts. Some of them have Senator Johnson of California for second choice; some have General J. Warren Keifer of Springfield, and a few have Governor Lowden of Illinois, although no formal consent for the use of his name in this connection, as required by the Ohio law, has been put on record here.

The Harding managers entered former Ambassador Herrick, former Governor Willis, Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's manager, and Mayor Galvin of Cincinnati as candidates for delegates at large. Special consent was given for Galvin, who had filed his papers with General Wood as second choice.

The Wood followers entered two other candidates for delegates at large, former Attorney General Edward C. Turner and William H. Boyd of Cleveland.

The Wood men have no alternate candidates. Their second choice is James R. Garfield, who is filed as an entry in the Presidential preference primary, but will withdraw later, as will ex-Governor James E. Campbell on the Democratic ticket.

On the Democratic side James O. Monroe of Maywood, Ill., came into the contest late, but his papers do not comply with the law and may be thrown out.

A freak declaration on the Republican side was filed by Louis A. Baird of Washington, who writes that he is 42 years old and a veteran of the Spanish-American War, saying that he is qualified and wants to go to the White House "to get a wife, like Grover Cleveland." The legal requirements are not met, however.

There will be also a Vice Presidential primary, with William Grant Webster of Chicago and Elwood Washington of Hammond as properly entered.

The "Big Four" on the Cox slate is composed of former Governor Campbell, former Governor Judson Harmon, Senator Pomerene and E. H. Moore, National Committeeman. The latter serves in the place of Secretary Baker, who declined to go to the convention owing to his connection with the Administration.

The alternates at large are George S. Long of Columbus, Lazard Kahn, a Hamilton manufacturer; John L. Shuff, Cincinnati insurance manager, and William Green of Coshocton, Secretary of the United Mine Workers. The composition of the delegation is held to mean that Governor Cox appears as a candidate supported by employers and employes.

Only one woman is a candidate, the Democrats naming her in a Cleveland district—Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, whose real second choice is Herbert Hoover.

SHOPLIFTERS GO TO JAIL.

Man and Wife Worked Together, Using Bag Under Woman's Skirt.

Charles Peake and his wife, Anna, who said they lived at 2,823 Richmond Terrace, S. I., were sentenced to the workhouse yesterday by Justices Kernochan, Moss and Voorhees in Special Sessions on charges of shoplifting. Mrs. Peake was sentenced to serve thirty days and her husband to serve three months.

Their conviction was brought about by agents of the Stores Mutual Protective Association, one of whom testified that he had followed the pair into the store of the National Outlet Company, 119 West Twenty-fourth Street, and had seen them steal a suit of clothes, gloves and a pair of shoes, which were recovered from a bag concealed under the woman's skirt.

Another shoplifter, who said she was Mrs. Stasia Sloffer of 547 West 158th Street, was sent to the penitentiary for six months to three years for stealing two waists from the Fifth Avenue store of Franklin Simon & Co. on Oct. 8. Detectives of the Stores Mutual Protective Association told the court the woman was a professional shoplifter.

WOOD OPENS FIGHT TO WIN MICHIGAN

More Than 2,000 Voters Crowd Largest Hall in Jackson to Hear Him.

HARD CONTEST LOOKED FOR

Newberry and His Followers Expected to Throw Their Strength to Lowden.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 27. — Before one of the largest audiences ever assembled in this city, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood opened tonight his campaign for the Michigan delegation to the Republican National Convention. More than 2,000 persons were crowded into the hall, the largest in the city, while hundreds of others were unable to get in. More than a third of those present were women.

General Wood discussed many of the leading questions before the country, among them that of a budget system for the national Government, the merchant marine, the army and navy problems, immigration, Americanization and the League of Nations. Near the close of his speech he brought his audience cheering to its feet with a tribute to the memory of Colonel Roosevelt.

Friends of General Wood in Michigan admit that he has a hard fight in this State—a situation that is appreciated by the General, who expects to campaign the whole State between now and April 5, the date of the Michigan Presidential primaries. It would seem from the way the people talk that the fight will be between Wood and Lowden. Senator Harding has not filed in his name and it is believed he will not. This, the Wood men say, is proof of their contention that there is an understanding between the Illinois Governor and the Ohio Senator not to oppose each other in the primaries in States where General Wood is strong.

Told Newberry Opposes Him.

When Mr. Wood arrived here this evening he was informed that the Newberry machine probably will throw its strength in the primaries to Governor Lowden. The Citizen Patriot, in its issue tonight, prints a story that one of the reasons behind the reported decision of the Newberry machine to back Lowden is the fact that ex-Governor Chase Osborn and ex-United States Senator William Alden Smith, both strong Wood supporters, have not shown any sympathy for the Newberry defendants now on trial at Grand Rapids.

It is charged by Newberry adherents that Osborn was one of the first men in Michigan to make charges of the undue use of money in the Newberry primary campaign for the United States Senatorship.

It is also charged that Smith, whose home is in Grand Rapids, has ignored Senator Newberry and the other men on trial.

When General Wood was informed of the report that Newberry and his followers had gone into the Lowden camp, he made no comment. He did not appear at all worried, however, and his friends have assured him that he is the strongest man in the race so far as Michigan is concerned, and that he is gaining strength daily.

The only other speaker at the meeting tonight was Senator Charles E. Townsend, whose home is in Jackson. The Senator has not yet indicated how he stands in the Presidential race. He is a warm personal friend of General Wood and was among the first to greet him this evening.

One of the things noted tonight was the large number of A. E. F. veterans who greeted General Wood. One of these, who assured General Wood of his support, was Lieutenant Harold Furlong, the only Michigan soldier to win the Congressional Medal of Honor in France.

Gives His Policies.

In his speech General Wood held that business, large as well as small, must be given every legitimate encouragement and support, for if labor was to remain content and prosperous business must also be prosperous. Reasonable profits, just wages and increased production, the General maintained, were the answer to the high cost of living problem.

After arguing for a highly trained and efficient army of not more than 250,000 men and a navy of the first class, efficient in every sense of the word, General Wood advocated a national budget, paid a tribute to the farmers of the country, urged the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, and made it plain that he stands for the policy of Theodore Roosevelt in foreign relations—a policy, he said, that guarantees the safety of the life and property of every American citizen, no matter in what part of the world that citizen happens to be. Many of those present thought the General had Mexico in mind, although he did not mention that country by name.

Discussing the problem of immigration General Wood emphasized the necessity of the most stringent supervision and inspection, to see to it that the undesirable elements in foreign countries are not permitted to find an asylum in this country. The "Red" of all lands, he asserted, must be kept out of the United States.

On Monday General Wood will begin at Detroit a three days' tour of the State, after which he will go into northern New York and his home State of New Hampshire.

TAMMANY PLANS 'WET' TRIP

Delegation to Go Through Canada, Returning Via Panama.

Tammany delegates to the Democratic national convention hope to get outside the jurisdiction of the Eighteenth Amendment on their way to and from San Francisco by taking the Canadian route out and returning by way of the Panama Canal. This plans, first suggested at the Democratic State convention at Abany, met with favor among the Tammany men who returned yesterday. Arrangements for the proposed junket have been intrusted to Representative Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany.

The proposal to make a pleasure party out of the trip to San Francisco has been received with enthusiasm by Tammanyites and more than a score have expressed a desire to take their families. Among those who have agreed to join the contemplated excursion are Governor and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith and their daughter, Miss Emily Smith, and Mrs. Charles F. Murphy, Surrogate and Mrs. James A. Foley and Representative and Mrs. Thomas F. Smith and their daughter.

Two routes have been suggested for the trip to the convention. The first would be through the Canadian Rockies with a stop at Banff, a steamship trip from Vancouver to Portland, Ore., and a visit to the Yosemite Valley. The second would be by way of Denver and Salt Lake City with a stop at Eagle Canyon and four or five days in Yellowstone Park. Each of the trips contemplated would take more than a month. A preliminary canvass indicated that a party of at least two hundred might be expected.

Pershing in Michigan Primary.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 27.—General Pershing was qualified today to appear on the Republican ballot in Michigan's Presidential preference primary on April 5, with the receipt by the Secretary of State of nominating petitions carrying the required 100 signatures of his supporters.

BAY STATE CLAIMED BY WOOD BACKERS

Will Be a "Favorite Son" in District Contests, Predicts Congressman Gould.

After looking over the political situation in Massachusetts, Congressman Norman J. Gould, Eastern manager of the General Leonard Wood campaign, reported yesterday that the delegates of the State were sure to cast their ballots for General Wood for President at the Republican National Convention. Both Manager Gould and Assistant Manager Thomas W. Miller, with Congressman W. W. Lufkin, Chairman of the Wood League in Massachusetts, have been sounding out sentiment in the State.

"I have the assurance," said Mr. Gould, "that inasmuch as Governor Coolidge has announced that he is not a candidate the majority of the delegates in Massachusetts are in favor of General Wood, and as a majority sentiment of the voters of the State is undoubtedly for Wood, I have absolute reason to believe that they will support him at Chicago."

Mr. Gould said the contest for Wood delegates in the Congressional districts throughout the State would be left largely to Mr. Lufkin and the Wood Campaign Committee.

"We feel that Governor Coolidge's withdrawal is sincere," said Mr. Gould, "and that Massachusetts should now select delegates who are for General Wood as her favorite son."

At the headquarters of the Wood Campaign Committee in the Imperial Hotel word was also received that the situation in Indiana was looking very bright for the General. Frederick Moore, in charge of the committee, said word had come from Harry Hogan, Indiana manager of the Wood Campaign Committee, that the State had been organized in all of its ninety-two counties. The report, he said, indicates that throughout the State Wood will get a plurality, but probably not a majority.

"The sentiment for Wood," said Mr. Moore, "was already overwhelming in May when his name was first mentioned seriously for the Presidency. Subsequently a boom for Senator Watson and another for Governor Goodrich was launched, but the State did not rally to them and the names of both were withdrawn. The Wood boom went steadily ahead until recently, when the other three candidates entered the State."

Angus McSween, Eastern manager of Senator Hiram W. Johnson's campaign, left for Chicago yesterday to establish a central office from which the work in the Senator's behalf throughout the Middle West will be directed. He said it was not the intention of the Johnson managers to go into Illinois to compete with Governor Lowden for delegates. It was stated that there is no present intention on the part of the Johnson forces to fight for any of the "favorite sons'" delegations. They take for ganted, for instance, that New Hampshire, considered to be General Wood's home State, will send a Wood delegation to the convention.

"The situation in Ohio," said Mr. McSween, "was regarded in the same light until announcement was made that the Wood organization was to invade the State and contest for delegates with Senator Harding."

It was admitted at the Johnson headquarters that a letter had been sent Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican National Committee protesting against William Boyce Thompson's candidacy as a delegate at large in New York State.

"Mr. McSween criticises Mr. Thompson's candidacy only because of the effort that has been made to create the impression that it has the indorsement of the Republican National Committee," said Alfred Joy, assistant manager of the Johnson campaign. "Mr. McSween merely expressed the opinion that Mr. Hays, in justice to himself, should explain his position and correct any such impression. The delegates at large in New York are all good men, but the fact remains that they were chosen by a few and not by the many. There is no reason to believe that the political machine responsible for their selection is friendly to Senator Johnson."

General Pershing is expected to arrive in the city today, and to visit George A. Wood of Nebraska, originator of the Pershing for President boom, who has headquarters at the Hotel Biltmore. The General will also be met by his brother, James Pershing. He will be the guest tomorrow night of the American Legion at a benefit performance at the Hippodrome.

Arizona Conference Indorses Wood.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 27.—Indorsement by resolution of the candidacy of General Wood for President but the election of six uninstructed delegates was agreed on here today at a conference of the Chairmen of county delegations for the Republican State Convention, which opens Saturday.

121 New Classroom Heads.

The Board of Education announced yesterday the names and ratings of 121 candidates to whom licenses as teachers in a variety of subjects in the Evening High Schools have been granted. The list of tutors in Spanish, with forty names, leads in the way of numbers. Ella Russell, whose name is in the list, is the single one with a rating score of 100. There are, however, a number of close seconds among the other names. The board also sent out a list of forty names of applicants for teachers of English to Bohemians in the evening schools, that have been placed on the eligible list.

Estates Appraised.

DENBY, ISAAC (April 27, 1919). Total assets, $408,176; net estate, $157,517. The largest deduction is for the debts, $237,963, chiefly composed of notes given for the purchase of wool. Mr. Denby was in the wool business at 260 West Broadway. The cash is $9,797; personal, $225,064, the greater part of which consists of large quantities of wool, stocks and bonds, $173,315. His wife, Maude, of 170 West 74th St., receives $30,265; his son, Sumner C., of West Haven, Conn., life estate in $14,900; his sister, Sarah E. Grant of 109 Halsey St., Brooklyn, a life estate in $36,084. The Bowery Mission and the McAuley Water St. Mission get $1,000 each, and eight nephews and nieces receive $4,510 each.

MILLER, JOHN (Aug. 29, 1919). Total assets, $114,617; net estate, $108,731—real estate, $37,383; cash, $2,344; personal, $2,651; stocks and bonds, $72,337. Additional assets consist of 450 shares of John Miller, Inc., 516-520 East Seventeenth Street, which are in litigation. His wife, Pauline, of 7 Livingston Place, receives a life estate in $106,586, and there are bequests of $1,595.

SMITH, CHARLES A., of Fork River, N. J. (Aug. 30, 1918). Estate taxable in New York, $116,941—Real estate, $114,250, the largest holding being 62 West Fifty-sixth Street, valued at $55,500; personal, $2,691. His wife, Margaret, of Atlantic City, N. J., receives $81,368, and ten relatives and friends receive legacies.

STIEBEL, FRANCIS (March 19, 1917). Total assets, $118,439. Net estate, $109,178—real estatate, $400; cash, $346; personal, $273; stocks and bonds, $117,418, which is the appraised value of common and preferred stock of the Japanese Fan Co. His daughters and son, Rosebel G. Schiff and Mildred S. Wells of 2,880 Broadway and Samuel J. Stiebel of 141 5th Av. receive $36,392 each.

CLARKE, JOHN F., Brooklyn, former District Attorney of Kings County (July 22, 1919). Total estate, $293,771—mortgages, $192,538, and the balance in New York City and Liberty Bonds. The estate is equally divided between Joseph F., a brother living at 1,659 East Ninth St., and a sister, Mrs. Mary L. Shea, of 603 Second St.

Will for Probate.

ROSENBAUM, SIGMUND (Feb. 16, 1920). In his will he names his wife, son, and daughters to administer the estate. To his widow and his son Charles, 301 West 109th Street, he bequeaths his pew in the Temple Rudeph Sholom and his cemetery lot in Union Fields. To his widow is bequeathed residuary estate in trust. On her death specific pieces of jewelry and crayon portraits go to the daughter, Elsie R. Hershfield of 301 West 109th Street, and one-quarter of the residuary estate. A legacy of $12,000 goes to the son, Irving Rosenbaum of Pelhamwood, who also becomes a residuary legatee. A third quarter of the residuary estate is willed to son, Charles. The fourth quarter is equally divided between two grandsons, Lawrence and Myron Zucker of Rockaway Park. All household furniture, jewelry, works of art, &c., are divided equally between the widow, the son, Charles, and daughter, Jennie.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The weather has become unsettled on the Pacific Coast, with rain in California. In Eastern districts there has been little change from yesterday, except that the winds have greatly diminished and the cloud blanket has practically disappeared. Pressure continues unusually low over the Grand Banks and a moderate area of high pressure is centred over the East Gulf States and Florida. There has been no precipitation of consequence except in California.

The crest of the cold wave has reached the Atlantic and temperatures have begun to moderate, especially over the Plains States and the Lower Ohio Valley.

Temperature is still decidedly below the seasonal average in Atlantic Coast districts.

Snow is indicated Saturday in the Upper Lake region and rain on Sunday in East Gulf States and Tennessee. In other districts fair weather will continue.

The temperature will rise Saturday in the Upper Ohio Valley, the South Atlantic States, and it will be warmer Sunday in the Middle Atlantic and New England States.

FORECAST: TODAY AND SUNDAY.

West New York—Fair and warmer Saturday. Sunday fair, except snow North portion.

Southern New England—Fair and warmer Saturday and probably Sunday. Northern New England, fair Saturday and probably Sunday. Rising temperature.

East Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware—Fair, warmer Saturday. Sunday partly cloudy.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1920.	1919.		1920.	1919.
3 A. M.	8	23	4 P. M.	17	41
6 A. M.	6	25	6 P. M.	17	42
9 A. M.	12	27	9 P. M.	15	37
12 M.	14	26	11 P. M.	16	35

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 13; for the corresponding date last year it was 32; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 32.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 7; at 8 P. M. it was 16. Maximum temperature, 20 degrees at 5:15 P. M.; minimum, 6 degrees at 7:15 A. M. Humidity, 46 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 43 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.08 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.23 inches.

Stocks Fluctuate Broadly Under Professional Dealings—Call Money Hardens.

The course of stocks yesterday supplied an excellent example of professional trading, efforts to seize profits on either side of quotations being clearly presented at different times. At first railway issues led in an upturn which brought some sharp increases, notably among motor stocks, before noon. Then what looked like a broad drive at the industrial group, with steel shares under especial pressure, occurred, causing abrupt declines. This was succeeded in the final hour of business by a gradual recovery of the industrial department and an additional improvement of the rails. In the last lineup of quotations much irregularity was displayed, although the tone was generally strong. Dealings were hardly of a quality to disclose the presence of positive speculative influences, and it remains for later developments to show whether investment purchases played a noteworthy part in the rise of railroad stocks. The fact that the Attorney General returned the Railway bill to the President without finding unconstitutional clauses in it was doubtless an influence behind buying of the shares, whether for the "long pull" or to be let go later if a profit may be made.

Victory notes were inclined to go lower, but there was a rally of Liberty 3½s and the others were not as weak as on Wednesday and Thursday. A deduction to be made from the action of call money was that even a moderate purchasing movement in stocks would be likely to result in higher rates. As it was, demand funds commanded 10 per cent. in the renewal of standing loans and before the afternoon had advanced far the quotation moved up to 12 per cent. It appears that offerings of call money for account of interior banks have declined substantially in the last ten days. At the same time Government deposits with New York banks have been drawn down to a total which appear almost negligible in contrast with their size on Jan. 2. The return of stiff rates in the last two days, following a period of 6 per cent. money, may act as a bid for accommodation from other centres and increase the supply next week, but it would hardly be possible to argue from this chance that a fresh buying movement on a considerable scale should be looked for. The Street has become used to high rates, yet the experience of the year has been that a cost of day-to-day loans in excess of 10 per cent. discourages trading; either that or it promotes selling for the short account. Today's bank statements will be awaited with much interest, especially the return for the week of the Federal Reserve Bank. A heavy withdrawal of gold for transfer to South America had been expected yesterday, but the movement, comprising between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000, has been postponed until next week, which should be reflected in the bank's reserve ratio.

The reports of mercantile agencies this week show that business is feeling the effect of severe weather, retarded transportation and the dampening influence of tight credit and excessive prices in certain lines. Buyers are reported to be moving with increased caution, studying the trend of sentiment and the markets in order not to contract for too large quantities of goods for Spring delivery. Because of the weather handicap, it is impossible to estimate the influence of basic economic factors upon merchandise, and shortages prevail to an extent that indicates the need of time to complete a survey of conditions as the Winter months pass out.

Sterling exchange regained two-thirds of the preceding day's recession, closing with a quotation of 3.38½ for demand bills. The other exchanges were generally firm.

PLEA TO CONGRESS FOR FOREIGN TRADE

Business Organizations Fear Disaster if Commercial Attaches Are Abolished.

MANY PROTESTS ARE MADE

Proposed to Cut Off $2,000,000 Appropriation Denounced as False Economy.

Disastrous results will be caused our foreign trade and 15,000,000 persons who derive their livelihood directly from industries connected with this trade will be seriously affected if the commercial attaché service of the United States in foreign countries is abolished by the proposal now before Congress cutting down the appropriation of nearly $2,000,000 for the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, according to the views expressed by representatives of large trade and financial organizations at a meeting yesterday afternoon at India House.

The meeting was called at the instance of the National Foreign Trade Council, whose Secretary, Oscar King Davis, explained that the reasons advanced for the curtailment of the appropriations necessary for the commercial attaché service were those of economy.

A cable dispatch was read from the American Chamber of Commerce for Brazil protesting against the proposed reduction in appropriations, on the ground that it is "stupendous folly" and "strikes a terrible blow at American prestige and influence in Brazil."

Robert F. Valentine, Secretary of the American Manufacturers' Export Association, said that more than 150 wires from members of his association had been sent to members of Congress protesting against the proposed measure.

In addition, the American Manufacturers' Export Association, on behalf of its membership, consisting of more than 1,500 manufacturers and employing several million persons, has sent a letter to members of Congress protesting against the proposed curtailment of funds. Similar action has been taken by the American Bankers' Association.

The fact that such important matters as the one under consideration were usually placed in the hands of men in Congress who were without sympathy for the interests affected was deplored by William H. Knox of W. H. Knox & Co. He said it would be useless to send letters and telegrams, and that the only way anything could be accomplished was for the business men to go to Washington prepared for a "scrap."

B. D. Harris of the National City Bank, representing the American Bankers' Association, said that through the National City Bank's branches in other countries it had been found that the services of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce were particularly helpful. He asserted that it should be developed into something larger than it was.

A resolution was unanimously adopted by the meeting asserting that our foreign trade is seriously menaced by adverse exchange and increasing competition of foreign nations.

"The value of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, especially to our smaller manufacturers, has definitely been established;" that "the work of the commercial attachés of the bureau is vital to the successful maintenance of the service of foreign information," and that "this is an appropriate time for constructive economy by Congress, but is most certainly not the time for a false economy which will hamper or restrict our foreign commerce and thereby diminish the Government revenues."

The resolutions then say:

"The original appropriation of $1,833,190 requested by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is inadequate to carry on this important work; that any decrease in this appropriation would be disastrous to American foreign trade; that the commercial attaché service is essential to the securing of authentic business information no where else obtainable; that the customs service should be granted funds adequate to maintain an accurate and up-to-date service of trade statistics; that all other departments of the Government concerned with foreign trade should be granted sufficient appropriations to enable them to deal in a constructive manner with a national foreign trade that has undergone enormous developments; that the previous policy of Congress favorable to foreign trade, as evidenced by the Webb law, Edge law, &c., can be reversed only at the risk of hampering seriously our foreign trade and of causing thereby conditions of unemployment and general depression."

Among the organizations represented were the Merchants' Association, American Bankers' Association, National Association of Credit Men, American Manufacturers' Export Association, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Chambers of Commerce of the State of New York, Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and Westchester Counties.

SUBMARINE BOAT CO. GETS NEWARK YARD

Rental, Beginning at $1,500,000, Scales Down to $750,000, with Option to Buy.

BUILDING 150 VESSELS

Government's Cancellation Will Throw 32 Steel Cargo Ships on Market.

H. R. Sutphen, Vice President of the Submarine Boat Corporation, announced yesterday that an agreement had just been closed with the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation whereby the Submarine Corporation acquired the shipyard on Newark Bay, where it had been building 150 steel cargo ships of 5,350 tons for the Government. Under the agreement Mr. Sutphen said the corporation must pay rental for the use of the yard to the Government $1,500,000 up to Dec. 31, 1919, $1,000,000 for 1920, $750,000 for 1921 and $750,000 to Nov. 15, 1922, with the option to purchase the property at that time.

"In consideration of taking over the shipyard under these terms," said Mr. Sutphen, "the Submarine Boat Corporation accepts cancellation of the last thirty-two ships building under its Government contract, which, however, does not in any way affect the status of the ships, as the company has already laid 140 keels and will complete the remaining ships for its own account.

"Under the agreement which has just been made with the Government, the company will have available for delivery in the first six months of this year thirty-two 5,350-ton steel cargo steamships which will be offered to private shipowners on the following basis: On an order for one to four ships, $170 per deadweight ton; on an order for five to nine ships, $165 per deadweight ton; on an order for ten or more ships, $160 per deadweight ton; deliveries commencing in March.

"Several orders have been received from foreign countries for ship parts to be assembled in Europe, including everything in the ship from the binnacle in the pilot house to the propeller wheel. Shipments of these parts will commence in a few weeks."

Alaska Gold Mine Deficit.

The Alaska Gold Mine reports an operating deficit of $277,481 for last year and with miscellaneous income deducted a total deficit of $275,128. The 1918 deficit was $110,290.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Acceptance Rates Up.

Rates for bankers' acceptances have been going up steadily in the open market all week, and yesterday the Federal Reserve Bank found it expedient to advance its buying rate, the whole schedule being raised to the basis of 5½ per cent. for thirty-day bills, 5⅝ per cent. for sixty-day bills, and 5¾ per cent. for ninety-day bills. The open market rate last night was anywhere from 5⅞ per cent. to 6⅜ per cent. for standard ninety-day bills. At the beginning of the week dealers were willing to sell bills of just under the most prime classification at 5⅝ per cent. and were bidding 5⅞ per cent. for them. Yesterday their selling rates were around 6 per cent. and their buying figure was about 6¼ to 6⅜ per cent.

The Loan to China.

Advices from Peking which spoke of an "independent" loan which had been made to China by Japan, amounting to something like $5,000,000, were not understood, nor were they believed by local bankers connected with the Chinese consortium. Here it was said that this loan undoubtedly was merely an initial advance to China by Japan on account of the emergency loan of £5,000,000, which was approved by the several Governments represented in the consortium some days ago. It is understood here that the $5,000,000 advance by Japan will finally be regarded as half of the Japanese participation, which will be approximately $10,000,000 ultimately. The United States, the only other member of the consortium which is expected to take part in the emergency flotation, is to take the other half of the £5,000,000 loan which, at current rates, will be about $20,000,000 in all.

Russian Bonds.

If one cared to be light and facetious over the Russian situation he might start the rumor that Lenin and Trotzky are "playing the market," for the reports which have been coming out of Russia the last few days certainly have been exerting a very positive influence on the movement both of Russian bonds and Russian currency in this market. In times past it was always popular in Wall Street to attribute shady motives to Government officials—any officials of any Government—when statements were issued which influenced prices. Yesterday Russian bonds went up as much as 6 points and Russian currency had a corresponding advance on the reports that the Soviets were asking for peace and were proposing to settle the Russian debt.

Canadian Freight Car Embargo.

Reports received in the financial district yesterday that Canadian railways had placed an embargo on their freight cars to keep them from coming to the United States, because of the dilatory return of rolling stock in recent months, were generally accepted as indicating just how serious the shortage of cars and the confusion of equipment must be. It is asserted by some American executives that the railroads are considerably more than one year behind in their rolling stock, and will not have an opportunity to catch up until 1921. In fact, it is asserted in some quarters that funds for the purchase of new equipment will not be available until late this Fall.

Low-Priced Rails Continue to Advance.

News from Washington early in the day that Attorney General Palmer had sent the Railroad bill to the President and had asserted that he could see no constitutional objection to the measure, served as a further spur to the recent advance of the low-priced rails. The buying for a time served to lift the quotations for these shares 1 to more than 3 points. Then the bears began to sell and a large part of the gained ground was lost. Later, however, renewed interest developed and, led by Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, which closed with a gain of more than 4 points, such stocks as Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, New Haven, New York, Ontario & Western, St. Louis-San Francisco, Southern Rails, Texas Pacific, Wabash preferred "A" and others closed with net gains of from fractions to more than 1 point.

Industrials Heavy.

It has been apparent for several days that any speculative element left in the market was switching from the industrials to the rails and to this in fact can be attributed the softness apparent in the industrial shares recently. Even the standard industrials such as Steel common refuse to respond to a rally with the vigor that might be expected after the sharp decline from near par. Talk of falling exports, of curtailed credit, and the like, have played their part in tending to eliminate anything but investment buying of industrials and this is seldom of such strength as to bring about sharp upturns. Furthermore the short interest in the present market is not believed to be especially large. The shorts did a lot of covering under the wave of liquidation by companies or individuals where money was urgently needed and where extensive loans could not be arranged. While sentiment is decidedly bearish on the industrials there is a much better feeling with regard to the rails than has existed for a long time. The great question is whether the improved market for rail securities will last.

A Runaway Oil Market.

Appearances indicate that the crude oil market is fast reaching what might be termed the runaway stage. The shortage of petroleum is inviting increasingly high prices and yesterday another advance in Pennsylvania crude was announced. The Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency, which is aligned with the Standard Oil interests, is now paying $5.80 a barrel for Pennsylvania crude and the premium offered by the independents of about 25 cents a barrel brings the price above $6. Not a few refineries are feeling the crude shortage and the Standard of New Jersey has laid off some 500 men at its Bay Way plant. In the long run there will probably be an increase of imports from Mexico and this may help the situation here.

Fisk Rubber Company Dividend.

The Directors of the Fisk Rubber Company have declared a dividend of 12 per cent. on the common shares, payable in four quarterly installments of 3 per cent., 75 cents a share. The first payment will be made on April 1 to holders of record of March 15. The placing of the common shares on a 12 per cent. annual basis is tangible evidence of the large earnings which the rubber companies have been enjoying since early last year. The earnings for 1919 are still to be made public, but it is presumed that they were far in excess of those for 1918, when the indicated earnings on the common were equivalent to 19¼ per cent. The prosperity of the rubber companies has gone hand in hand with that which has taken place in the automobile industry, and if the program of the auto industry is carried through there would seem to be big business in store for the rubber companies.

Bethlehem A and B Shares.

An unusual spread between Bethlehem Steel Corporation A and B common shares was noted yesterday, the A shares selling 6½ points below the B. In so far as the stocks are concerned, they are exactly the same except that the A shares carry the additional advantage of a voting privilege which under normal circumstances it might be expected would tend to elevate the price of the A shares above the B. The former, however, are outstanding to only about one-third the extent of the B shares. For a long time they have been without speculative flavor and with no short interest to sustain the stock it might be that the 100 A shares sold came on the market at a moment when demand was light with a consequent price sacrifice.

ACCEPTED RAIL BILL TO AVERT CONFUSION

Executives' Association Tells Its Attitude on Legislation Pending in Congress.

SAY BIG TEST IS FACED

Act Itself, Interstate and State Commissions, Carriers and Unions on Trial.

In a statement at a meeting of member roads of the Association of Railway Executives in the board room of the New Haven Railroad in the Grand Central Terminal yesterday, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the association, voiced its views on pending railroad legislation, which, he said, marks a new departure by Congress with respect to the protection and support of the carriers.

More than one hundred and twenty member roads in the association were represented at the meeting, of which T. DeWitt Cuyler was chairman. In a statement issued late in the afternoon it was said application of the pending railroad bill to the resumption of private ownership was discussed.

The following statement was submitted to the meeting by Mr. Thom:

"Some things we thought wise and desirable have not received legislative approval, but notwithstanding the objections to certain features of the proposals the Association of Railway Executives was at the end confronted with the question of whether, in consequence of these objections, it should continue its opposition, or whether, in order to avoid the demoralization and confusion that would inevitably ensue in the event no helpful legislation was enacted, it should seek to secure the enactment of the conference report as it stood.

"The Government policy of the future will, no doubt, depend upon the success of the experiment now made. The act itself is about to enter upon its 'test period.' If, under the system which it establishes, the credit of the carriers is made sufficient to enable them to perform their public duties the legislation will, by universal concession, be a success. If, on the other hand, such credit is not established the legislation will be a failure.

"In addition to the act, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the several State commissions, the labor unions and the carriers themselves are all on trial.

"The Interstate Commerce Commission is on trial, because the powers conferred upon that body by this bill are so enormous and so far-reaching that it will become largely responsible for the success or failure of the system of regulation.

"The State commissions are on trial, because if they hold back and refuse to co-operate with the Interstate Commerce Commission in establishing a harmonious system of rates to apply to both State and interstate commerce of the same carrier they will interpose an obstacle in the way of the success of the system for which public opinion will hold them responsible.

"The labor unions are on trial, because the Government itself has created an official agency for the fair and equitable adjustment of all grievances and of all controversies as to wages and living conditions, and if, in defiance of the conclusions thus officially reached the labor organizations, unjustly and contrary to public opinion, interrupt the orderly and continuous movement of interstate commerce, upon which the welfare of the whole public depends, they cannot expect to be sustained by the people, to whose will at last all must bow.

"The carriers are on trial, because an effort has been made to extend to them help of a substantial character in the performance of their public duties, and public opinion will hold them to a strict accountability for the fidelity and efficiency with which these duties are performed."

ROADS HOARD MINE CARS.

Expected Return of Lines Causes Pittsburgh Shortage.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27.—Expected dissolution of the railroad car pool upon the return of railroads to private ownership at midnight Sunday has caused a critical shortage of cars at the coal mines in the Pittsburgh district, operators here say. They assert the shortage is the worst ever known in the district.

The car supply received by the operators yesterday was only 17 per cent. of the Government's car rating, Richard W. Gardiner, commissioner of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, said. This was in a large measure responsible for the closing down of thirty-five mines yesterday, he declared.

In railroad circles it was admitted that the shortage was due principally to preparations being made for the return of the roads to private ownership and that many of the railroads were said to be keeping all their own cars on their lines.

MORE RAIL CHIEFS NAMED.

Five Systems Announce Executives Under Private Control.

Further appointments of executives to reassume control and operation of various railroad systems were announced yesterday as follows:

Northern Pacific—Howard Elliott, Chairman of the board; Jule M. Hannaford, President; C. A. Clark, Treasurer, and E. A. Gay, Assistant Treasurer. Mr. Hannaford and Charles Donnelly were elected Directors to fill vacancies on the board.

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company—Charles Hayden, Chairman of the board; James E. Gorman, President; M. L. Bell, Vice President and general counsel; L. C. Fritch, Vice President in charge of construction, maintenance and capital expenditures; F. Nay, Vice President and general manager; S. H. Johnson, Vice President and freight traffic manager; L. M. Allen, Vice President and passenger traffic manager; F. D. Reed, Vice President and purchasing agent, and Carl Nyquist, Secretary and Treasurer.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company—B. B. Greer, Vice President in charge of operations; H. B. Earling, Vice President; G. J. Bunting, controller; H. H. Field, general solicitor. All were former officials of the company. They served with the Railroad Administration and will return to their former posts on Monday.

Hocking Valley Railroad—H. E. Huntington, Chairman of the board, succeeding Frank Trumbull, retired; George W. Stevens, President; C. E. Graham, Senior Vice President; F. H. Davis, G. B. Wall, Vice Presidents; H. T. Wickham, Vice President and general counsel, and F. M. Whitaker, Vice President in charge of traffic.

Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad—W. H. Brenner, Federal manager of the properties, President; F. B. Townsend, Vice President in charge of traffic; E. E. Nash, general manager; R. G. Kenly, assistant to the President and chief engineer, and W. B. Davids, Secretary. Other officers were re-elected.

Canada After an Edmonton Road.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.—The Canadian Government has opened negotiations with J. D. MacArthur, owner of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, with a view to absorbing the line into the National Railway System. The road connects the Peace River Valley country with Edmonton, and it is proposed to extend it through the Rockies to Fort George, serving an immense area of agricultural land with excellent timber and mineral resources.

Canada Puts Embargo on Freight Cars.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 27.—An embargo on the sending of Canadian freight cars to the United States was announced here today by the Railway Association of Canada. On account of a shortage in the United States, American railroads are not returning Canadian cars, according to the association, and the embargo is necessary to relieve a lumber famine on the Canadian prairies.

MARKED DECREASE IN COPPER EARNINGS

Utah Company Reports Deficit, After Dividends, of $1,494,544 for the Year 1919.

CHINO SHORTAGE $1,219,955

Nevada Consolidated Lacks $1,773,828—Profits Show Improvement in Last Quarter.

A sharp falling off in earnings as compared with 1918 is shown in the records of three of the porphyry copper companies for last year as compiled from the four quarterly statements. Utah, Chino and Nevada Consolidated all report deficits for the twelve months after providing for dividend payments. The fourth quarter earnings of last year, however, show an improvement over the third quarter of the year, and in the case of Utah there was a surplus in the final three months of 1919 after dividend payments.

The total profits of Utah for the twelve months were $8,252,396, a drop of more than $10,000,000 from the profits of 1918. After dividend payments the deficit for the year was $1,494,544. In the fourth quarter the company earned $2,699,456, or the equivalent of $1.66 a share as compared with profits of $2,419,512, or $1.48 a share in the preceding year, and $2.05 a share in the fourth quarter of 1918. The production of copper in the fourth quarter was 27,965,470 pounds, as compared with 24,774,761 pounds in the third quarter of 1919. The gross production of copper last year was 110,591,608 pounds.

The net operating profits of the Chino Copper Company for last year amounted to $1,389,985, and after dividends there was a deficit of $1,219,955, as compared with a surplus of $228,407 in 1918. In the final quarter of last year the net operating profits of $490,627 were equivalent to 56 cents a share on the capital stock. In the preceding quarter the profits of $702,384 were equal to 80 cents a share, and in the December quarter of 1918 the company earned 7 cents a share on the stock. The operating profits for the full year were equal to $1.59 a share, as compared with $4.76 a share in 1918. In 1919 the production of copper amounted to 42,325,449 pounds, as compared with 79,340,372 pounds in 1918. The cost of copper produced in the fourth quarter, after allowing for smelter deductions and all other charges except Federal taxes, was 18.62 cents per pound, as compared with 15.7 cents a pound in the third quarter of 1919.

Nevada Consolidated Copper Company for the full year reports earnings of $1,225,357, as compared with $3,459,879. After dividends last year there was a deficit of $1,773,828, which was withdrawn from surplus, leaving this item at $8,160,533. These figures are derived from the four quarterly reports of the company, and are subject to change in the final pamphlet report. The earnings last year were the equivalent of 61 cents a share, as compared with $1.73 a share in 1918.

For the fourth quarter the company reports earnings after depreciation and taxes of $687,290, equivalent to 34 cents a share. In the preceding quarter the earnings were $464,449, or 23 cents a share. In the December quarter of 1918 the company earned only $10,189, or ½ cent a share. The total production of copper last year was 43,971,892 pounds.

The New French Redeemable Loan

Interest rate 5%. Redeemable and callable at the rate of 1500 francs per 1000-franc bond

BONDS issued under this loan may be purchased, at the rate of exchange fixed for today (February 28th) by the French Finance Agency in New York City, at

$70.18 per 1000-franc bond

Issued also in denominations of 2,000, 10,000, and 20,000 francs, but the face of the bonds, in accordance with French custom, will indicate the annual income and not the principal.

We will accept subscriptions accompanied by cash payment, for these bonds, issuing our Due Bills, on behalf of the French Republic, which may be exchanged for temporary or permanent bonds when received by us.

A circular giving further information will be sent on request.

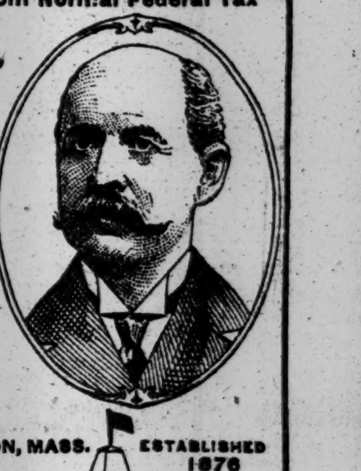
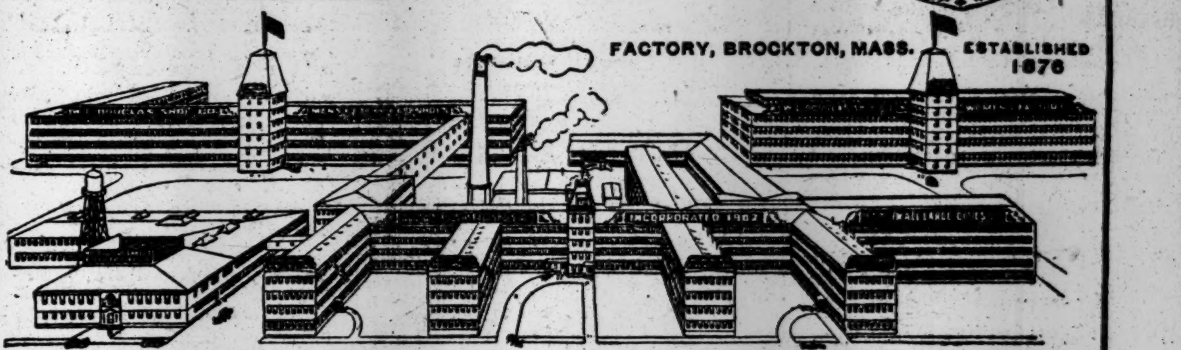
	AUTHORIZED	OUTSTANDING
7 Per Cent Preferred Stock	$5,500,000	$3,500,000
Common Stock	$4,500,000	$1,200,000

Dividends have been paid regularly for the past seventeen years.

Payable January 1st and July 1st. There is no better 7 per cent investment in the United States.





If you are looking for a safe and permament investment we believe this 7 per cent stock will appeal to you. It is an old established business. That the Preferred Stock is amply well protected is shown from the fact that the net earnings available for dividends after the Federal tax and all other taxes were paid during the past four years have averaged nearly four times the dividends on the Preferred Stock outstanding. The Common Stockholders propose to give even greater protection to the Preferred Stock by leaving annually in the treasury a substantial part of the earnings of the Common Stock.

W. L. Douglas name is known throughout the world. The trade mark is a very valuable asset worth millions of dollars, and is the property of the stockholders. It is one of the most valuable trade marks in United States. Application will be made to have this stock listed upon the stock exchange.

This company owns and operates 107 W. L. Douglas shoe stores located in the large cities. W. L. Douglas shoes are also sold by over 9000 shoe dealers in the United States. During the past few years our shoes have been more extensively advertised than ever before. Stamping W. L. Douglas name and the retail price on the bottom of the shoes before they leave the factory has saved the wearers millions of dollars, and guarantees them the best shoes in style, comfort and service that can be produced for the price.

In the leading foreign countries a great demand for W. L. Douglas shoes has sprung up. Our domestic business has increased so that our sales have more than doubled in four years. In 1915 the sales were $8,069,628.41 and in 1919 $21,906,904.44. The past six month's business was at the rate of over $24,000,000 per year.

In common with other great businesses we need additional capital to meet the urgent requirements of increasing domestic and foreign trade. The new conditions of business also demand more capital. The cost of labor and material has nearly doubled so that twice the amount of capital necessary under the old business conditions is now required.

You will make no mistake to order at once as many shares of this stock as you can afford to buy, price $100.00 per share. If you care for more particulars fill out the coupon and mail at once.

COTTON FLUCTUATES IN NERVOUS MARKET

Twice Breaks and Rallies, Acting So That Closing Prices Mean but Little.

DISTANT MONTHS SUFFER

Weakness Appears to be Renewed Fear That All Commodity Prices May Drop.

Yesterday's cotton market went through a decidedly nervous and highly erratic session. There was a sharp break in the first hour, due to the professional bear activity inspired by the lower than due Liverpool cables, and when this selling eased up the market recovered almost as rapidly as it had gone down earlier. Then, after the turn of the day into the afternoon, there was another drop and another recovery. The way the market acted yesterday the closing quotations were of little or no consequence. As one trader put it, "the market just happened to be where it was when the gong rang."

The March option continued firm. At the high for the day it was up 28 points, the best gain any contract scored during the whole five hours, and at the low it was off 32 points, 3 points less than the day's low for May. At the close it was unchanged from the closing of the day before. The threat of the squeeze in this contract before its maturity still obtains and those who are short are having a very unhappy time of it.

The rest of the market was unsettled, with the greatest weakness on all of the breaks developing in the late months. October was down 70 points at one time and Dec. sold off 55. July also was down about 55, but it came back much faster than the more distant months on the late rally.

This weakness in the late months would appear to be caused by a revival of the trade's fear that all commodity prices are headed positively downward. A month ago the premium on March over Dec. was $35 a bale, while at last night's closing it had expanded to $41.75 a bale, a difference in the market of 135 points.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

JAPAN TO LEND TO CHINA.

Will Advance $7,000,000, as Other Nations Fail to Respond.

PEKING, Feb. 24.—In view of the approach of the Chinese New Year and the failure of other Governments to reply to their representatives' recommendations for a cash advance of $7,000,000 to meet pressing obligations in pursuance of China's acceptance of loan stipulations, Japan has signified her intention of advancing the money independently.

It is understood that $5,000,000 will be delivered today.

RISE IN FINE WOOL DEMAND.

Government Estimates the January Consumption at 72,700,000 Pounds.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Continued demand for high-priced clothing was reflected in the wool consumption for January, which indicated, according to the Department of Agriculture, that the year's consumption would establish a record.

Manufacturers used 72,700,000 pounds of virgin wool, grease equivalent, last month, compared with 38,200,000 pounds in the same month last year. The largest percentage of wool consumed was fine, to met the insistance of purchasers for fabrics composed of fine wools. The consumption of fine wool was the largest reported for any month since the department inaugurated its system of statistics.

Holdings of hides and skins on Jan. 31 showed a decrease from Dec. 31, the department announced. stocks on hand including 6,549,550 cattle hides, 1,570,713 calf skins, and 277,626 horse hides.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The process of credit deflation is making for more caution in business undertakings, according to the weekly review of conditions by R. G. Dun & Co. The report says in part:

Moderated activity in business, manifesting itself in varying degrees, and most noticeable in the East, is primarily the result of weather drawbacks, financial tendencies and price considerations, although contributing factors are present. The restraining influence of recent severe storms, which have aggravated an already serious[ly] congested transportation situation, is still discernible in delayed movements of raw materials and other merchandise, further impeding operations at many establishments where sizable orders are pressing for shipment.

Bradstreet's says:

The shortage of transportation facilities has exercised a hampering influence in almost all lines, and recent severe weather has in many directions affected distributive trade. In some sections also both production and retail trade have been affected by sickness, doubtless the still existing influenza persisting in a less virulent form. Among the influences which are regarded as likely to stimulate basic industry in the near future is the demand for railroad equipment which is expected to follow the return of the roads to private ownership. Illustrations of the extent of this demand are found in the reported inquiries of the New York Central for 150 locomotives and 13,000 cars, the contemplated ordering of 35 engines and upward of 3,000 cars by the Rock Island and of 1,000 cars by the Great Northern, and the need of a transit and refrigerator company in the West for 5,000 cars.

Looking for Fall Prices.

One of the several prominent shoe men who have gone abroad to attend the International Buyers' Fair that is shortly to be held in Lyons, France, is planning to visit London and Dublin afterward by airplane from Paris. The announcement was made yesterday by his "right-hand man," who, when asked if this mode of travel was adopted to get a line on Fall prices, laconically replied something like that would be needed, especially by consumers, as the new figures would show some smart advances over those got for Spring footwear.

Paris Takes Up Sweaters.

Manufacturers of women's sweaters have been very much interested in the attention given to sweaters in the recent Paris fashion openings. The French designers have applied their talents to creating modes in sweaters, and the manufacturers here see in this step a great advantage for the garment they produce. Since the ending of the war the sweater has become more and more of a fashionable item of attire, it was pointed out, rather than an article of utility. With the sweater adopted by the French, the manufacturers see a much larger field of exploitation ahead of them.

Let Go Stocks.

Large sales of men's shirts of all varieties at a time when certain manufacturers still complain of shortage of materials and production an.. are predicting further advances, can be traced, it was said yesterday in the trade, to the "unloading" being done by small operators and some jobbers. Financing difficulties make the sale of their merchandise imperative, so that money can be obtained to continue in business. The banks are not renewing the loans of many of these small operators, and even in the case where a house is of unquestionable standing the usual amount of capital is not forthcoming. Consequently, the trade expects to see the sales spoken of continue.

Not the Same Demand.

Commenting on the generous "allotments" which the woolen mills are making, a clothing representative said yesterday that the mills have made the mistake of believing that the demand next Fall will be just as large as it was when prices were considerably lower. He drew attention to the fact that the allotments were drawn up on the basis of 1914 orders when the price of clothing was almost one-third lower than it is at the present time. The public, he said, cannot be expected to purchase the same amount of clothing at the advanced figures, and for this reason, he pointed out, the clothiers will not be disposed to buy their normal supplies of piece goods.

Gray Goods More Active.

With prices more to their liking, buyers were busier in the local gray goods market yesterday than for some time. Sheetings sales were numerous, and included in them were spot 5.50s at 16¾ cents, and spot 5-yard goods at 19 cents. April deliveries of the latter brought 18½ cents. Buyers paid 20¼ cents for March-April deliveries of 4.70-yard sheetings. In the printcloths nearby sales of 38½-inch 60-48s were made at 24 cents, while nearby Southern 38½-inch 64-60s sold at 22¼ cents. A few Eastern 64-60s sold for nearby shipment at 22½ cents, and the day closed with buyers trying to get more out at that price. Twenty-six cents was paid for 39-inch 72-76s, and 23½ cents for 39-inch 68-72s, both for nearby delivery.

Show Attractive Cotton Frocks.

Some of the most attractive cotton frocks ever put on the local market are being shown this season by the leading cutters-up who specialize on women's and misses' dresses. Models designed for the younger women are especially attractive and show a wide use of dainty pastel colorings in organdies, voiles and other sheer fabrics. Gingham dresses promise to repeat their success of several seasons ago. Quite a number of the new things show the use of double skirts, the under ones being quite narrow and are set off with natty sashes and other youthful trimmings. Compared with the figures of a few years ago prices are high, but buyers seem to be taking the goods well despite the earliness of the season for this class of dresses.

Coal Shipments Less Hampered.

Anthracite coal production this week has not been quite so badly hampered by weather and transportation conditions as in the three preceding weeks, Saward's Journal will say today, but the existence of embargoes is still causing an unequal division of the tonnage as between consuming sections. The chief beneficiaries of the uneven distribution are the local market and the line points between here and the mines, as well as territory lying north and west of the anthracite region. During the last ten days the tidewater market for bituminous coal has been feeling the effects of the acute car shortage that cut down production in Central Pennsylvania to such a notable extent during and following the heavy snowfalls earlier in the month.

Staples Will Remain Favorites.

In the opinion of a local clothing manufacturer, staple and semi-staple goods will continue to remain in favor until the present era of inflated prices is over. He does not place much stock in the reports that next Fall will see either extreme styles or extreme fabrics featured to any large extent. Fancy designs will be, he said, mostly for show purposes. He referred to the large surplus of overcoats placed on the market at the closing of this season and stated that these goods were mostly fancy styles made for young men. Staple garments were conspicuous by their absence. Besides the risk entailed in manufacturing the ultra styles, he said another reason preventing any large quantity of them being offered is that men want a serviceable garment when they have to pay the present prices.

How Cottons' Prices Went

The remarkable course pursued by the prices of cotton goods in the gray during 1919 is graphically shown by the comparative price chart which has been distributed to the trade by Louis Lowinson & Co. of this city. Due to a break from the previous high points that was well under way at the end of 1918 prices reached bottom for the year on Feb. 15. The following table gives the prices of several leading constructions of printcloths on Jan. 7, Feb. 15 and Dec. 29, together with the price of spot middling uplands cotton here on those dates:

	Jan. 7.	Feb. 15.	Dec. 28.
39-inch 80-80s	17¾	13½	32
39-inch 68-72s	14½	10	25¼

Dry Goods Trade Boom Still On.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry-goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods has been largely in excess of the corresponding week a year ago and of any previous year. Orders from salesmen on the road are also much larger. Lines offered for Fall delivery continue to be very freely taken. The number of customers in the house was somewhat larger than for the same week last year. Collections continue very satisfactory."

To Ask Canada to Lift Paper Ban.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Senate today passed and sent to the House the Underwood joint resolution creating a commission to treat with Canada for abrogation of restrictions on the export of pulp wood and newsprint paper. Senator Underwood told the Senate some action was imperative, as the newspaper publishing industry in the United States "almost faced extinction," because of the dwindling newsprint supply.

SEEK HAMMERLING CASH.

Attachment Issued on Allegation of $39,000 Fraud.

An attachment against the property of Louis N. Hammerling, formerly President of the Association of Foreign Language Newspapers, of which he was the founder and from which he resigned last March, after his name had been mentioned in connection with pro-German propaganda before this country entered the war, was signed by Supreme Court Justice Bijur yesterday, on allegations that Hammerling had left the country and did not intend to return in the near future.

The attachment was turned over to Sheriff Knott, and copies of an order tying up any property of the defendant that may be held by banks and trust companies were served on eleven of them. No return had been made when the Sheriff's office closed yesterday afternoon, and it was impossible to determine the amount held here for Mr. Hammerling.

The plaintiff is the Poland Export Corporation of 1,133 Broadway, organized here to do business with Poland, in the formation of which Mr. Hammerling is said to have helped and in which the stepson of Ignace J. Paderewski, the Polish Premier, is interested.

The Poland Export Corporation's claim against Hammerling is for $39,000. The complaint alleged that Hammerling conspired to get $39,000 of the funds of the plaintiff corporation by illegally and fraudulently inducing the corporation to turn over that sum for stock in a corporation owned by Hammerling. The attachment was asked for on the ground that Hammerling had been out of the State for six months and had departed with intent to defraud his creditors.

At the office of the Poland Export Corporation it was said that Mr. Hammerling had gone to Europe and it was not known when he would return.

Hammerling testified before a Senate investigation in 1918 that the money for the publication in foreign-language newspapers of a protest against the manufacture in this country of munitions for the Allies came largely from Dr. Edward A. Rumely, former owner of The Evening Mail, who later was indicted.

CANADA'S IMPORTS GROW.

Her January Trade with United Kingdom Greatest in History.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—The value of imports from the United Kingdom in January was the greatest for one month in the history of Canada, according to statistics announced today. The total was $16,414,503, as compared with $9,882,984 for last December and $6,709,200 for January, 1919.

The increase apparently indicates that advantage is being taken of the exchange situation to make profitable purchases in Great Britain. Exports to the British Isles in January amounted to $38,288,049.

An increase also was shown in imports from the United States, despite the unfavorable exchange rate. These totalled $74,530,425, against $71,069,509 in December last and $59,379,127 in January, 1919. Exports to the United States were $43,577,945, compared with $41,227,589 for January, 1919.

Canada has a favorable balance of $357,500,000 in the trade with Great Britain for the ten months of the present fiscal year, an unfavorable balance of $230,300,000 with the United States, and a favorable balance of $263,600,000 with all countries.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

Especially Marked Were Declines in Those of Foodstuffs.

With the declines in foodstuffs outnumbering the advances by an even five to one, Dun's list of minimum wholesale commodities prices again showed another excess of downward revisions this week. A weakening of hides prices was also a feature. In the seventy-six changes shown in the general list this week there were forty-six declines. Last week, when there were fifty-eight revisions, thirty-two of them were downward.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for this week and the corresponding week a year ago:

*Government maximums. †Nominal.

In the local market for provisions this week Spring patent flour lost the 50-cents-a-barrel advance it made last week. Also lower here was the price of bacon. Live beef, live sheep and short ribs did not change in the Chicago market, but live hogs advanced. Middle Western lard and mess pork, on the other hand, went down. Local prices for dairy products failed to show a single advance. The best creamery butter fell off 2 cents a pound, and a decline of 1 cent a pound was recorded by State dairy stock, common to fair. Declines in cheese prices ranged from a half-cent a pound on the best to 2 cents a pound on the under grades. Fancy nearby eggs slipped off 3 cents a dozen during the week, while the improvement in traffic conditions resulted in a break of 7 cents a dozen in the best Westerns. Both grades, however, show substantial advances over the corresponding figures of last year.

The feature of the changes in the listed fresh fruits was a rise of $1 a barrel in fancy apples, while common ones dropped 50 cents a barrel. The changes in the dried fruits, all declines, were confined to choice apricots and to California peaches and prunes. Vegetables fluctuations were few, consisting of an advance of $1 a bag in onions, which went to a price nearly twice as high as the corresponding 1919 figure, and a decline in choice medium beans. In the other tablestuffs there was a break in fair Formosa tea, but No. 4 Santos coffee advanced. The best raw sugar continued to drop, but there was no accompanying break in refined sugar. Declines in black and white Singapore peppers were the only changes that the list of spices contained.

Fluctuations in the drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils were more numerous than for some time, showing seventeen advances and seven declines. One of the few features was the price strength of the soda products. Naval stores showed a rise in turpentine and a decline in resin. The former now stands at the unusual price of $2 a gallon, compared with 69½ cents at this time in 1919. Seven of the ten listed grades of hides, including calfskins, declined, and there were no advances. Prices in the leather list were steady and showed no fluctuations one way or the other. Changes in the metals were confined to a decline in spelter and advances in lake copper, lead and tin. Tallow advanced. Hemp declined, as did Brazilian crude rubber.

The only break in grain prices was in malting barley, with the advances shown by corn, prime timothy hay, and long rye straw. Four of the six listed grades of burley tobacco dropped. Textiles did nothing startling during the week. In fact, they were quite generally dull, and this was reflected in lower prices for burlaps and for several varieties of cotton goods in the gray. Particularly sharp in the latter were the breaks from the recent high point of some of the so-called clothing styles.

BUSINESS RECORDS

FAILURES OF THE WEEK—Bradstreet's reports 105 failures in the United States for the week, against 106 for the previous week and 135, 250, 277, 322 for the corresponding weeks of 1919 to 1916. The New England States had 17, Middle 29, Western 16, Northwestern 15, Southern 19, Far Western 9. Canada had 14, against 14 for the previous week. In the United States about 85.7 per cent. of the total number of concerns failing had $5,000 capital or less and 12 per cent. had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

INTERNATIONAL PETROLEUM COMPANY, LIMITED

To the Shareholders of International Petroleum Company, Limited.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Directors of the Company have resolved to issue 1,358,401 shares of £1 each (par value $5.00) of the Common Capital Stock of the Company, at the price of $5.00 (Five Dollars) per share payable in New York funds at par.

The above issue of new stock will be made on the basis of share for share of the Preference and Common Capital Stock issued and fully paid up as at the close of business on the 5th day of March, 1920, and each Shareholder is entitled to subscribe and pay for one new Common Share in respect of each share held by him.

Holders of Bearer Share Warrants who present their Warrants at the Office of the Company at 56, Church Street, Toronto, Canada, or at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, 16-22 William Street, New York City, U. S. A., on or before the 15th day of March, 1920, are entitled to subscribe and pay for new shares on the terms mentioned above.

All Bearer Share Warrants presented as aforesaid must be accompanied by certified check (that is check duly certified or accepted by a Bank) or Bank draft made out to the order of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, for a/c of International Petroleum Company, Limited, and payable at par at a Bank in New York City, U. S. A., for the full amount due of $5.00 per share on each new share subscribed for. The Bearer Share Warrants presented as aforesaid will be stamped "Ex Rights 1920" and returned to the parties presenting them together with the share warrants for the new shares subscribed and paid for.

Failure to exercise the rights to subscribe for new shares within the time and in the manner aforesaid will subject these rights to forfeiture.

The Books of the Company will be closed from the 6th day of March, 1920, to the 20th day of March, 1920, inclusive, and no Bearer Share Warrants will be "split" during that period.

No warrants for "rights" will be issued and shareholders who desire to split warrants in order to sell part of their holding to enable them to pay for the new shares must do so on or before the 5th of March, 1920.

Holders of Bearer Share Warrants are recommended to send warrants, together with their remittance, by Registered Mail, insured, as the Company is not responsible for Share Warrants lost in transit, and duplicate Share Warrants cannot be issued.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD,
J. R. CLARKE, Secretary.

BLAMES LOW BAIL FOR MANY HOLDUPS

Judge Rosalsky, Raising Bonds of Seven Prisoners to $5,000, Deplores Laxity.

TAKE ELEVEN IN DAY NET

Prisoners Rounded Up by Detectives Are All Released Except One.

Low bail in holdup cases was denounced yesterday by Judge Otto A. Rosalsky in General Sessions as one reason for the frequency of robberies in this city. Judge Rosalsky, in raising the bail of seven alleged holdup men from $1,500 to $5,000, declared that it had been brought to his attention that in many instances criminals, while out on bail, committed other robberies to reimburse themselves for the cost of their bonds, supplied, as a rule, by surety companies.

Following Judge Rosalsky's assertions, District Attorney Swann took steps to request higher bail in robbery cases. He announced that he would appear on Tuesday before the Board of City Magistrates to lay before it the exact situation.

The holdup Thursday night of Dr. Jonathan C. Day and his assistants in the navy surplus sales store at 308 Lenox Avenue, when $6,500 was taken, was cited by Judge Rosalsky as a particular instance of the boldness of highwaymen. The police, it was reported last night, had made little progress in running down the Day robbers, chiefly because they lacked a thorough description of the men.

The seven alleged highwaymen had all been at liberty on bail, some of them for several weeks. Judge Rosalsky's move took them by surprise, and as they were unable to produce bail they were all committed to the Tombs. The original bail had been fixed by various Magistrates when the men were arraigned.

Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith declared that many cases had come to his attenion where persons charged with crime proved to be out on bail on other charges. This was especially so in holdup cases, he said.

"These men usually get bail from bonding companies," continued Mr. Smith. "As soon as they get out they resume their customary occupation. In many cases they are obliged to go out and rob to make up the cost of the bonds. Frequently they use their gains from robberies to jump bail."

Detective Hoffman of the West 122d Street Police Station last midnight arrested Arthur E. Jones, a waiter of 238 East 123d Street, as one of the men who on Thursday night held up Dr. Day. Jones was lodged in the station house on a charge of highway robbery. He refused to talk, and the police refused all information about his arrest beyond the blotter record, which shows Dr. Day as the complainant against him. Early this morning neither Dr. Day nor any of his assistants had appeared to attempt identification.

Ten other prisoners were taken last night by detectives of the same Station under command of Captain Haupt in a roundup of persons suspected of complicity in the Day robbery. They were all later released, after they had explained satisfactorily their movements on Thursday night. Among them was a man who was found to have $2,200 in his pocket, but he accounted fully for his possession of the money. The police were questioning taxi drivers late last night in an effort to learn whether the robbers had used an automobile.

According to a man and woman who live in the neighborhood five men walked out of the hallway about the time of the robbery. One of them, they said, was putting a revolver in his pocket. The men walked to 125th Street and turned a corner.

Dr. Day went to Police Headquarters in the course of the day to give detectives the details of Thursday night's robbery. He said he had not been able to give the police a complete description of the men because of the quickness of the robbers in getting the stores' proceeds and disappearing.

"It is certain that these men knew the workings of our office," Dr. Day said. "They picked out just the right moment to come in—just when we were counting up the receipts. Besides myself and a visitor there were nine other men connected with the office in the store at the time. I had never seen any of the robbers before. They made no effort to get any of our personal belongings, and they passed up checks for $1,100. None of us was armed."

Dr. Day's old adversaries, Commissioner of Accounts David Hirshfield and Edwin J. O'Malley, who succeeded him as Commissioner of the Department of Markets, found in the robbery an occasion to take a fling at Dr. Day. Commissioner O'Malley asserted that the amount which it was reported the robbers took indicated that the sales were not paying.

Commissioner Hirshfield laughed when he was asked about the robbery. After scoffing at the report he said that he would like to have the holdup men come before him, and even then he would ask them to show credentials.

REBUKED FOR PRAISING RED

School Examiner Said Emma Goldman Had Admirable Qualities.

The Corporation Counsel has given to the Board of Education his ruling in the case of George J. Smith, of the Board of Examiners, who, while toastmaster in May last at the Walt Whitman Fellowship dinner, referred to Emma Goldman as possessor of admirable personal qualities, and later introduced George Sylvester Viereck as one of the speakers.

The Corporation Counsel said that Mr. Smith, in view of his position in the Department of Education, did not exercise either good taste or good judgment at the dinner, but that a charge cannot be successfully made against him.

"However," the opinion continues, "he has evidenced by his conduct a lack of consideration for the position he occupies, and, if such were permitted to pass without being taken cognizance of by your Board it might tend to bring discredit upon those in charge of the educational system of the city. In my view, therefore, there are sufficient grounds for your Board to censure Mr. Smith by resolution or otherwise for his action on the occasion referred to."

Japan Society Elects Officers.

The Japan Society elected Frank A. Vanderlip its President, and K. Shidehara, Japanese Ambassador, Honorary President, at a meeting in the Society's offices yesterday. The other officers elected were: Vice President, August Belmont; Honorary Vice Presidents, Elbert H. Gary, A. Barton Hepburn, Emerson McMillin, Jacob H. Schiff and Jokichi Takamine; Secretary, Eugene C. Worden; Honorary Secretaries, R. Arai and Henry van Dyke; Treasurer, Bankers Trust Co.; Honorary Treasurers, William North Duane and R. Ichinomiya. The new directors chosen were Theodore E. Burton, Hamilton Holt, Herbert S. Houston, Masanao Kobayashi, Darwin P. Kingsley, Don C. Seitz, General Charles H. Sherrill and S. Yamamura.

BOSTON ORCHESTRA DECLARES FOR UNION

Players Announce They Will Form Their Own Orchestra If Recognition Is Not Granted.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Unless the Boston Symphony Orchestra players are recognized as a union by the trustees, they will form an orchestra themselves under union affiliation, according to a statement made by a committee of the players today. Ninety per cent. of the members have joined the union and financial backing for the proposed new orchestra has been offered, it is said.

Unionization is "the only thing that will hold the organization together," the statement declares. "The players have not received a sufficient salary and, being non-union men, could get little outside work. As a result men have left the orchestra year after year to join the union, and the constant change in membership has been a damper to proper team work.

"The trustees have assumed a most autocratic attitude toward the men. It was said a year ago that the only opposition to unionization was that the union prohibited bringing players from Europe for the orchestra. The contract labor laws make this impossible now and there should be no objection."

Frederic Fradkin, concert master of the orchestra, joined the union yesterday, and it is claimed that of the twenty players who have not joined ten have announced their intention of doing so. Pierre Monteux, conductor of the orchestra, is represented by the players' committee as being in sympathy with unionization.

The trustees have recently rejected a request for an increase of $1,000 a year for each player, but have expressed a willingness to have a Fall season of popular concerts to add to the players' receipts.

The players' committee today sent formal notice to the trustees of the orchesta that a large majority of the members had affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians as "the only effectual means of remedying conditions no longer tolerable." The notice asked that players' contracts be revised to enable them "to comply with the duties and obligations fixed by the bylaws of the federation and the principles for which it stands." The trustees were requested to appoint a time and place to meet the committee.

PERU WARNS BOLIVIA ON DISPUTED TERRITORY

Expresses Surprise at Move to Annex Arica and Says It Will Never Relinquish Title.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 26.—Meliton Porras, Peruvian Chancellor, has directed a note to the Bolivian Government expressing the "suprise and disillusionment" occasioned in Peru by the resolution passed by the Bolivian Chamber of Deputies approving a policy aiming at the incorporation of the City of Arica in Bolivian territory.

The Chancellor advises Bolivia of the "irrevocable decision of the Peruvian Government never to cede rights over the captive provinces to Bolivia, or any other nation," and expresses the hope that Bolivia will withdraw or modify the resolution, thus "redeeming the prestige of Bolivia as a country respecting the rights of others."

"The truth of things," the note continues, "is that the adventure embarked upon by Bolivia cannot possibly have a happy outcome for her, as Tacna and Arica have always belonged to Peru, and all eventuality contrariwise definitely disappeared in 1894.

[In 1894 a prebiscite provided for in the Treaty of Ancon to decide the nationality of Tacna and Arica should have been held.]

"There can be no human institution, given the present state of international conscience, capable of making a determination which means the loss to Peru of such title."

CONVICTION SET ASIDE.

District Attorney Lewis Attacks Policemen for Story of Burglary.

On the recommendation of District Attorney Harry E. Lewis of Brooklyn, the Justices of the Court of Special Sessions in that borough yesterday dismissed the charges against Solomon Goldman, 20 years of age, of 1,349 East New York Avenue, and Samuel Serotta, 25 years, of 1,670 Lincoln Avenue, who were convicted on Feb. 10 of conspiracy to commit a burglary at Pitkin Avenue and Douglass Street. The conviction of the young men was secured as the result of testimony given by Policemen John Reider and Charles Schneidmuller of the Brownsville precinct.

The policemen asserted that the men proposed to them that they go to the other end of their posts while they committed a burglary in a haberdashery store, and offered to share the proceeds of the robbery with them. The policemen testified that they seemingly fell in with the scheme, but arrested the men as they were about to enter the store.

In moving to set aside the conviction District Attorney Lewis said:

"I am absolutely convinced that the story of these two policemen was made out of whole cloth and is unbelievable. In my office they made statements in which they contradicted each other. I am opposed to the methods of certain policemen who try to make criminals in order to create crime."

Justice Freschi, who presided over the court, asked why the court was not informed of the contradictory statements of the policemen at the time the two men were tried, and District Attorney Lewis informed the court that he was out of town at that time.

The Justices of the court commended District Attorney Lewis, and read into the record a recommendation that the testimony be sent to the Police Commissioner for any action that he may see fit in the matter.

Bill to Save Historic Italian Places.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Senator Molmenti, Under Secretary of State for Fine Arts, has presented a bill in Parliament for the protection of "natural beauties." The measure aims chiefly to prevent desecration and injury to beauty spots and landscape, including places having noteworthy historic, literary or traditional interest. It would empower the Government to expropriate such places if necessary.

ACTIVE TRADING IN APARTMENT HOUSES

Washington Heights Properties in Good Demand by Operators and Investors.

VERSAILLES PALACE RESALE

Netherland Court on West 158th Street Resold to an Investor by Joseph Shenk, Operator.

Operators monopolized the real estate market yesterday, trading principally in apartment houses.

In the Washington Heights section, Joseph Shenk, operator, resold Netherland Court, a six-story elevator apartment structure, on plot 218 by 90 irregular, occupying the northerly block front on 158th Street between Edgecombe and St. Nicholas Avenues, to a client of B. Harris for investment.

The building accommodates eighty-four families, who pay a yearly rental of $50,000. It was valued at $375,000.

Mr. Shenk also sold the northwest corner of Northern Avenue and 180th Street, a five-story apartment house, 75 by 100, containing thirty suites, renting for $20,000 and held at $175,000. The buyer is a client of Morrison & Schiff.

Charles Feuer sold to an investing client of Sharp & Co. the eight-story fireproof house, known as the Versailles Palace, at 605 and 607 West 113th Street, on a plot 75 by 100.11, between Broadway and Riverside Drive.

The structure is arranged for twenty-four families and adjoins the Forest Chambers apartments. It was held at $300,000 and rents for about $40,000 per annum. This property has figured in several transactions during the last twelve or fifteen months.

M. Nasanowitz & Son and Jacob Geisler sold for the Heims Realty Company, Rudolph Simon, President, 557 and 559 West 140th Street, two five-story new-law apartments, on plot 75 by 100, to a Mr. Lonsheim. The property is located between Broadway and Hamilton Place, and rents for about $24,000 per annum.

The Benenson Realty Company, operators, resold to a client of J. Siegel the two five-story apartments at 30 to 36 Vermilyea Avenue, on a plot 100 by 150. The property was held at $150,000 and rents for about $24,000.

The Ranger Realty Company resold Kensington Court, a six-story apartment house, on plot 150 by 100, at the northeast corner of Broadway and 151st Street, to M. Siegel.

Charles S. Kohler, Inc., sold for J. J. Falihee to Ennis & Sinnott, Inc., 516 and 520 West 175th Street, two five-story apartment houses, each on a plot 37.6 by 100 feet, renting for $22,000 and held at $130,000.

Edward C. H. Volger resold for Frederick Schueter to August F. Karsten the five-story apartment house on a lot 25 by 100, 208 West Eighty-second Street.

The Wildor Realty Company resold to the Fair Return Realty Corporation the Milford, a seven-story apartment house at 211 West 101st Street, 54.9 by 100, near Broadway.

B. Schmutsler bought from G. L. Pakas a six-story apartment, 60 by 102 feet, at 19 and 21 Fort Washington Avenue, renting for $251,000 and held at $160,000.

Grand Central Zone Lease.

George A. Bowman leased for the C. & L. Lunch Company the entire upper part of the building at 20 East Forty-second Street to Irving Chen and Chin Goon, who will occupy the premises with a first-class Chinese-American restaurant. This parcel was formerly Daly's Restaurant, which passed out of existence with the entering of prohibition. The lease covers a period of fifteen years at a total rental of about $250,000.

$1,000,000 Corporation to Build.

The General Commerce Company, a Delaware corporation, headed by several Bronx business men and capitalized at $1,000,000, is reported to be about to build in the Bronx a modern six-story factory building.

The concern, which will deal in and manufacture foodstuffs, has chosen a plot of ground at Cypress Avenue and 136th Street as the site for their structure.

SAYS CITY MAY VOID UNUSED FRANCHISES

Federal Court Upholds Right to Compel Traction Company to Fulfill Its Contract.

MUST TAKE LEAN WITH FAT

Queens Concern Loses Fight Against Competing Lines for Which City Gave It Rights.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a decision of Federal Judge Chatfield which enjoined the Board of Estimate from revoking the franchise of the Manhattan and Queens Traction Corporation because of the company's failure to extend its line from Jamaica to the city limit. Commenting on the decision Corporation Counsel Burr said it was of the greatest importance because it established the power of the city to compel strict compliance with franchise provisions.

When the board, about a year ago, ordered the company to extend its line the company asked for receivers, and the receivers obtained the injunction freeing them from building the extension. Under the decision of the Circuit Court today the city has now the right to take over the road.

The comment of Mr. Burr was to the effect that the decision sustained the city's standard form of franchise. "It also means," said Mr. Burr, "that every corporation must keep its contract with the city or suffer forfeiture. The company obtained its franchise in 1912 to operate from Jackson Avenue and the Queensboro Bridge Plaza along various streets to the Nassau County line. It refused to continue construction beyond the Long Island Railroad station in Jamaica. The court says the franchise was an entire franchise and that the line must be built and operated whenever the city so directs."

Mr. Burr recalled the fact that it was this railroad that asked the court to permit it to increase its fare, that when its application was denied it applied to Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon, who was restrained by the Supreme Court, which injunction was sustained by the Appellate Division.

"This decision clearly sustains the position of the city that a railroad company, in obtaining a valuable franchise," said Mr. Burr, "must take the lean with the fat, and cannot neglect to do the construction which does not promise immediate profit, and that where it obtains a contract under an agreement to develop a territory and finish the work of construction within a certain time, under penalty of forfeiture, and fails to carry out this contract, the forfeiture is automatic."

The opinion was written by Judge Rogers, and was concurred in by Judges Hough and Manton.

Federal Judge Mayer signed an order yesterday authorizing and directing Job E. Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, to cease operating cars of the Seventh Avenue-Brooklyn line and cars of the Fourteenth Street line across the Williamsburg Bridge between the nights of March 6 and 7.

The order gives Mr. Hedges the right to entertain proposals from the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission to continue the service. This means that if franchise rights can be obtained in place of those which the separation of the Madison and Fourth Avenue Railroad Company took from the railways system the operation of the cars will be continued.

WOOD ALCOHOL JURY SPLITS

Acquits on One Count, Disagrees on Two—Prisoner Gives Bail.

A jury in Judge Hough's part of the Federal Court yesterday acquitted Giovanni Locicero on one of three counts in an indictment charging him with having sold fifty gallons of wood alcohol on Dec. 27 last and disagreed on the other two counts. He was released on bail.

Hyman Morris and Frank Hopper of Passaic, N. J., the alleged purchasers, were indicted for manslaughter on a charge that the wood alcohol had caused the death of thirteen persons.

Jonas Lippmann Honored.

The French Government has awarded to Jonas Lippmann, the well-known spokesman of the Alsatians during the war, the decoration of Officer d'Academie, the citation saying that it is for "literary work." Mr. Lippmann, who lives at 605 West 184th Street, is associate editor of The Voice of Alsace-Lorraine and a lecturer for the Board of Education. In Paris and Brussels, in 1898-99, he was instrumental in gathering a quantity of evidence proving the innocence of Captain Dreyfus, the famous prisoner of Devil's Island.

CRAIG CUTS TAX RISE IN NEW ESTIMATE

Revision, Shows Increase of Seven Points in Brooklyn and Manhattan.

ASSESSMENT TO BE ADDED

Property Owners Must Pay Extra Nine Points for Seventh Avenue and Varick Street Widening.

Controller Craig yesterday revised his tax rate figures for 1920 and announced the rate for Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn would be seven points higher than for 1919, while in Queens it would be four points higher and the rise in Richmond eleven points. This latest estimate cuts figures he gave out last week one point in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn and two points in Queens and Richmond.

The Controller took pains to explain that taxpayers must add nine points to the above rates when they pay their bills this Spring. This is to pay for the widening and extension of Seventh Avenue and Varick Street, the main cost of which has been assessed against the various boroughs and for which the taxpayers must foot the bill. The charter provides that such an assessment may be collected with the taxes and the city authorities thought it would be a matter of economy to group the two payments. All the taxpayer has to do is to remember to add the extra nine points when he pays his bill. By the Controller's computation the following will be the rates on real and personal property for 1920:

Manhattan, 2.39; Bronx, 2.44; Brooklyn, 2.43; Queens, 2.41; Richmond, 2.52.

Richmond county does not figure in the Seventh Avenue assessment, and nine points added to the above figures will make the tax rate for the other boroughs, whether it is termed an assessment or not, as follows:

Manhattan, 2.48; Bronx, 2.53; Brooklyn, 2.52; Queens, 2.50; Richmond, 2.52.

Explaining his latest figures, the Controller said:

"This assessment has nothing to do with the tax rate. It forms no part of the tax rate. As a matter of convenience and to avoid the necessity of making out tens of thousands of separate bills for the assessment computed separately for each piece of property within the areas of assessment, the Charter permits that the assessment may be collected with the taxes.

"The property needed for the widening and extension of Seventh Avenue and Varick Street was acquired seven years ago and the assessment should have been levied long before this except for the delay of the prior administration."

CARUSO GIVES WIFE GEMS.

$40,000 Diamond Necklace Her Gift on His Birthday.

Enrico Caruso reversed accepted birthday customs yesterday, when he celebrated his forty-seventh anniversary by presenting to his wife, formerly Miss Dorothy Park Benjamin, a diamond necklace of 200 matched stones, valued at $40,000, and a big bowknot brooch in which there were set a large number of sapphires with diamonds.

"I like the way he celebrates his birthday," said Mrs. Caruso. "I think the gifts are perfectly wonderful."

A Fifth Avenue jeweler said the tenor was bubbling over with happiness as he bought the gifts. Having expressed himself as well satisfied with his birthday, which brought him many greetings and felicitations, Caruso departed for Pittsburgh, where he was expected to fill an engagement last night.

POLICE CAPTAIN IS MISSING.

Rochester Force Fears for Safety of Ferdinand A. Klubertanz.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Inquiries were sent out by the police today for Police Captain Ferdinand A. Klubertanz, who walked out of the Fifth Precinct Station at 6:30 o'clock last evening, two hours before his regular time for leaving, wearing citizen's clothing, and has not, so far as the police have been able to learn, been seen since by any one.

Captain Klubertanz is one of the oldest members of the department and one of the steadiest. The police fear that he may have met with foul play or have committed suicide. In his desk, opened by order of Chief Quigley, were found his service revolver and handcuffs which he generally carried with him whenever he left the station house.

IN-B-TWEEN

"I'm Not a Big Cigar—nor a Little Cigar!"

"FOR a long time cigar manufacturers have realized that New Yorkers waste large cigars. They are too busy to smoke them to the end.

"Several firms offer so-called 'little cigars,' but, as you know, the only good part about these weeds is their 'littleness.' Small as they are, one is enough.

"I'm not a Big Cigar, nor a Little Cigar—I am 'In-B-Tween.' I am medium sized—'Four Inches of a 25 cents Cigar' rolled from sweet and tender baby leaves of prime Havana Tobacco. There's nothing cheap about 'In-B-Tween'—but I'm economical because I prevent waste."

—In-B-Tween speaks for itself.

Congressional motto seems to be, "Never put off until tomorrow what you can postpone until after election."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

How the President Has "Come Back"

President Wilson "knows that he is now quite up to his fighting weight. As to his mental vigor, it is simply prodigious. He is giving splendid attention to the affairs of state, and we have every assurance that he will become progressively more active in these matters with the advent of spring and sunshine," according to one of the President's physicians. Disturbing, however, are the words of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, former President of the American Medical Association, who says that "the disease of the arteries," from which the President is suffering, "is permanent and not a temporary condition." Whatever the President's mental and physical condition, in the opinion of the medical men, he has emphasized his return to public life by receiving a delegation of railroad labor leaders, by sending to the Allied Supreme Council a virtual ultimatum on the Fiume controversy, and by dropping his Secretary of State. The latter action startled the public and aroused a storm of criticism, much of it unfavorable to the Chief Executive.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST for February 28th, there is an illuminating article, illustrated with striking cartoons, upon the return of President Wilson to his official duties. It presents the editorial opinion of American newspapers upon the President's recent activities and gives various reasons why Secretary Lansing was asked to resign.
